CHARITABLE TRUSTS ACT 1993

Order Under Section 12

Cy-Pres Scheme Relating to the Estate of the Late
Lawrence B Feeney

BY his Will dated 17 February 1998, Lawrence Bernard FEENEY made a gift 'to the De La Salle Brothers, Dubbo, the sum of $20,000'. The Testator died on 14 April 2002. De La Salle Brothers no longer have a presence in Dubbo and their presence ceased before the Testator's death. There are no other Catholic teaching orders with a presence in Dubbo.

Section 9(1) of the Charitable Trusts Act 1993, permits the application of property cy-pres where the spirit of the original trust can no longer be implemented.

The De La Salle organisation has advised that it is an unincorporated body and that any donations made to any of its branches are held by the Trustees of the De La Salle Brothers (which is a body corporate under the Roman Catholic Church Communities Lands Act 1942).

I have formed the view that the gift 'to the De La Salle Brothers, Dubbo' is a gift for charitable purposes and I have approved a recommendation that the Attorney General establish a cy-pres scheme pursuant to section 12(1)(a) of the Charitable Trusts Act 1993, to enable the executors to pay the amount of $20,000 to the Trustees of the De La Salle Brothers.

Therefore, pursuant to section 12 of the Charitable Trusts Act, I hereby order that the gift 'to the De La Salle Brothers, Dubbo' in the Testator's Will be amended cy-pres to enable the executors to pay $20,000.00 to the Trustees of the De La Salle Brothers, such order to take effect 21 days after its publication in the Government Gazette, in accordance with section 16(2) of the Charitable Trusts Act.

Date of Order: 7 October 2004.

M. G. SEXTON, SC,
Solicitor General
(under delegation from the Attorney General)

This notice adopts the National Code of Practice for the Control of Work-related Exposure to HIV and Hepatitis Viruses [NOHSC: 2010 (2003)] as an approved industry code of practice in NSW. This is the second edition of this national code (the first national edition was published in 1993). This 2nd edition of the national code now replaces a similar code previously published by WorkCover NSW in 1995.

This code of practice contains practical guidance on the prevention of worker exposure in a range of industries to the blood-borne pathogens HIV and Hepatitis.

RURAL FIRES ACT 1997

NSW Rural Fire Service – MIA Rural Fire Service
Fire Danger Period 2004/2005

Revocation of Fire Danger Period
Friday, 1 October 2004 to Sunday, 31 October 2004

THE NSW Rural Fire Service wishes to advise it has revoked the Statutory Fire Danger Period within the Rural Fire Districts of Griffith, Leeton, Murrumbidgee and Narrandra, from Friday, 1 October 2004 to Sunday, 31 October 2004, both dates inclusive. (This means that the Bush Fire Danger Period within the Griffith, Leeton, Murrumbidgee and Narrandra Districts will now commence on 1 November 2004).

This decision has been taken due to the generally low fire danger existing over much of the District areas. Owners and occupiers of land within the Districts are reminded that due care is still required when conducting burning off operations outside the fire danger period, as they are legally responsible for fires under their charge.

Residents of all Districts are reminded that compliance with current air pollution guidelines is required in all Districts. ### Safety Management System Guidelines

Introduction

This guideline outlines the objectives and requirements of the NSW Maritime Safety Management System (SMS).

In January 2004 the NSW Government introduced changes to the Passenger Transport Act requiring all ferry operators to implement approved safety management systems as part of their operation. Note that a ferry is defined by this Act as “a vessel which seats more than 8 adult persons, and includes a vessel of any class prescribed by the regulations for the purposes of this definition.”

Quoted from the Passenger Transport Act 1990

53D Ferry operators to have approved safety management systems

(1) A person who carries on a public passenger service by means of a ferry, being a service operating within, or partly within, New South Wales, is guilty of an offence unless the person has, and implements, a safety management system that complies with this section.

Maximum penalty: 1,000 penalty units.

(2) The safety management system must be documented and must:

- (a) identify any significant risks that have arisen or may arise from providing the service, including carrying out any associated transport safety work, and
- (b) specify the controls (including audits, expertise, resources and staff) that are to be employed by the operator to manage the risks and to monitor safety outcomes in relation to the provision of the service, and
- (c) comply with any requirements prescribed by the regulations or set out in guidelines issued by the Waterways Authority under this section and published in the Gazette.

(3) The Waterways Authority may issue guidelines with respect to policy objectives and safety initiatives to be adopted in safety management systems by persons who carry on public passenger services by means of a ferry.

(4) A person who carries on a public passenger service by means of a ferry must, if directed to do so by the Waterways Authority, vary a safety management system.

(5) In this section, transport safety work has the same meaning as it has in section 53C.

The NSW Maritime SMS requirements are based on the International Maritime Organisation (IMO) Safety Management Code, commonly referred to as the ISM Code. Other elements have been derived from the Occupational Health and Safety (OH&S) legislation requirements, the Australian standard for OH&S Management systems AS4801:2001, the Protection of the Environment Operations legislation, the international standard for Environmental Management Systems ISO14001:1996, and from the Passenger Transport Act.

This document is intended to both, detail the requirements for a Safety Management System that can be accepted by NSW Maritime, and to provide guidance in implementing the system.

Each of the twelve sections in the guidelines comprise of background information about the requirement, a boxed section with a light shaded background being the NSW Maritime requirements, and a boxed section with the darker background below being an example of one method to satisfy the requirements for the appropriate section.

There are appendices that contain examples of Operating Procedures, Emergency Procedure, and Management System procedures that can form guidance to companies in the development of their own procedures. These examples are not intended to prescribe how a procedure is to be done, but to provide examples of how a procedure might be documented.

Other Appendices provide guidance in meeting OH&S requirements with the Safety Management System framework. This guidance is not intended to be a comprehensive approach to the OH&S requirements and operators are encouraged to refer to the OH&S legislation to ensure that their systems are compliant. There is also an Appendix providing guidance on Risk Assessment methodologies in an OH&S and SMS framework.

What is a SMS?

The purpose of a SMS is to provide a structured management system, in keeping with the objectives of the International Management Code for the Safe Operation of Commercial Vessels and for Pollution Prevention, that enables vessel operators to meet their obligations for safe operations under the Passenger Transport Act and OH&S and POEO obligations, and provides for continuous improvement of these systems.

What does this mean?

Every company needs to develop, implement and maintain a SMS which includes the following functional requirements:

- A safety and environmental-protection policy;
- Instructions and procedures to ensure safe operation of the vessel, that support the SMS policy;
- Defined levels of authority and lines of communication between vessel and shore based personnel;
- Procedures for reporting accidents and non-conformities;
- Procedures to prepare for and respond to emergency situations; and
- Procedures for internal audit and management review.

Why do we need a SMS?

An SMS helps ensure that commercial vessels operate safely and that companies meet their duty of care and safety obligations associated with the travelling public, vessel crew and shore based staff as well as their responsibilities in terms of the environment.

It also clearly defines on board and shore based responsibilities.

How can I make a difference?

The SMS must be developed and maintained by the end users. This is not only in order to comply with OH&S requirements for consultation, but also because the people doing the job often know the best and safest way of doing it. It will only work however if everyone involved follows the documented procedures.

Be an active participant, get involved in the development of the system, report problems and incidents and make suggestions for improvement.

1. General

The objective of these guidelines is to help companies develop a SMS that complies with the relevant rules and regulations and establishes safeguards against identified risks, that ensures safety at sea, prevention of human injury or loss of life, and avoidance of damage to the environment, in particular to the marine environment and to property.

These guidelines also provide for an SMS that continuously improves the safety management skills of personnel ashore and aboard vessels, including preparing for emergencies related both to safety and environmental protection.

SMS Requirements

Every Company must develop, implement and maintain a safety management system which includes the following requirements:

- A safety and environmental-protection policy.
- Instructions and procedures to ensure safe operation of vessels and protection of the environment in compliance with relevant legislation.
- Defined levels of authority and lines of communication between, and amongst, shore and shipboard personnel.
- Procedures for reporting accidents and non-conformities to these guidelines and to OH&S and POEO requirements.
- Procedures to prepare for and respond to emergency situations.
- Procedures for internal audits and management reviews.

The SMS documentation should provide general information about the company and its operations, the number of vessels involved their type and operation, and their Survey Identification numbers.

There must be contact details for the Company and the Designated Person (see section 4 Designated Persons).

SMS Documentation Example

Name of Company

Name of Company is an operation located in Region.

Name of Company consists of x number of vessels of y type, and has on shore facilities to conduct z operations.

Office addresses and contact details.

Senior Management Details.

Designated Person Details.

2. Safety and Environmental Protection Policy

The Company must produce a written Safety Policy and Environmental Protection Policy that details how the objectives of the SMS are to be achieved.

The Company must ensure that all personnel are made aware of the Policy, and that their work practices reflect this policy.

When developing policies and associated procedures, consideration must be given to the Drug and Alcohol Testing requirements mentioned in the Passenger Transport Act (1990) Section 53C(2)(a), as well as measures to address issues of fatigue. (See Appendix 4.2 and 4.3 for further guidance)

SMS Requirements

The Safety and Environmental Protection policy should reflect a commitment to providing a safe and healthy workplace, and to following environmentally safe and pollution free work practices that comply with all applicable legislation.

Such legislation includes, but is not limited to;

- The Commercial Vessels Act,
- The Water Traffic Regulations,
- The Occupational Health and Safety Act,
- The Protection Of the Environment Operations Act,
- The Passenger Transport Act.

Other legislation might also apply and it is the responsibility of the company to continually be aware of what is applicable and to ensure continued compliance.

The Safety and Environmental Protection policy should include measurable objectives and targets to ensure continued improvement in relation to Safety and Environmental protection.

The SMS needs to list the Companies objectives to;

- provide for safe practices in vessel operation and a safe working environment.
- establish consultative arrangements with staff as per OH&S requirements
- establish safeguards against all identified risks.
- continuously improve the safety management skills of personnel ashore and onboard.
- continuously monitor the performance of the SMS in relation to the identified targets.

The means by which the objectives will be achieved must be explained.

These means might include

- maintaining high standards of safety consciousness and protection of the environment through relevant training.
- motivating staff and promoting their participation in safety and environment protection.
- informing all members of staff of any existing or potential hazards that may endanger them, persons in the vicinity, the vessel or the environment.
- ensuring that documented Company procedures are strictly followed.
- taking into consideration all mandatory and relevant rules, regulations, codes and guidelines and standards.

SMS Manual Example

Company Safety & Environment Policy

The policy of Name of Company is to provide healthy and safe working conditions, and to maintain a safe and pollution-free operating practice that complies with national and international regulations and relevant standards, codes and guidelines.

The Name of Company Safety Management Manual describes the Company's management system for the safe operation of vessels and for pollution prevention. Its contents conform to the requirements of the NSW Maritime Safety Management System (SMS) requirements.

The Safety Management objectives of the Name of Company are to:

- provide for safe practices in vessel operation and a safe working environment.
- establish safeguards against all identified risks.
- continuously improve the safety management skills of personnel ashore and onboard the vessel.
- These objectives will be achieved by:
- establishing relevant OHS consultative arrangements with all workgroups.
- maintaining high standards of safety consciousness and protection of the environment through relevant training.
- motivating the staff and promoting their participation in safety and environment protection.
- informing all members of staff of any existing or potential hazards that may endanger them, persons in the vicinity, the vessel or the environment.
- ensuring that documented Company procedures are strictly followed.
- continuously monitoring the performance of the SMS in strategically targeted areas.
- taking into consideration all mandatory and relevant rules, regulations, codes and guidelines and standards including the Commercial Vessels Act, the Water Traffic Regulations, the Occupational Health and Safety Act, the Protection Of the Environment Operations Act, and the Passenger Transport Act.

All employees are expected to comply with safety and pollution prevention regulations and procedures at all times, and to take the necessary precautions in the interests of human life, property and the marine environment.

3. Company Responsibilities and Authorities

The Company's SMS should provide information about the organisational structure and reporting systems, and show the roles, responsibilities and authorities of these positions. These roles should also include OH&S responsibilities and environmental protection responsibilities. This should be done for both the shore based, and on-board operations.

SMS Requirements

The Company must clearly define and document the responsibilities and authorities of all personnel, both ashore and on-board that are involved in the safe operation of the vessel(s).

The Company must ensure that all personnel are made aware of their responsibilities.

SMS Manual Example Company Responsibilities and Authority Shore based organization

The organisation of the Name of Company for shore-based personnel is as follows:

(Include some sort of organizational structure diagram of description. This would vary for different type of operations.)

On board organization

Would include Master, Engineer, deckhand etc.....

May also include some form of short job description and responsibilities for each of the people above (both shore and vessel based).

4. Designated Person

The Designated Person is the link between the vessel, the vessels crew and the shore based management.

The Company's SMS documentation must include the contact information for the Designated Person responsible for monitoring the safe operation of the vessel. The designated person might be a particular individual, or it might be a position within the organisation.

The SMS manual should also detail the responsibilities of the Designated Person.

SMS Requirements

The company must appoint a Designated Person/s ashore with the responsibility for monitoring the safe operation of the vessel.

He/she must have direct access to the senior management of the company and sufficient resources and authority to carry out his/her duties.

SMS Manual Example

4. Designated Person Ashore

The position is the Company's Designated Person. He/She reports to the position on matters relating to safety and environmental- protection. He/She reports to the highest person in the organization or his/her nominated stand-in on matters which require the attention of the highest level of management.

The Designated Person is responsible for:-

- monitoring the SMS and reporting to the position if remedial action or changes to the system are needed;
- monitoring the safety and pollution prevention aspects of each vessel in the fleet;
- ensuring that adequate resources and shore- based support are applied, as and when required;
- training internal auditors;
- drawing up the year's audit schedule;
- appointing internal auditors; and
- liaising with external auditors for office and vessel audits.

5. Masters Responsibility and Authority

The Master is responsible for implementing the SMS on board, including issuing clear orders and motivating the crew. The master should have overriding authority for the vessel passengers and crew.

SMS Requirements

The SMS documentation must contain a clear statement of the Master's overriding authority to take whatever action he/she thinks is necessary for the safety of the vessel, passengers and crew.

SMS Manual Example

5. Master's Responsibility and Authority

The master has complete authority and responsibility for taking all necessary actions in the interests of safety, pollution prevention and the efficient operation of the vessel. He/She may deviate from documented procedures if human life, property or the environments are at risk. He/She may ask the Company for help if he/she deems it necessary.

In all matters, which affect or may affect the safety of persons, property or the environment, the Master shall report directly to the Designated Person.

The Master is responsible for:

- implementing the safety and environmental-policy;
- motivating the crew in carrying out the Company's safety and environmental-protection policy;
- reviewing safety and pollution prevention activities and reporting defects to the Company;
- issuing orders in a clear and concise manner;
- ensuring that matters relating to safe operations and pollution prevention risk are carried out as required;
- reporting non-conformities, accidents and hazardous occurrences to the office;
- assigning SMS related duties and responsibilities to all onboard personnel;
- liaising with the Designated Person in relation to onboard audits;
- evaluating and reviewing the SMS on board the vessel and reporting any deficiencies to the office; and
- ensuring that data and records relevant to the SMS are available

6. Resources and Personnel

The success of the SMS depends on the company making available the appropriate resources and personnel to implement and maintain the system. It is also important to continuously assess the relevance and success of the system and to maintain records.

SMS Requirements

The company must determine and provide the resources needed to implement and maintain the SMS and meet the objectives of the SMS Policy, and to continually improve its effectiveness

The company must determine the qualifications and numbers of personnel to safely operate their vessels and meet the SMS policy objectives and must employ suitably qualified people on board and ashore

The SMS must include a procedure for the training of all personnel responsible for safety. The procedure needs to address the means used to assess the training needs of personnel, the methods used to assess competency and it needs to layout the records that will be kept, in what form, where and for how long.

The SMS documentation must include or refer to the qualification requirements for personnel as well as individuals training records and competency assessments.

Records must be maintained of training, training needs assessments, and competence assessments for all personnel whose task may affect safety of the vessel, crew, passengers or the environment. These records should be retained for a period determined by the Company (but at least 5 years).

SMS Manual Example

6. Resources and Personnel

Name of the Company gives a newly appointed master, or one who is new to a vessel, reasonable opportunity to make himself familiar with the vessel he/she is to command and with the Company's SMS.

The Company ensures that all their masters are given the necessary support to enable them to perform their duties with safety.

Name of Company ensures that their masters and crew are adequately experienced and that their qualifications meet the legislative requirements.

The Company ensures that each vessel is manned, as a minimum, in accordance with survey requirements.

The Company ensures through suitable instructions/checklists/information packs that on board personnel are aware of their individual responsibility for safe vessel operation and overall protection of the environment.

Certain essential instructions (need to include onboard instructions) associated with the SMS have been defined on board each vessel. These are provided to joining crew before sailing.

The Company continually identifies training requirements for shore and sea-going personnel in support of the SMS. If a gap in training relating to safety and/or environmental-protection is detected in an employee, he/she will not be assigned any task where the gap in training will put life, property or the marine environment at risk until he/she has received appropriate training.

7. Operational Procedures

Operational procedures are the core of the SMS. Procedures need to be developed and documented for the normal operation of the vessel to enable the organisation to plan to meet its obligations, to provide assistance to the personnel both in training and in operation, as well as to provide records for external audit.

Documented procedures for the purpose of the SMS requirements does not necessarily mean written. A procedure might be documented by many means, video tape of a procedure, signage, photographs etc.

SMS Requirements

The company must develop for each vessel plans, standing orders, working instructions etc., governing the safe operation of the vessel; These procedures must be developed in conjunction with the OH&S consultation requirements.

All risks must be identified; and appropriate controls implemented as required by the OH&S requirements. (See Appendix 4 for guidance in meeting OH&S requirements and Appendix 5 for guidance on Risk Assessment methodologies.)

Records must be maintained for the following operational procedures, as well as others deemed necessary by the Company to meet the SMS Policy requirements and for the monitoring and continual improvement of the SMS.

- Crew briefings and initial safety training
- Passenger briefings
- Other safety training
- Refuelling
- Disposal of sewage, garbage, waste oil, grey water.
- Recording crew lists
- Recording passenger manifests

These records should be retained for a period determined by the Company (but at least 5 years).

The SMS documentation must contain, or reference the location of documented work instructions related to the operations of both the vessel and the shore-based activities.

See Appendix 1 for examples of Operational Procedures.

SMS Manual Example

Development of Plans for Onboard Vessel Operations

Name of Company has developed procedures for key operations on board their vessels. The procedures take into consideration the competence of the masters and crew, the route and operation of the vessel, the vessel's machinery and equipment and the vessel type.

The SMS Manual would at this point typically include or refer to the Operating Procedures documents.

8. Emergency Procedures

Emergency procedures need to be developed and documented so that personnel both onboard and shore based, are aware of what to do, and can practice for emergency situations.

SMS Requirements

The company must identify and prepare for all potential emergency situations.

On board and shore based contingency plans must be developed using the OHS consultative arrangements.

The SMS must include, or refer to a schedule for the conduct of drills for the identified emergency procedures. Crew members must carry out scheduled drills to improve the competence and confidence of the vessel crew and shore based staff and to ensure that the procedure and resources can meet the required performance standards.

Records must be maintained of the conduct of drills for the following emergency procedures, as well as others deemed necessary by the Company for the meeting the SMS Policy objectives and the monitoring and continual improvement of the SMS.

- Fire
- Abandon Ship
- Man overboard / Search and Rescue
- Spillage of fuel/cargo
- Serious injury

These records should be retained for a period determined by the Company (but at least 5 years).

The SMS Manual must contain, or reference the location of documented instructions related to emergency operations for both the vessel and the shore based office.

Records of all emergency drills conducted must be maintained in the SMS records.

The results of Emergency drills need to be assessed on board the Vessel at the conclusion of the drill, and during management review.

Changes to procedures, or training of personnel need to be incorporated in the appropriate systems.

See Appendix 2 for examples of Emergency Procedures.

SMS Manual Example*Emergency Preparedness

The Company has prepared specific contingency plans to deal with potential onboard emergencies. These plans have been developed to cover both vessel and shore response to any incident and ensure that the Company responds to an emergency in a co-ordinated, prompt and effective manner.

Shore-based Emergency plans

(Refer to, or include a list of the shore based emergency plans)

The company maintains an emergency operations room (for smaller operations this would be different) in the office and maintains contingency plans which include (for example)

procedures for mobilising the Company's emergency response team procedures for establishing and maintaining contact between ship and shore management

Vessel Emergency plans

(Refer to, or include a list of the vessel based emergency plans)

Emergency drills

The Company shall practice drills at intervals required by the legislation/regulations or stipulated in the procedures manual.

The effectiveness of drills shall be assessed and records of all drills shall be maintained.

The SMS Manual would at this point typically include or refer to the Emergency Procedures documents.

9. Reporting and Analysis of Non-Conformities, Accidents and Hazardous Occurrences

No system will be perfect; at times things will go wrong. It is important that these incidents are reported so that they can be analysed, the cause identified, procedures changed to prevent recurrence.

The results of investigation, reviews etc. must be conveyed back to the employees and other stakeholders.

Records must be maintained of the incidents of non-conformities, accidents and hazardous occurrences, their analysis, and corrective and preventative actions applied. These records should be retained for a period determined by the Company, or by legislative requirements (but at least 5 years).

SMS Requirements

The SMS documentation must document the system used for reporting non-conformities, accidents and hazardous occurrences.

The SMS documentation must also document the methods used to;

- analyse incidents,
- determine root cause(s),
- correct the appropriate procedures,
- convey the results to the relevant people, and train them in new procedures

SMS Manual Example

Reports and Analysis of Non-Conformities, Accidents and Hazardous Occurrences

Name of Company maintains procedures for reporting and analysing all non-conformities, accidents and hazardous occurrences on board vessel.

All non-conformities, accidents and hazardous occurrences on board are reported by means of (could vary from company e.g. non-conformance notes) through the Master to the Designated Person.

The Designated Person reviews the reports and causes them to be investigated and analysed with the objective of improving safety and pollution prevention

The Designated Person agrees with the Master or appropriate head of department on the appropriate corrective action and time frame for rectifying the defect.

When the agreed time limit has been reached or corrective action taken, whichever occurs earlier, the Designated Person checks the corrective action for effectiveness. If the corrective action is satisfactory and further action is not required, the Designated Person closes the Non-Conformance Notice. If the corrective action is not satisfactory, or if preventive action is required, the Non-Conformance is kept open until such time as no further action is required.

The results of analyses may be used to:

- initiate general corrective action to other vessels
- initiate amendments to the SMS to prevent recurrence

The Master is responsible for reviewing the vessel's SMS and notifying the Designated Person of any discrepancies or deficiencies which may affect safety or anti-pollution capability.

See Appendix 3.1 for an example of an Incident Reporting System.

10. Maintenance

Maintenance

Vessels and their equipment must be maintained at all times and conform to survey rules and regulations.

Emergency and standby equipment must be tested periodically to ensure it will operate in an emergency.

Purchasing

When purchasing products or services that can affect the safety of passengers, crew and the environment, the company shall ensure that the purchased products or services confirm to specified requirements and meet the safety requirements of the OH&S legislation.

The company should ensure that the requirements for all products or service are sufficiently determined and communicated to ensure the correct product or service is received.

The type and the degree to which the organisation needs to ensure that purchases meet requirements shall be dependent on the extent to which the product or service impacts on the safety of passengers, crew and the environment.

SMS Requirements

The SMS must include, or refer to a maintenance schedule for the machinery, hull, equipment, life saving and fire fighting equipment and any other items determined for the vessel.

The schedule must be based on both manufacturers' recommendations, and on legislative requirements.

The SMS must also record the conducting of, and results of, all maintenance actions.

The SMS must document the methods used to evaluate and select suppliers, and refer to the records of evaluations of both suppliers and product.

SMS Manual Example

10.Maintenance of the Vessel and Equipment

Name of company maintains procedures and instructions to ensure that each vessel and all machinery and equipment on board are maintained in accordance with relevant rules and regulations, company's requirements and manufacturer's instructions

Systems identified for programmed testing include:-

e.g.

Navigation Lights

fire pumps

etc

The list is not exhaustive and vessel's personnel should suggest to the Designated Person items which they feel should be included in the list.

11. Documentation

All SMS documentation must be controlled; that is it needs to have methods in place so that;

- the appropriate documents are available at all relevant locations,
- changes to documents are reviewed and approved by relevant personnel, and
- obsolete documents are promptly removed.

The documentation of the SMS can be in any appropriate form, provided that it meets these requirements. Computer based systems are acceptable provided there is appropriate access and backup. Video might be appropriate in some circumstances for items like a passenger safety induction.

SMS Requirements

The SMS must include a procedure for the control of SMS documentation.

All SMS documentation must be controlled, so as to ensure that relevant documents are available at all relevant locations and that any changes to documents are reviewed and approved by relevant personnel and that obsolete documents must be promptly removed or prevented from being used.

Records must be legible, identifiable and traceable to the activity involved. Records should be stored in such a way that they are readily retrievable and protected against damage, deterioration or loss.

The SMS system must document the process used to review, approve, distribute and control the SMS documentation.

SMS Manual Example

11. Documentation

The Company has established procedures for controlling the issue of all SMS-related documents and data. Changes to controlled documentation will be identified in the document. Records of all SMS activities will be kept onboard the vessel or ashore, as defined in procedures.

Ashore in the office, the Designated Person is responsible for issuing controlled documents to vessels. Obsolete documents are promptly removed. The Designated Person reviews all amendments to the SMS prior to issue.

Onboard vessel, the Master is responsible for the issue of controlled documents. He/She is also responsible for ensuring that obsolete documents are removed to avoid inadvertent use.

12. Company Verification Review and Evaluation

Periodic review of the SMS is vital to ensure that it is meeting its objectives and reflects the current practice, and that it is being followed.

SMS Requirements

The SMS system must document the process used to audit all aspects of the SMS to ensure that it is being followed and that it meets the documented objectives.

The company must conduct periodic audits of the system to verify that the SMS is being implemented and that the procedures are suitable to achieve the objectives;

Senior management must review, and where necessary amend and improve, the SMS to ensure that the objectives are achieved.

Records must be maintained of the periodic audits and Management Reviews of the SMS and of any changes resulting from these actions. These records should be retained for a period determined by the Company, or by legislative requirements (but being at least 5 years).

SMS Manual Example

12. Company Verification, Review and Evaluation

The Company conducts internal audits, ashore and on its vessels in accordance with documented procedures to verify that safety and pollution-prevention activities meet the requirements of the SMS.

Internal audits are carried out by (internally) trained auditors in accordance with Company procedures. They are programmed so that audits of the office and all the vessels are completed within an audit cycle of 12 months. (Note; A company may determine the cycle frequency, but it is recommended that the period not exceed 2 years).

The Company ensures that;

- internal auditors are independent of the areas they audit. (Note: This is not a requirement of the SMS code, but it has been shown to increase the value of internal audits).
- the results of audits are brought to the attention of personnel having responsibility for the task being audited.
- deficiencies arising from the audits are reviewed and followed up to verify that the corrective action taken is effective and is having the desired effect.
- management reviews and evaluation of the SMS is carried out at intervals laid down in Company procedures.

The shore-based management review committee comprises:-

INCLUDE AS REQUIRED e.g. Designated Person ashore etc

The on-board management review committee comprises:-

INCLUDE AS REQUIRED e.g. Master, Engineer, Deckhand etc

See Appendix 3.2 for examples of Internal Audit Procedures

The procedures included in the SMS should be developed specifically for the Organisation and its operation.

Following are examples of selected SMS Procedures and Guidance in various forms (flow charts and text). Other forms of documentation are also acceptable.

These procedures are examples only and will need modification to suite the individual vessel and operation.

Appendix 3.1 Record Keeping

The Record Keeping procedure should outline the requirements and practices for keeping of SMS records in accordance with the requirements of the Companies SMS.

Records are very important to the auditing of the system.

Example Record Keeping Procedure

RESPONSIBILITIES AND/OR AUTHORITIES

Vessel Masters are responsible for maintaining SMS records relevant to the operations on board their vessel.

The Designated Person is responsible for maintaining SMS records relevant to the SMS itself and for ensuring systems are provided to assist the process of maintaining records.

PROCEDURE

Records (or copies where appropriate) shall be readily accessible, periodically reviewed and updated as necessary.

Relevant SMS Procedures should document what records are required, what format they should take, where they should be stored and for what period.

RECORDS

This procedure might include a table that summarises the requirements of record keeping detailed in the individual procedures. This table can assist in the audit process.

An example of such a table is shown below.

Etc....

Vessel Log Book

The Vessel Log Book is used to store SMS records on board the vessel.

These records might include, emergency drills conducted, procedure audits, voyage details, passenger details, incidents and maintenance records.

Crew Details

The Company must keep records of the names and contact details of all crew, as well as their qualifications and training records. These records are usually maintained in the shore facilities

Passenger log

A log of passengers must be maintained on the vessel for all voyages. The level of detail will be dependant on the operation of the vessel.

A diving operation might require passenger records to contain names addresses, emergency contact details, qualifications etc, a ferry service however might only need to keep account of the number of passengers on board.

Incident Reporting

The Vessel log book could be used to record all incidents, however other methods might be acceptable. Examples of incident that need to be recorded include accidents, near misses, fire, explosion, injuries, pollution incidents, etc.

Each incident report should identify what occurred, where, when, who was involved, and what immediate action was done to address the incident.

Records of the analysis of incidents should also be maintained along with the results of the analysis and the corresponding actions taken. These records are typically maintained in the shore based facilities.

Engineering Record Book

Records of the maintenance and repair of machinery and equipment must be maintained.

The use of an Engineering Log book will depend on the size of the vessel. Smaller operations might use the vessel log book to keep these records.

Emergency Drills

The conduct and results of Emergency drills needs to be maintained, typically in the Vessel Log Book, as well as the schedule for these drills. If the results of drills do not meet required standards then the records need to show immediate actions taken to rectify the situation.

Appendix 3.2 Internal Audit

The company must conduct periodic audits of the system to verify that the SMS is being implemented and that the procedures are suitable to achieve the objectives.

A schedule must be established to ensure that all areas of the SMS are audited within a specified period.

The records of internal audits need to be maintained for a period determined by the company, but the minimum period being two years.

The internal audits need to determine whether the SMS is meeting the requirements of the SMS code, and the requirements of the company. The results need to be considered in management reviews and required changes made.

And example of an assessment procedure for internal audit follows.

Example Internal Audit Procedure

Purpose

The purpose of this procedure is to conduct internal audits of the SMS system to ensure that the procedures meet the requirements of the code, and that they reflect the operations of the vessel(s) and the company, and to ensure that the approved procedures are being followed.

Scope

This procedure applies to all the procedures included in the SMS manual and to all staff responsible for the safety of passengers, crew and the environment.

Procedure

1. Determine processes due for audit

Use the Audit schedule to determine what procedures are due for audit, and who is responsible for those procedures

2. Determine who is going to be audited

Determine nominees for the process. The nominee is usually some from the functional area responsible for the process. Also consider additional nominees outside the functional area responsible for this procedure that have input or are involved in the procedure.

3. Select and notify Auditors

Select one of the trained Internal Auditors to be the lead auditor for this particular audit.

Notify the lead auditor that an audit of the particular process is due.

4. Prepare for the audit

Performed By Lead Auditor

Agree a time and date with the person (people) responsible for the process. Decide at this stage whether you will need another internal auditor to assist. If so make the appropriate arrangements with them as well as the nominee.

Make sure that both the people, and any required information, will be available.

Review the documented procedure, including related procedures, previous audits and recent incidents related to this procedure

Make sure you have an understanding of the procedure particularly the inputs, outputs, and records involved.

5. Conduct the Audit

Record observations in the audit checklist. Discuss any findings with the people responsible as you make observations. It is important not to spring any surprises on people.

Collect copies of any records that identify how the process is done, compared with what is documented.

6. Are any Corrective Action Reports (CAR) or Process Improvement Notices (PIN) required?

Some observations will be minor, for example one report out of twenty was missing a date. Don't raise a CAR or PIN for these.

Some observations will be more serious, for example recurring or frequent problems involving safety equipment. Do raise a CAR or PIN for these.

If there are CAR's or PINS' required go to step 8 "Complete the results of the Audit in the Audit report"

If there are no CAR's or PIN's required go to step 7 "Raise CAR or PIN and inform the Designated Person"

7. Raise CAR or PIN and inform the Designated person

Follow the process for raising a PIN or CAR.

The PIN or CAR process details the method used to address a serious or recurring problem that has been identified through either, customer complaints, an internal audit, non- conformance, or has been identified as a potential improvement. This process ensures actions are taken to solve the root cause of a problem or to ensure actions are taken to implement the improvement.

8. Complete the results of review in the review report

Complete the Audit Report for this procedure and list any observations and PIN's.

9. Inform the Designated Person and the person responsible for the procedure of the results.

Inform the Designated Person and the person responsible for the procedure, of the contents of the report and any CAR's or PIN's.

10. Are changes to the process required?

If there are no changes required go to step 12 "File Records"

If changes to the procedure are required got step 11 "Amend documentation"

11. Amend documentation

Make the appropriate changes to the procedure. Ensure that the documents are updated and that the appropriate people are notified and trained if required.

12. File Records

File the audit report in the designated location.

Appendix 4 Meeting your OH&S Requirements.

The NSW Maritime SMS is not designed to be in addition to, or to replace the operator's Occupational Health and Safety systems and Environmental Management systems that are already in place. The NSW Maritime SMS is designed to integrate these systems and any other business systems (such as Quality Management) so that the operator might have one system covering many requirements with shared elements.

Many of these systems share many common elements that can be combined to ensure greater consistency and efficiency in effort.

Elements such as Policy, Management Review, Document and Record Control, Internal Audit and Non-Conformance reporting and Analysis are elements common to all business management systems and can be combined in the NSW Maritime SMS.

Appendix 4.1 OH&S requirements.

The requirements of the OH&S legislation can be incorporated in the documentation and processes of the SMS in various ways.

The OHS policy requirements can be incorporated into the SMS policy. An important inclusion however, would be a description of the OH&S consultative arrangements that the company has in place, and how they interact with development and modification of procedures.

OH&S responsibilities could be included in Section 3 Company Responsibility and Authorities documentation. Again these documents should outline the requirements for persons acting as consultative representatives if this is appropriate.

The OH&S requirement for a register of incidents, injuries, and hazards should be addressed in the SMS Section, 9 Reporting and Analysis of Non-Conformities, Accidents and Hazardous Occurrences.

A principle requirement of the OH&S legislation is that organisations identify all hazards and their associated risks, and through a process of risk assessment (see Appendix 5) put in place appropriate controls to minimise these risks. This should be done during the development of both operational procedures (Section 7) and emergency procedures (Section 8), and during subsequent internal audits (Section 12).

During procedure development, or modification it should also be noted that there are several specific hazards that require specific controls under the OH&S Legislation. These include:

Falls	Electricity	Heat and Cold
Noise	Atmosphere	Falls from heights and falling objects
Fire/Explosion	Confined Spaces	Manual Handling
Pressure vessels	Cranes and hoists	Hazardous materials

There are also several hazardous processes that also require specific controls such as:

Spray Painting

Abrasive blasting

Welding

Electrical work.

Though these operations might not be part of the normal operation of the vessel, the company should be aware of its obligations.

The OH&S requirements for documentation of training performed, and training needs determinations, as well as induction and competency assessments can all be addressed in Section 6 Resources and Personnel

Return to Work programs could be included as part of the SMS policy and as shore based operational procedures.

Specific to the development of operational procedures, and a part of a risk assessment, are the need to address Drugs and Alcohol in the work place and the need to meet the requirements of the Passenger Transport Act (1990). This is further explained in Appendix 4.2.

Similar to addressing drugs and alcohol, is the requirement to address risks arising from fatigue. These issues need to be considered in both Section 6 Resources and Personnel and in the development of operational procedures. This is further expanded in Appendix 4.3

Appendix 4.2 Drug and Alcohol

Section 53C of the Passenger Transport Act 1990 requires that operators address the Hazards and Risk involved in Drug and Alcohol abuse by staff and that the operators having in place systems to monitor and address these risks.

Guidelines have been developed by the Ministry of Transport that list requirements for operators to determine the level of Drug and Alcohol control that they require based on a risk assessment.

Appendix 4.3 Fatigue

Fatigue is a hazard that needs to be addressed both in the resourcing of the vessels and in the development of operational procedures.

AMSA has published a Copy of Marine Orders that deals with fatigue.

Whilst these are not requirements, the Marine Orders might be used as guidance.

Quoted from Marine Orders Part 28 Issue 2 Order 9 of 1997*4 Fitness for Duty

4.1 All persons who are assigned duty as officer in charge of watch or as a rating forming part of a watch must be provided with a minimum of 10 hours of rest in any 24 hour period.

4.2 The hours of rest may be divided in to no more than two periods, one of which must be at least 6 hours in length.

4.3 The requirements for rest periods laid down in 4.1 and 4.2 need not be maintained in the case of an emergency or drill or in other overriding operational conditions. (I.e. Essential shipboard work that cannot be delayed for safety or environmental reasons or which could not reasonably have been anticipated at the commencement of the voyage.)

4.4 Notwithstanding 4.1 and 4.2, the minimum period of ten hours may be reduced to not less than 6 consecutive hours provided that any such reduction must not extend beyond two days and not less than 70 hours of rest are provided each seven day period.

4.5 Watch schedule must be posted where they are easily accessible.

4.6 Companies must arrange for records to be maintained of hours of work and rest.

Note: Although there is no universally accepted technical definition of fatigue, everyone involved in ship operations should be alert to the factor that can contribute to fatigue....

- Provisions made to prevent fatigue should ensure that excessive or unreasonable overall working hours are not undertaken. In particular, the minimum rest periods should not be interpreted as implying that all other hours may be devoted to watch keeping or other duties.
- The frequency and length of leave periods, and the granting of compensatory leave, are material factors in preventing fatigue from building up over a period of time.
- The provisions may be varied for ships on short sea voyages, provided special safety arrangements are put in place.

Appendix 4.4 OH&S Consultation

The Occupational Health and Safety Act 2000 has requirements for both the nature of consultation and the mechanisms that must be implemented by employers.

Consultation must be taken seriously, the health and safety of passengers and crew can be placed at risk by decisions made by employers. Moreover, crew performing the task can often make significant contributions to creating a safe and healthy vessel due to their knowledge and experience of the individual work practices and the vessel.

Operators are required under the OH&S Act to consult on health and safety issues that affect employees and in doing so must;

1. Share all relevant information with employees
2. Give employees reasonable time to express their views; and
3. Value the views of employees and take them into account when decisions are made.

Consultation must occur during the risk assessment and mitigation process or when;

- operational or emergency procedures are developed or changed,
- changes are made to the vessels operation,
- changes in operating or emergency equipment are proposed,
- training needs are determined or changed,
- investigating incidents or accidents,
- determining OH&S consultation arrangements for the organisation.

Consultation Arrangements.

Operators are required to establish an OH&S consultation mechanism to enable effective consultation with staff. Operators must consult with staff when setting up these consultation arrangements. These arrangements can involve any or all of the following mechanisms:

1. OHS Committee – An OHS committee must be established in a workplace with more than 20 employees, when the majority of employees have requested such a committee, or when directed by WorkCover.
2. OHS Representative – An OHS representative must be elected as the consultation mechanism when at least one employee has requested this arrangement, or when directed by WorkCover.
3. Other Agreed Arrangements – The operators and employees can agree on other arrangements. Examples include group discussions for small operations, or industry framework agreements.

Operators may also initiate the establishment of an OHS committee or election of an OHS Representative when there has been no request by employees.

The agreed consultation arrangements must be recorded, and publicised to all existing and new staff. (This could typically be included in the safety policy statement.)

How should Consultation be used?

Operators must inform the OHS committee, OHS representative, or staff via the agreed arrangement when decisions are being considered and made that can affect the health and safety of staff and passengers. This includes changes and purchases of major operating and safety equipment, and during the development or changes to operating or emergency procedures. They should also be involved in the development and assessment of any training needs.

Appendix 5 Risk Management

Risk management in terms of an SMS is the process of recognising situations that have the potential to cause harm to people, property or the environment, and doing something to prevent the hazardous situation occurring or the person being harmed.

Risk Management involves 3 steps.

Step 1: Identifying the problem, known as Hazard Identification.

Step 2: Determining how serious the problem is, known as Risk Assessment.

Step 3: Deciding what needs to be done to solve the problem, known as Risk Control.

Hazard Identification

Hazard identification is the first and in many ways the most important step in a risk assessment. An overlooked hazard is likely to introduce more error into the overall risk estimate than an inaccurate estimate of consequence or frequency.

The aim therefore of the hazard identification is to produce a comprehensive list of all possible hazards.

A hazard can trigger an incident resulting in the activation of an emergency procedure, designed to facilitate the recovery and mitigate the consequences.

Hence there is no strict definition of an 'accidental event', and in this approach an 'event' is defined, as far as possible, as a physical situation or condition with the potential to lead to unwanted consequences such as injuries and fatalities, damage to property and/or the environment.

Therefore, ship 'grounding' is considered as a possible consequence of hazards related, for example, to navigation error/failure, and not as a hazard itself. Similarly, 'navigation', 'ship manoeuvring', etc. are considered as hazardous operations because a component failure could lead to a chain of unwanted outcomes.

An example of part of a hazard and unwanted event list is shown in Table 1.

Table 1: List of Hazards

General Hazard	Description	Incident / Accidental Event
Impacts and collision	Being on a collision course, or breaching the separation distance between vessels, or approaching a stationary object with speed, etc.	Vessel on collision course
		Approaching berth with speed
		Strikings while at berth
Ship related	Hazards related to ship specific operations and/or equipment	Flooding
		Loading/overloading
		Mooring failure
		Anchoring failure
Navigation	Potential for a deviation of the ship from its intended route or designated channel	Navigation Error
		Pilotage error
Manoeuvring	Failure to keep the vessel on the right track, or to position the vessel as intended	Loss of steering
		Propulsion failure
		Blackout
		Fine manoeuvring error
		Berthing/unberthing error
Fire/explosion	Fire or explosion on vessel or in the cargo bay	Cargo tank fire/explosion
		Fire in accommodation
		Fire in engine room
		Other fires
Environmental	Weather exceeds vessel design criteria, or harbour operations criteria	Extreme weather
		Wind exceeds criteria
		Strong currents

The Hazard Identification process must look at the whole system of work, including previous accidents and incidents, consulting with the personnel performing the work, reviewing the work process that are being currently used and thinking about what could happen if something went wrong.

Risk Analysis

Once a hazard has been identified, it is necessary to determine how likely it is that an incident might occur (likelihood) and what the consequences would be. This determines the overall risk of the hazard.

Risk can be qualitatively assessed by the use of a risk matrix. A typical matrix has rows representing increasing severity of consequences of a released hazard and columns representing increasing likelihood of these consequences, shown in Figure 2. The matrix indicates the combinations of likelihood and consequence, and typically there are three regions;

- an area of broadly acceptable risk in which risk has to be managed for continuous improvement,
- an intermediate region in which risks have to be reduced,
- and an intolerable region which requires immediate action.

Consequence				Increasing Likelihood
People	Assets	Environment	Reputation	Not heard of in the industry	Has occurred in the industry	Has occurred in this Company	Happens several time a year in the industry	Happens several times a year in this Company
No Injury	No Damage	No Damage	No Impact
Minor injury	Minor Damage	Minor Effect	Slight Impact
Major Injury	Local Damage	Localised Effect	Limited Impact
Single Fatality	Major Damage	Major Effect	National Impact
Multiple Fatality	Total Loss	Massive Effect	International Impact

	-----	Minor Risk. Manage for continuous improvement
	-----	Moderate Risk: Incorporate Risk reduction measures
	-----	Intolerable Risk. Immediate Attention required.

Note that the above Matrix is an example. It is up to individual organisations to decide for example what constitutes a major injury vs. minor injury, or a slight impact on reputation vs. a limited impact. The OH&S legislation and Protection of the Environment Operations legislation will give some guidance in terms of Injuries and environmental impacts.

Risk analysis can be done by using;

- published information about the Hazard including the OH&S regulations and any safety data related to materials or equipment,
- workplace experience including incident reports and employee feedback
- Industry codes of practice, or
- Australian Standards.

Risk Analysis should be done with the involvement of the OH&S consultative arrangements in place in the company

Hazard Controls

For each threat, one or several 'barriers' can be specified to prevent or minimise the likelihood of damage. For example barriers to the 'inappropriate advice from a pilot' are 'competent pilot', 'competent ship's master', 'port control', 'passage plan', and 'navigational aids'.

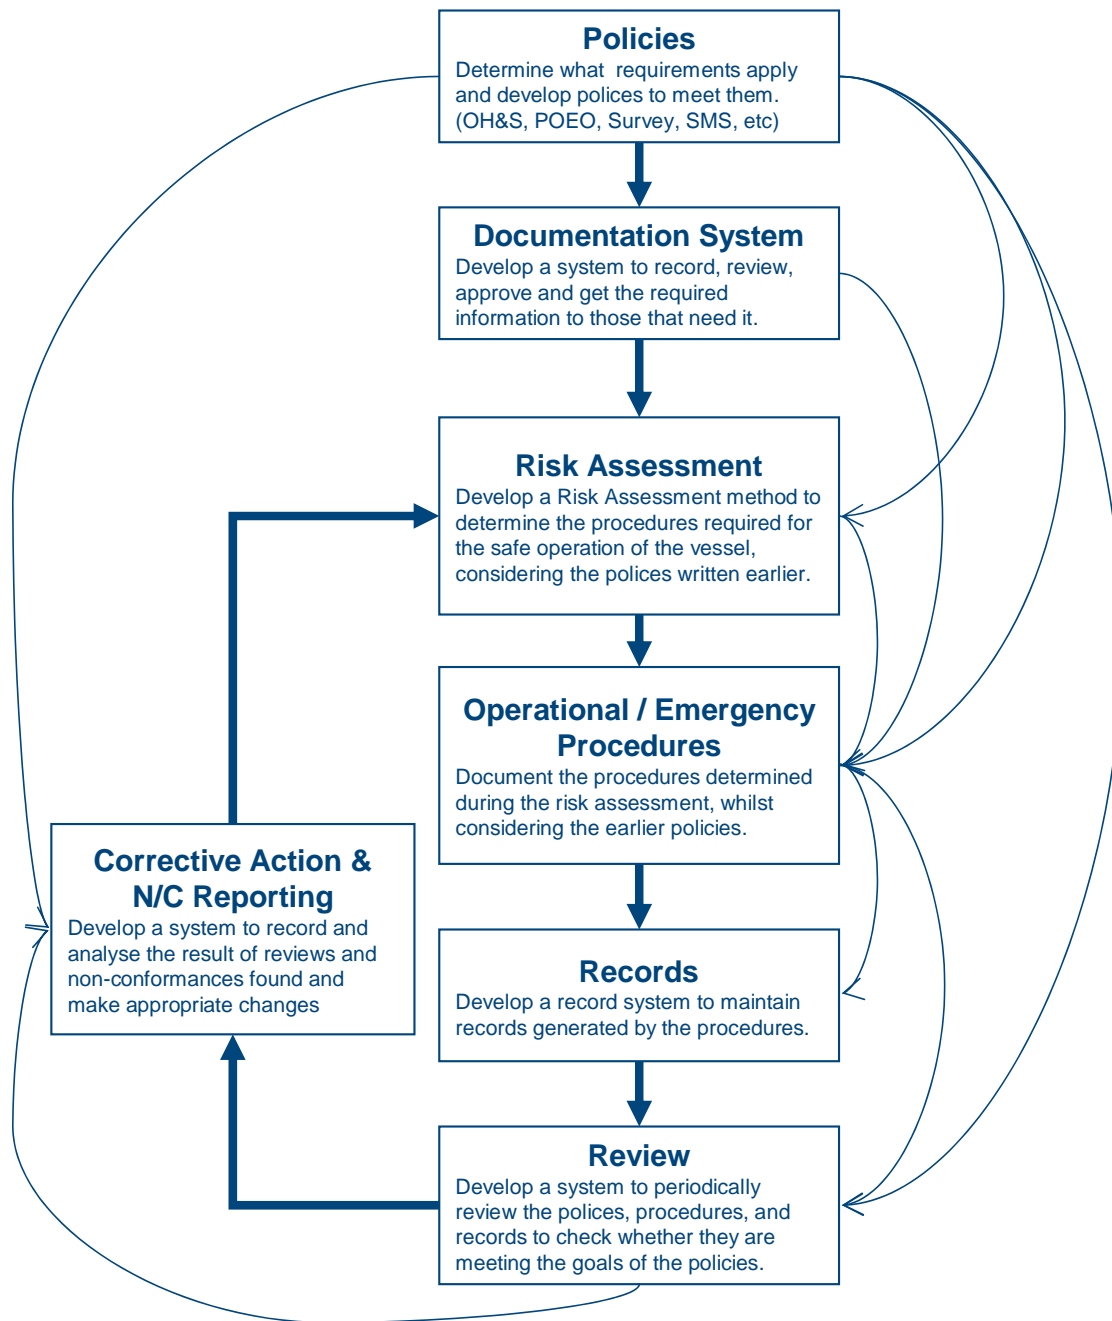

The OH&S legislation requires that the controls put in place should be designed in a set priority.

Firstly the risk should be eliminated altogether if possible, possibly by not doing the role or performing the procedure.

If elimination is not possible then the next step should be to attempt to redesign the equipment or process to lessen the hazard, possibly by substituting different equipment or performing a different process, or by providing physical barriers.

Finally if lessening the hazard is not possible it is necessary to provide engineering controls such as Safe Work Procedures, Training or Supervision, and finally providing Personal Protective Equipment
