CHIEF EXECUTIVE SERVICE AND SENIOR EXECUTIVE SERVICE<sup>1</sup>

Section 1: Background

Section 24C of the Statutory and Other Offices Remuneration Act 1975 (the Act) provides for the Tribunal to determine annual remuneration packages for the SES to take effect on and from 1 October in that year.

The SES was introduced in the NSW public sector in 1989. The key features of the SES are:

- classified into eight remuneration levels
- minimum and maximum of each remuneration level determined by the Tribunal
- remuneration packages expressed as total cost of employment
- conditions of employment contained in the contract of employment
- each officer is required to enter into an individual performance agreement with the Minister (in the case of the CEO) or the CEO (in the case of an SES officer)
- provision for annual increase in remuneration based on performance assessment.

In addition to the SES some officers in the Public Office Holders Group elected, pursuant to section 11A of the Act to receive remuneration packages under arrangements similar to those applicable to the SES.

The Senior Officer (SO) classification was introduced in December 1996. The work value of SO Levels (1-3) mirrors that of SES Levels (1 – 3) with lower rates of remuneration for SOs intended to be a trade off for both tenured employment and superannuation payments on behalf of the SOs by the Government.

Section 2: 2006 Review

Government submission

The Government has made its submission to the Tribunal. It has provided details of key national economic indicators, details of salary movements across the NSW public Sector and public sector remuneration for SES and non SES across Australia.

In the NSW public sector, these include, since the Tribunal's 2005 annual determination, increases of 4 percent to the major public sector occupational groups including senior officers.

The Government has also submitted details of its future wages policy. It notes that the Government has delivered significant wage increases to the public sector since 1996 and that its future wages policy is to maintain those real wage improvements. The Government's objective is to provide wage increases in line with inflation when the current round of wage Award/Agreements expire in two years.

The Government notes that the increases are not in conflict with the Government's wages policy at the time of settlement. That wages policy provided for increases of 3 percent per year and an additional 1 percent to extinguish prior work value claims and productivity claims lodged in the NSW Industrial Relations Commission.

The Government submission concludes that:

"The economic, salary and superannuation data outline a strong case for remuneration movements in the minimum and maximum of each SES level in NSW.

A key challenge for the Government is to continue to ensure that the Senior Executive Service attracts and retains talented and skilled staff now and into the future.

General economic indicators and remuneration changes across Australia point to remuneration increases in the range of 3% – 4.5%. The ABS forecast Wage Price Index (WPI) for 2006-2007 is 4%, in line with remuneration movements for non-SES staff in the NSW public service. The Government supports a salary increase for SES officers in line with budget policy of maintaining real wages. This would indicate an increase of 3%."

Treasury Forecasts

The Government has provided a detailed analysis from the NSW Treasury on the NSW budget strategy for the next 12 months. NSW Treasury anticipates that the Consumer Price Index (CPI) for Sydney in 2006/2007 will be 2.75 percent which is equivalent to the revised estimate for 2005/2006. Wages growth as measured by the Wage Price Index (WPI) is expected to be 4.0 percent in the next 12 months, again equivalent to the estimate for 2005/2006.

In respect of Wages Policy NSW Treasury has advised that:

“The large occupational groups (e.g. teachers, nurses, and police) are covered by wage agreements that are set to expire from February 2008. Under these agreements, wage increases during the Budget year will average 4 per cent per annum. Following their expiry the Government’s policy is that wage increases should keep the level of real wages constant. This implies nominal pay rises of up to 2.5 per cent per year.

Treasury also points out that employee related costs are the largest component of total budget expense. In 2006-07 employee related costs are budgeted at 48.5% of total general government expenses, up from 45.9 percent in 1996-97. Treasury notes that:

“Wage outcomes can have a permanent or structural impact on budget expenses. Public-sector pay rises in excess of the Government’s wages policy therefore may require a structural response such as reduced levels of employment, lower spending elsewhere or higher taxation.”

Recruitment and Retention Allowance

The Government supports the continued separation of the Recruitment Allowances and Retention Allowances. However, to ensure the Retention Allowance remains relevant, the Government has recommended that the restriction on the payment of the Retention Allowance as a lump sum at the end of an SES officer’s contract term be removed.

The Government notes that unlike the Recruitment Allowance which is paid as part of an SES officer’s remuneration package, the Retention Allowance accumulates and is paid only at the end of the contract term (as a lump sum).

The Government submission points out that the current Retention Allowance arrangement has detrimental financial and superannuation implications for SES officers in receipt of the Retention Allowance vis a vis those SES officers in receipt of the Recruitment Allowance. This arises from the ability for those in receipt of the Recruitment Allowance to receive the Allowance as part of their normal fortnightly pay and allows them the ability to salary sacrifice for superannuation or other employer benefits, whereas those in receipt of the Retention Allowance only see the benefit at the end of the contract term which in some circumstances would not occur until after 4 years had elapsed.

The Government considers that the current restrictions on the Retention Allowance acts as a disincentive in retaining staff and has provided details which show that of the 130 SES officers currently in receipt of Recruitment Allowance or Retention Allowance only 19 are in receipt of the latter entitlement.

Section 3: 2006 Tribunal Review

Wage and Salary movements

In 2005, the Tribunal determined an increase of 4 percent for the SES. This was to ensure that SES remuneration increases did not fall significantly behind Award based salary increases received by key public sector groups, particularly Senior Officers.

The Tribunal has noted those matters set out in the submission concerning the 2006/2007 budget strategy as provided by the NSW Treasury and has considered carefully the recommendation of the Government that the increase should be limited to 3 percent.

The Tribunal has also noted the latest key national economic indicators. These show that the Wage Price Index for the public sector in NSW was 4 percent for the year ended June 2006, and 4.4 for the public sector across Australia. The CPI for the same period was 4.0 percent nationally and 3.8 percent for Sydney.

The NSW Government’s preferred approach to wage outcomes is through negotiated wage settlements agreed to by both parties and ratified through the NSW Industrial Relations Commission. Since 1995 this approach has delivered significant wage increases to teachers, nurses, police and the general public service in return for productivity improvements. Most of the current Awards and Agreements for these public sector employment groups commenced in 2004 and are due to expire in 2008. Salary increases to be provided over the remaining life of the Awards and Agreements are set out below.

Group	% Increase	Effective Date	Next Increase
Crown Employees	4%	1 July 2006	4% 1 July 2007
Health Service Union	4%	1 July 2006	4% 1 July 2007
Teacher’s Federation	4%	1 January 2006	4% 1 January 2007
Police Association	2%	1 July 2006	2% 1 July 2007
Fire Brigades	4%	1 February 2006	4% 1 February 2007
Members of Parliament	7%	1 July 2006	1 July 2007
Federal Judges	4.4%	1 July 2006	1 July 2007

The Tribunal also notes that Secretaries of Commonwealth Departments (the equivalent of the Chief Executive Service) have received increases of 4.4 per cent effective from 1 July 2006 and the most recent data on the Federal SES shows that this group has received increases between 3.9 percent and 6.6 percent.

In other jurisdictions public sector executive remuneration has increased between 3 percent and 4.5 percent.

Finally the Tribunal notes that Federal Members of Parliament and NSW Members of Parliament have received increased of 7 per cent effective from 1 July 2006.

The Tribunal has given careful consideration to the Government’s recommendation for a 3 percent increase on this occasion and the reasons underpinning it. The Tribunal, however, also notes the Government’s concluded view that “...A key challenge for the Government is to continue to ensure that the Senior Executive Service attracts and retains talented and skilled staff now and into the future.”

The Government is moving towards achieving this with enhanced conditions of employment for its Senior Executives. These include the introduction of parental leave, and enhanced maternity and adoption leave, as well as greater flexibility in leave access and use of leave entitlements. These enhancements mirror to a large extent entitlements available in the public sector generally.

A key factor in attracting the talented to the SES is remuneration. The level of remuneration available must be at a sufficiently high level to attract and retain the best possible people in the highest levels of the bureaucracy. To achieve this remuneration increases must, at the very least, keep pace with those provided in the general community and certainly within the public sector. At this point it is also pertinent to note that the Tribunal’s annual determinations increasing the minimum and maximum SES remuneration levels do not automatically flow to SES officers. In order to receive an increase in remuneration each SES officer is required to undergo a performance assessment and based on that assessment a decision is made as to the quantum of the increase to be paid to the SES officer.

The Tribunal notes that the next 12 months will be significant for the NSW public sector. The State Plan will set the directions and priorities for the public sector for the next decade. Any changes will need to be driven by the CES and SES in the first instance. It is therefore critical in the Tribunal's view that CES and SES remuneration levels remain competitive.

Having regard to the above, and after considering the views of the Assessors, the Tribunal cannot support the Government's recommendation of 3 percent on this occasion but considers that in all the circumstances an increase of 4 percent is appropriate and so determines. This increase will be subject to a satisfactory performance assessment of each SES officer. Progression within the remuneration levels is subject to specific guidelines issued by the Director General of the Premier's Department.

Recruitment Allowance and Retention Allowance

The Recruitment and Retention Allowances were introduced in 1996 to address the difficulties the Government was experiencing in recruiting and retaining SES offices with specialist skills, following the abolition of the specialist market rates the previous year. Under the 2000 determination the Recruitment and Retention Allowance was separated into two separate allowances, i.e. a Recruitment Allowance and a Retention Allowance.

The Recruitment Allowance assists in being able to attract and recruit to positions persons with special qualifications and experience for which the standard remuneration package may be not adequate. As its name suggests the Recruitment Allowance is available only at the time of recruitment of the officer and is treated as part of the officer's normal remuneration package ie the officer receives the Allowance as part of fortnightly pay.

The Retention Allowance on the other hand assists in retaining persons during their contract period who may otherwise be attracted to take a position either elsewhere in the public sector or outside the public sector. As it is made available with the intention of retaining the person for the remainder of their contract term, payment of the allowance is made at the end of the term.

The Tribunal has previously reviewed the operation of the Recruitment and Retention Allowance. In its 1999 Report the Tribunal stated, in regard to the Retention Allowance that:

"...if it is to be a genuine attempt to retain the person for the remainder of his contract then the payment should be by way of a lump sum bonus at the conclusion of the contract."

On the information provided to date the Tribunal can find no reason for varying the manner in which Retention Allowance is presently paid. The Tribunal is, however, aware that other methods of payment are used in some sectors and would be happy to have further regard to this issue at the time of the next review should the Government consider it necessary.

Section 11A Office Holders

Section 11A Office Holders are statutory appointees who exercise independent statutory functions and some of whom also have CEO type responsibilities. These office holders, pursuant to Section 11A of the Act, have access to remuneration packaging identical to the SES. Unlike the SES however, their employment status is governed by legislation specific to each office holder and they are not subject to annual performance appraisal. For the current review the Tribunal has determined a general increase of 4.0 percent for this Group.

JUDGES, MAGISTRATES AND RELATED GROUP

JUDGES, MAGISTRATES AND RELATED GROUP

Section 1: Background

Section 13 of the Statutory and Other Offices Remuneration Act 1975 (the Act), as amended, requires the Statutory and Other Offices Remuneration Tribunal (the Tribunal), each year, to make a determination of the remuneration to be paid to these office holders on and from 1 October in that year. "Remuneration" is defined as salary or allowances paid in money.

The Judges Magistrates and Related Group comprises such officers as are listed in the Schedules of the Act and, in addition are defined as judicial officers (within the meaning of the Judicial Officers Act 1986) or offices which the Government considers should belong to that Group or are directly involved with the judicial system. The offices have been grouped together by the Tribunal for remuneration purposes only.

A principal feature of remuneration for Judges has been the agreement between Federal and State Governments, reached in 1989, on the relativities between the remuneration of State Supreme Court Judges and Federal Court Judges with the remuneration of a Justice of the High Court. This Agreement provides that the salary of a Judge of the Federal Court and a Judge of the State Supreme Court should not exceed 85 per cent of the salary of a Justice of the High Court of Australia. This relativity however, remains acceptable only if and whilst the remuneration of a Justice of the High Court of Australia remains at an appropriate level, and the Remuneration Tribunal should have regard to the base salary plus non financial benefits (such as motor vehicles) when determining judicial remuneration.

Since that time, the New South Wales Tribunal has maintained the remuneration of a State Supreme Court Judge at approximately 85% of the remuneration of a Justice of the High Court.

The Commonwealth Remuneration Tribunal has determined an increase in salary of 4.4 percent for federal Judges and Magistrates effective from 1 July 2006.

Section 2: 2006 Review

The Government has submitted that the longstanding nexus between State and Federal judicial remuneration be maintained.

The Tribunal has received a number of submissions for the current review. All support retention of the nexus with the federal judiciary and/or the retention of existing relativities. In addition a number of specific issues were raised. These include:

A submission on behalf of Crown Prosecutors suggesting that a case may exist to increase the salary to a level equivalent to that of a Magistrate.

A submission on behalf of the Supreme Court seeking an increase in the conveyance allowance to $26,000. In addition, the Supreme Court has suggested that an amendment be made to the Act to enable the Tribunal's determination to take effect from 1 July instead of 1 October. These issues were also supported in the submission made on behalf of Members of the Industrial Relations Commission.

The submission on behalf of the Supreme Court in its support of parity with Judges of the Federal Court (nexus) has noted the similarities in the jurisdictions of the two Courts. The submission notes that the work of both Courts covers many common areas and major trials and appellate decision making are identical. Whereas the Supreme Court has a role in major crime and criminal appeal work the Federal Court does not. The submission concludes that the effective working of the relevant Courts would be seriously compromised should any disparity in remuneration emerge.

The Supreme Court submission points to continued efforts to reduce its current workload. Increased efficiencies in the Court and improved clearance rates which as reported in the most recent edition of the "Report on Government Services 2005-2006" stands at 97.2 percent.

The Chief Magistrate of the Local Court in his submission seeking to maintain existing relativities with the District Court Judges has also provided details of the workload of the Court.

In 2005, 205,344 criminal matters were commenced in the Local Court (1.6 percent increase since 2004) and 204,735 criminal matters were finalised (1.0 percent increase since 2004) Finalisation rates remained high with 95.00 percent of matters being finalised within 6 months and 99.33 percent of matters being finalised within 12 months.

Cases in the Local Court also continue to increase in complexity with the Director of Public Prosecutions (DPP) now prosecuting an increasing number of indictable offences to finality before the Local Court rather than in the District Court.

The Chief Magistrate has also pointed to the use of technology and developmental changes that are having a marked effect on the Court and the cost savings that are being generated. The increasing use of Audio Visual Link facilities for bail hearings and taking evidence from remote witnesses has been of great benefit to the administration of justice.

In January 2006 new administrative arrangements were put in place concerning Criminal Case Processing. These are designed to reduce the number of matters proceeding to the District Court by being concluded through the less expensive procedure of conferencing between the DPP and defence legal representatives within the Local Court system.

A submission from the President of the Workers Compensation Commission sought reconsideration of a previous request that Deputy Presidents receive remuneration equivalent to that of a District Court Judge.

A number of submissions sought an increase to the Conveyance Allowance, including those from the Crown Prosecutors, Public Defenders, the Chief Magistrates and the Chief Judge of the District Court.

The Chief Magistrate has also sought an increase in the daily travel allowances to take account of increases in living costs.

Supreme Court Judges: Determinations – Date of Taking Effect

The submission on behalf of the Supreme Court has once again raised the matter of the effective commencing date of the Tribunal's determination. It proposes that the Tribunal's determinations should take effect from 1 July each year rather than 1 October each year. This would align the commencing date of the remuneration increases with those of Federal Judges.

Section 13 of the Act provides that the Tribunal's annual determinations take effect on and from 1 October each year. This date applies not only to Judges and Magistrates but all office holders listed in the Schedules of the Act and to the SES as well. As the date is set by the statute the Tribunal cannot itself vary the commencing date.

To alter the commencing date would require an amendment to the Act. This is a matter for the Parliament and not for the Tribunal. Unless and until the legislation is changed the Tribunal's annual determinations will continue to take effect on and from 1 October each year.

Crown Prosecutors

The Senior Crown and Deputy Senior Crown Prosecutor have made a joint submission on behalf of Crown Prosecutors. The submission seeks consideration of the suggestion that the salary of Crown Prosecutors should be the same as a Magistrate.

While not intending to diminish the role of the Magistrates, the submission argues that Crown Prosecutors prosecute much more serious levels of crime than those upon which Magistrates adjudicate. In addition, the submission argues that the retention of Crown Prosecutors has become an issue as experienced Crown Prosecutors are taking appointments as Magistrates where they receive a substantial increase in salary to deal with cases involving much simpler and less serious crime.

The current relativities between office holders in the Judges, Magistrates and Related Group were established in 2002 following an extensive review of specific office holders who work directly within the judicial system. Following that review the Tribunal determined that the remuneration for these office holders should be set in relation with judicial remuneration levels. For remuneration purposes those office holders, including Crown Prosecutors, were removed from the Public Office Holders Group and listed within the Judges, Magistrates and Related Group.

The relativity issues with Magistrates raised by the Crown Prosecutor submission are not new. While the salary levels of the two groups were closer in the past there has never been a formal link between Magistrates and Crown Prosecutors. Increases in Magisterial remuneration have occurred only after a close examination of changes in work value. Similar considerations have been applied to the remuneration of the Crown Prosecutors whose most recent work value increase occurred in 2002 where they received an increase of 6 percent.

On this basis the Tribunal does not consider that a change to the salary paid to Crown Prosecutors is warranted at this time. Should the Senior Crown Prosecutor consider that significant changes to the role and responsibilities of Crown Prosecutors have occurred since 2002 then the Tribunal would be pleased to consider a detailed submission for consideration at the time of the next annual review.

Deputy Presidents of the Workers Compensation Commission

A submission from the President of the Workers Compensation Commission sought reconsideration of previous correspondence regarding the remuneration of the Deputy Presidents and the Registrar.

The Tribunal closely considered the issues raised in the President's submission for the 2005 review. The reasons for its determination were stated in the 2005 report.

No new information was provided by the President and there were no submissions from the Registrar or the Deputy Presidents and accordingly the Tribunal intends to take no further action in respect of the remuneration for these office holders.

Conveyance Allowance

As noted above the Tribunal has received a number of submissions seeking to increase the Conveyance Allowance.

The Tribunal undertook a comprehensive review of the Conveyance Allowance during the last annual review. The findings of that review are outlined in the Tribunal's report and determination of 25 October 2005.

In determining the quantum of this allowance the Tribunal used the average of a range of costs associated with a range of vehicles. The range of vehicles reflected the vehicles which at the time were leased by NSW Judges and Magistrates. Costs associated with leasing motor vehicles were based on the method used in the NSW public sector to determine the annual costs to an officer who salary sacrifices to lease a motor vehicle.

Using the same methodology the Tribunal finds that an increase in the Conveyance Allowance is warranted. On this basis the Tribunal considers that an amount of $22,000 is appropriate. Based on existing relativities, the second and third tier rates will increase to $19,800 and $15,840 respectively.

Travel Allowances

The Tribunal has considered the request from the Chief Magistrate to increase travel and meal allowances payable to Magistrates for other than capital city travel.

In determining these rates the Tribunal has regard to travel rates as published in the Australian Taxation Office's Ruling 2006/43, rates adopted for the NSW Public Sector generally and the Tribunal's own survey of accommodation rates in regional New South Wales. The Taxation Office's Ruling provides reasonable upper limits for staying in Australian capital cities and for major country centres. The Tribunal's practice is to adopt the capital city rates and those for Newcastle and Wollongong but there is little guidance in those rates for regional NSW destinations.

For this reason the Tribunal conducts its own survey of NSW regional accommodation rates. This survey has found no significant increase in regional accommodation costs. While the findings suggest that accommodation rates are likely to be higher in larger regional centres these expenses are offset by the significantly lower cost of accommodation in smaller rural centres. The Tribunal has been previously informed that much of the travel undertaken by Magistrates in particular is to the smaller rural centres.

On this basis the Tribunal finds no change in the level of other than capital city travel allowance is necessary. The conditions pertaining to the use of non commercial accommodation are considered to be fair and reasonable and will be retained.

Section 3 Conclusion

The Federal Tribunal has determined an increase of 4.4 percent in respect of Federal Judges. In previous determinations the Tribunal has, after conducting its own reviews, maintained the nexus by determining similar increases in the remuneration of State Judges provided by the Commonwealth Tribunal for Federal Judges. The NSW Government has recommended that that the nexus be retained for the 2006 determination. The Tribunal's own review of judicial remuneration supports the NSW Government's recommendation.

In maintaining the nexus the Tribunal is mindful of the need to attract and retain highly qualified individuals. While salary is not always the primary consideration in undertaking public employment, it is important that NSW judicial salaries remain competitive with other jurisdictions to avoid any erosion of value.

In making its determination the Tribunal has had regard to economic indicators, increases in remuneration for other groups in the State Public Sector as well as increases in judicial remuneration in other jurisdictions particularly in the Commonwealth jurisdiction. The Tribunal has also had regard to the efficiencies in the NSW Court system which remains the largest in Australia.

The Tribunal has also adjusted the Acting Judges rates and the Acting Deputy Presidents of the Workers Compensation Commission rates to reflect the daily equivalent of their full time counterparts.

The Tribunal, after considering the views of the Assessors, and having regard to increases determined by for Federal Judges, the state's economic and budgetary outlook, key national economic indicators and increases flowing generally to public sector groups considers that an increase of 4.4 percent would be appropriate and so determines.

Pursuant to Section 13 of the Statutory and Other Offices Remuneration Act 1975, as amended, the Tribunal determines that the remuneration to be paid to the office holders in this Group on and from 1 October 2006 shall be as set out in Determinations Nos 1-6.

The Tribunal has also made a Report and determination on Travel Allowances for NSW Judges and Magistrates. The Report and Determination are attached at Determination No 7.

The Statutory and Other Offices
Remuneration Tribunal

HELEN WRIGHT

Dated: 6 October 2006

Report and Determination – Travel Allowances for NSW Judges and Magistrates*REPORT*a) Background:

Remuneration" is defined in the Statutory and Other Offices Remuneration Act 1975, as salary and allowances payable to office holders. Judges and magistrates are holders of offices specified in Schedule 1 of the Act.

"Allowance" is defined as follows

"allowance does not include a travelling or subsistence allowance, but includes a travelling or subsistence allowance for travel within Australia by the holder of an office specified in Schedule 1 who is:

- (a) a Judge or Acting Judge of a court, or
- (b) any other judicial officer (within the meaning of the Judicial Officers Act 1986) nominated by the Minister by notice in writing to the Tribunal for the purposes of this definition.

The Tribunal in this determination will be setting rates for overnight stays in capital cities, for overnight stays in areas other than capital cities and meal rates for day or part of day absences from headquarters. The Tribunal has also determined the conditions upon which the rates are to be paid.

b) Current Review:

For the current review the Tribunal has had regard to movements in the travel rates as published in the Australian Taxation Office's Ruling 2006/43 and the rates adopted for the NSW Public Sector generally. The Tribunal also undertook a survey of accommodation rates in regional New South Wales.

c) Principles Adopted

In making its determinations on travel allowance rates the Tribunal has adopted a number of guiding principles as set out hereunder.

Travelling allowances are intended to meet the costs necessarily incurred by Judges and Magistrates who are required to travel away from home/place of work on official business. Such costs include accommodation, meals and incidental expenses.

Allowances are provided to ensure that an officer is not financially disadvantaged as a result of having to travel on official business.

Office holders are not expected to gain or lose financially as a result of travelling on official business.

Where an office holder is accommodated in private, non-commercial accommodation such as the home of a family member or friend, a rate of one third of the specified rate is payable, rounded upwards to the nearest dollar.

The rates for accommodation across NSW vary considerably from town to town. There will be some country towns where the country daily rate will be of financial advantage to the Judge and there will be some (a much lesser number) where the Judge or Magistrate could be financially disadvantaged. On balance, the Tribunal is persuaded that with the exception of Newcastle and Wollongong a common rate for Judges and a common rate for Magistrates should be applied for the remainder of NSW in the knowledge that across a year a Judge or Magistrate will most likely be neither financially advantaged or disadvantaged.

d) Conclusions

In making its determination the Tribunal has had regard to the current travel allowance rates contained in Taxation Ruling 2006/43.

Non metropolitan accommodation rates and meal rates have also been adjusted as set out in the Determination.

After reviewing the survey of intra state accommodation and meal costs, the Tribunal makes the following determination (Determination No 7) effective on and from 1 October 2006.

STATUTORY AND OTHER OFFICES
REMUNERATION ACT, 1975
PUBLIC OFFICE HOLDER GROUP

PUBLIC OFFICE HOLDERS GROUP*Section 1 Background

Section 13 of the Statutory and Other Offices Remuneration Act 1975, (the Act), requires the Statutory and Other Offices Remuneration Tribunal, to make a determination of the remuneration to be paid to office holders on and from 1 October in that year. "Remuneration" is defined in section 10A as salary or allowances paid in money.

The Public Office Holders Group comprises those public offices, listed in the Schedules of the Act (except for the Judges Magistrates and Related Group), which have been grouped together by the Tribunal for remuneration purposes. The remuneration for this Group is determined as a fixed salary amount. Employer on costs such as Superannuation Guarantee Levy are, unlike the Senior Executive Service, additional to the salary amount determined. It is the Government's view that there be no direct nexus with the remuneration of the Judges Magistrates and Related Group. The Tribunal has supported this position in past Determinations.

Section 2 Submissions ReceivedGovernment Submission*

The Government has asked the Tribunal to consider various factors, including the economic outlook and has recommended a 3 percent increase for this Group. The Government has noted increases granted to this Group in other jurisdictions has ranged from 3 percent (NT and ACT) to 4.4 percent (Vic/Commonwealth).

Other Submissions Received.

No other submissions requesting reviews were received.

Section 3 2006 Tribunal Review

In its determination for the SES and CES the Tribunal has set down the reasons for deciding to grant a wage increase of 4 percent to maintain the real value of wages. The Tribunal considers that similar reasons exist to provide a 4 percent general increase for this Group as well.

As has been noted elsewhere increases for the main groups in the public sector have, since the 2005 determination, increased by 4 percent. Many of the officers receiving these increases would report to the Office Holders in this Group. To determine an increase of less than 4 percent to this Group would exacerbate the salary compression between the public office holders and the public sector generally. The Tribunal does not consider such an outcome to be in the best interests of promoting a skilled and efficient public service.

Section 4 Conclusion

Having regard to the key economic indicators and increases in public sector remuneration both in NSW and in other jurisdictions, the Tribunal considers, after considering the views of the Assessors, that an increase of 4.0 percent would be appropriate and so determines.

Pursuant to Section 13 of the Statutory and Other Offices Remuneration Act 1975, as amended, the Tribunal determines that the remuneration to be paid to office holders on and from 1 October 2006 shall be as specified in Annexure A.
