Note— The Act and the Interpretation Act 1987 contain definitions and other provisions that affect the interpretation and application of this Order.
- (2) Notes included in this Order do not form part of this Order.

3 Grounds for concluding that there is a risk to public health

It is noted that the basis for concluding that a situation has arisen that is, or is likely to be, a risk to public health is as follows—

- (a) public health authorities both internationally and in Australia have been monitoring and responding to outbreaks of COVID-19, which is a condition caused by the severe acute respiratory syndrome coronavirus 2 (SARS-CoV-2),

- (e) health care workers work with vulnerable and sick members of the community, including those who have COVID-19,
- (f) ensuring that health care workers are vaccinated will reduce—
  - (i) the risk of infection, severe disease and death in the workers, and
  - (ii) the risk of transmission of infection from workers to patients and other workers,
- (g) public health and hospital services are at risk without appropriate and proportionate mitigation strategies, including vaccination to protect health care workers and patients.
