REMUNERATION TRIBUNAL

REPORT RELATING TO DETERMINATION NO. 8 OF 2002

1. Introduction

1.1 In accordance with the provisions of the Remuneration Act 1990, the Remuneration Tribunal by letters dated 16 September 2002 invited the Auditor-General, Electoral Commissioner, Deputy Electoral Commissioner, Employee Ombudsman and the Ombudsman to make submissions in relation to the remuneration of those respective office holders. The Tribunal also invited the Premier to make submissions in the public interest.

1.2 On 30 September 2002 the following was published in The Advertiser newspaper:

REMUNERATION TRIBUNAL

Review of Salaries for Statutory Office Holders

Section 8 (2) of the Remuneration Act 1990, requires the Tribunal to sit at least once in each year to review its previous determinations. Accordingly, the Tribunal is conducting a review of the determination incorporating the salaries payable to the following statutory office holders:

- Auditor-General;
- Electoral Commissioner;
- Deputy Electoral Commissioner;
- Employee Ombudsman; and
- Ombudsman

Interested persons, organisations and associations are invited to submit in writing any views they consider should be taken into account in the above review.

The closing date is 11 October 2002 and submissions should be forwarded to:

The Secretary
Remuneration Tribunal
G.P.O. Box 1651
Adelaide, S.A. 5001

or alternatively submissions can be forwarded via the Tribunal's website: www.remtribunal.sa.gov.au.

Telephone: (08) 82264001
Facsimile: (08) 82264174

1.3 The Tribunal received written submissions from all the statutory office holders whose remuneration were being reviewed. The Electoral Commissioner, Deputy Electoral Commissioner, Ombudsman and Auditor-General made oral submissions to the Tribunal on 28 October 2002. In addition, the Government made written and oral submissions in relation to all of the positions being considered.

1.4 The Tribunal did not receive any written submissions from the public.

2. Auditor-General

2.1 The remuneration of the Auditor-General was last determined in Determination No. 7 of 2001 and the salary is currently $200 800 per annum operative from 1 October 2001.

2.2 The Auditor-General made submissions to the Tribunal on the following areas:

2.2.1 Public servants had recently received 4% per annum increases and that the remuneration of the Office of the Auditor-General should be maintained in accordance with those salary movements.

2.2.2 That there were currently significant amendments proposed in relation to responsibilities given to him by Parliament under the Public Finance and Audit Act 1987 and as such requested that his remuneration be further reviewed having regard to change in work value if and when changes were enacted.

2.3 The Government submitted that it supported salary increases for the Statutory Office Holders which were 'consistent with the broad background of movements in Public Sector Executive remuneration in 2002, and in the public sector generally. The Government has in previous submissions submitted that 'given the nature and status of the Statutory Offices, it is in the public interest that the salaries for these officers keep pace with, but do not significantly exceed, increases applicable to other public sector positions of similar status'.

2.4 The Tribunal was advised that an increase of 3% on Public Sector Executive's Total Employment Cost packages was effective from 1 July 2001 and that the salaries for senior public sector employees, covered by an enterprise agreement, were increased by 4% from 1 October 2001.

2.5 The Tribunal noted the proposal that the powers of the Auditor-General be amended and agreed that if that was the case, a review of work value may be warranted, if those increased powers resulted in significant work value change.

2.6 Having regard to all submissions, the Tribunal determines that the salary for the Office of Auditor-General will be $208 300 per annum, operative from 1 October 2002. Telephone rental and calls allowance for this Office will remain unaffected by this Determination.

3. Electoral Commissioner

3.1 The remuneration of the Electoral Commissioner was last determined in Determination No. 7 of 2001 and the salary is currently $116 000 per annum operative from 1 October 2001.

3.2 The Tribunal was advised by the Electoral Commissioner of developments in the roles and responsibilities of the Electoral Commissioner. The Electoral Commissioner also cited the following activities in respect of the previous 12 months:

- Conducted State election (being the largest in South Australia's history to date);
- Conducted eight supplementary Local Government elections;
- Produced material for the Court of Disputed Returns in relation to the seat of Hammond;
- Conducted non-Government elections;
- Commenced proceedings for the Electoral Districts Boundaries Commission (EDBC); and
- Advanced planning for major Local Government elections for 2003.

3.3 The Electoral Commissioner submitted that his position on the EDBC was a fundamental part of the role and as such should be included in the annual remuneration of the Electoral Commissioner.

3.4 The Electoral Commissioner also drew the Tribunal's attention to changes to remuneration relativities with other public service executives which had existed prior to moving under the Remuneration Tribunal's jurisdiction. The Electoral Commissioner also noted the time lag in operative dates between public service executives' remuneration and the statutory officer remuneration considered by the Tribunal.

3.5 The Tribunal has considered the submissions of the Electoral Commissioner in relation to his role on the EDBC and refers to previous determinations by the Tribunal in this matter, in particular Determination No. 2 of 1997. Accordingly, the Tribunal has determined not to vary the current basis of remuneration of the Electoral Commissioner in this regard.

3.6 The Government submissions for the remuneration for the position of Electoral Commissioner and for the position of Deputy Electoral Commissioner mirrored those made in respect to the Auditor-General.

- 3.7 The Tribunal has considered all submissions and has determined that the salary for the Office of Electoral Commissioner will be $120 400 per annum, operative from 1 October 2002. Telephone rental and calls allowance for this Office will remain unaffected by this Determination.
4. Deputy Electoral Commissioner
- 4.1 The remuneration of the Deputy Electoral Commissioner was last determined in Determination No. 7 of 2001 and the salary is currently $84 200 per annum, operative from 1 October 2001.
- 4.2 Submissions were received from the Electoral Commissioner that the Deputy Electoral Commissioner should be granted access to higher duties allowance when he acts in the role of Electoral Commissioner for less than 5 consecutive days.
- 4.3 The Tribunal believes the current access to higher duties allowance after 5 consecutive days remains appropriate.
- 4.4 The Tribunal considered submissions from both the Government and the Electoral Commissioner on behalf of the Deputy Electoral Commissioner in respect to a salary increase. Having regard to all submissions the Tribunal has determined that the salary for this Office will be $87 800 per annum, operative from 1 October 2002. Telephone rental and calls allowance for this Office will remain unaffected by this Determination.
5. Employee Ombudsman
- 5.1 The remuneration of the Employee Ombudsman was last determined in Determination No. 7 of 2001 and the salary is currently $85 800 per annum, operative from 1 October 2001.
- 5.2 Whilst no oral submission was received from the Employee Ombudsman, his written submission requested the Tribunal take into account both average wage increases from enterprise agreements over the last 12 months of around 4% and that employees within the SA public sector had received an increase of 4% per annum as of October 2002. The Employee Ombudsman therefore requested that his remuneration and allowances be increased by 4% accordingly.
- 5.3 The Government submission in relation to the position of Employee Ombudsman mirrored those made in respect to the Auditor-General.
- 5.4 The Tribunal has considered all submissions and having regard to the increases applicable to executives in the public sector has determined that the salary for this Office will be $98 500 per annum, operative from 1 October 2002. Telephone rental and calls allowance for this Office will remain unaffected by this Determination.
6. Ombudsman
- 6.1 The remuneration of the Ombudsman was last determined in Determination No. 7 of 2001 and the salary is currently $148 900 per annum, operative from 1 October 2001.
- 6.2 Submissions from the Ombudsman referred to previous relativities between the Ombudsman and the Assisting Supervising Magistrate of the Adelaide Magistrates Court and between the Police Complaints Authority and a Stipendiary Magistrate. The Ombudsman submitted that these relativities should be maintained to the extent that the Ombudsman's salary should be no less than the salary of the Police Complaints Authority. The Ombudsman also noted that the outcome of the recent Stipendiary Magistrates' work value cases should also be flowed on if it was the case that the Government had passed this increase onto the Police Complaints Authority.

6.3 The Ombudsman also drew attention to changes in legislation which have impacted on the work of the Office of the Ombudsman and work that his Office had undertaken in the preceding 12 months.

6.4 The Tribunal, upon request, received confirmation from Government that the increase resulting from the Stipendiary Magistrates' work value claim had been flowed on to the Police Complaints Authority as the appointment provided a link to the salary of a Stipendiary Magistrate. The Tribunal in its Determination No. 5 of 2002, Salaries of Stipendiary Magistrates, noted that salaries of other Statutory Office holders were not directly related (in work value terms) to that of Stipendiary Magistrates. The Tribunal stated:

'The Tribunal is not convinced that the changes in these other officers' duties have been significant to the extent that existing relativities with Magistrates should be continued'

As such the Tribunal chose to break these relativities, instead allowing opportunity to hear further argument on this matter during the annual review of remuneration.

6.5 It remains the Tribunal's position that salary increases due to increased work value should not be flowed on, without justification, to other officers. The Tribunal, in its Determination No. 6 of 1998, in relation to the Ombudsman's Office, stated:

'The Tribunal considers it inappropriate to continue the direct nexus with the Assisting Supervising Magistrate of the Adelaide Magistrates Court as there are no similarities of duties between the two positions. The other Statutory Office holders within the Tribunal's jurisdiction have their salaries determined against the broad background of pay level of the Executive Structure in the public service and the Tribunal in determining the salary of the Office of the Ombudsman will also have regard to the relevant pay levels in the public service.'

Accordingly, the Tribunal is unable to accept that increases granted to Magistrates, for work value, should be granted to the Ombudsman.

6.6 Having regard to the submissions the Tribunal has determined that the salary for this office will be $154 500 per annum, operative from 1 October 2002. Telephone rental and calls allowance for this Office will remain unaffected by this Determination.

Dated 22 November 2002.
