PART 3—SOCIAL EFFECT PRINCIPLES

10. Decision making principles

- (1) Subject to sub-clause (2), the grant, or variation, of a gaming machine licence should not give rise to a level of gambling activity which is not sustainable having regard to its likely positive and negative impacts on the applicant community stakeholders as identified—
- (a) by a social effect inquiry; or
 - (b) in evidence taken in the course of the proceeding before the Liquor and Gambling Commissioner.
- (2) In applying sub-clause (1), the following must be taken into account—
- (a) the adequacy of the relevant social effect inquiry;
 - (b) the extent to which the applicant has engaged with local community stakeholders in respect of the proposal;
 - (c) the extent to which the risks identified by the applicant (including those so identified in the social effect inquiry) and by applicant community stakeholders can be managed;

⁴ Sub-clauses (4)–(6): It is intended that all the SEIFA index scores and population data required for the purposes of a social effect inquiry using 2006 ABS Census data will be drawn from the downloadable spreadsheet file for ABS product code 2033.0.55.001—2033055001_ seifa, statistical local areas, data cube only, 2006.xls.

- (d) the extent to which the net beneficial impacts likely to accrue to applicant community stakeholders other than local community stakeholders offset the net detrimental impacts likely to be experienced by local community stakeholders;
 - (e) the extent to which the level of gaming activity in the local community area, by reference either to net gambling revenue or to the numbers of local machines, would be disproportionate to the level of gaming activity for the State;
 - (f) the extent of support for the proposal among local community stakeholders;
 - (g) the extent to which conditions can be specified in the licence to—
 - (i) ameliorate the social effect of the grant, or variation, of the licence; and
 - (ii) reflect undertakings given by the applicant to applicant community stakeholders; and
 - (h) concerning any undertakings given by the applicant to applicant community stakeholders to be bound by ongoing special licence conditions upon the grant or variation of a gaming machine licence—
 - (i) the relevance of the undertakings; and
 - (ii) the desirability of enforcing the undertakings by the specification of licence conditions.

Schedule 1

FORM OF PREMISES BASELINE DOCUMENT

1. Introduction

This premises baseline document has been prepared as the first step in the community consultation required for the proposed introduction of gaming/proposed changes to the gaming arrangements at [insert premises name].

The consultation is being undertaken by [insert name of applicant] (“the Applicant”).

The street address of the premises is [insert premises address].

The process which requires this community consultation is called a social effect inquiry. When a social effect inquiry is completed, an applicant can seek a social effect certificate (to allow the introduction of gaming) or variation of the Applicant’s existing licence (to allow an expansion of gaming). These are granted by the Liquor and Gambling Commissioner.

The law was amended in 2010 to make sure that the social effect of new licensing proposals was included in the first stage of decision making. The role of the application for a social effect certificate is to allow those decisions to be made.

If a social effect certificate is granted, the applicant can then proceed to the next step of licensing which is for a premises certificate. (In order to do this, the Applicant will also have to have obtained any necessary development approvals.) A premises certificate tells the Applicant what will be an acceptable built environment for gaming and thereby allows the Applicant to go ahead with construction processes. On completion of construction in compliance with the premises certificate, the Applicant may apply for the grant of a gaming machine licence, with all the necessary licensing criteria having been met.

While the premises certificate and licence applications are important licensing steps, it is intended that the assessment of the social effect of the grant of a licence be resolved at the social effect certificate stage, before those steps are undertaken.

The 2010 amendments to the law adapted this approach to expansions of existing gaming venues by giving the Liquor and Gambling Commissioner the power to require a social effect inquiry to precede an application for variation of a licence.

This document is intended to set out the broad range of information community stakeholders will need to engage effectively in the social effect inquiry and any subsequent application for a social effect certificate or application for variation of a licence.

The information in this document is current as at [date of publication of document].

2. How social effect decision-making works

There are three components to a social effect inquiry—

- (a) a structured stakeholder engagement period of 8–12 weeks ending with at least one public meeting;
- (b) a stakeholder comment period of 2–4 weeks; and
- (c) an applicant response period of at least 2 weeks, ending with the publication of a social effect inquiry report.

Timelines are set out in a separate timetable which the applicant must publish with this document.

While community stakeholders may put in their comments earlier than the end of the stakeholder comment period, it makes sense to see through the whole of the structured stakeholder engagement period and the public meeting, so that the full picture is known.

Once the applicant has completed the social effect inquiry report, the applicant is allowed to apply for a social effect certificate (or, if the proposal is to expand gaming, a variation of the licence). This application must be advertised. Stakeholders are able to participate in the formal decision process by lodging an objection.

The formal decision process is a proceeding before the Liquor and Gambling Commissioner.

The prescribed social effect principles require the Commissioner to take into account—

- (a) the adequacy of the relevant social effect inquiry;
- (b) the extent to which the applicant has engaged with local community stakeholders in respect of the proposal;
- (c) the extent to which the risks identified by the applicant (including those so identified in the social effect inquiry) and by applicant community stakeholders can be managed;
- (d) the extent to which the net beneficial impacts likely to accrue to applicant community stakeholders offset the net detrimental impacts likely to be experienced by local community stakeholders;
- (e) the extent to which the level of gaming activity in the local community area, by reference either to net gambling revenue or to the numbers of local machines, would be disproportionate to the level of gaming activity for the State;

- (f) concerning applicant undertakings—
- (i) the relevance of undertakings the applicant has made to applicant community stakeholders to be bound by ongoing special licence conditions upon the grant or variation of a gaming machine licence;
 - (ii) the desirability of enforcing undertakings mentioned in sub-paragraph (i) by the imposition of special licence conditions.

If the applicant or any of the objectors is unhappy with the decision made by the Commissioner, there is a right of review in the Licensing Court.

GAMING MACHINES ACT 1992

GM Notice No. 5 of 2011

Gaming Machines—Game Approval
Principles—Prescription Notice 2011[12 May 2011]*

The Independent Gambling Authority publishes this notice under section 10A of the Gaming Machines Act 1992:

1. Citation, commencement, authorising provisions

- (1) This notice may be cited as the Gaming Machines—Game Approval Principles—Prescription Notice 2011.

- (3) This notice is authorised by section 10A(1)(c) of the Gaming Machines Act 1992.

2. Game characteristics tending to an exacerbation

- (1) As a matter of principle, if a proposed game has one or more of the characteristics listed in sub-clause (2), approval of the game must be regarded as likely to lead to an exacerbation of problem gambling unless there is evidence to the contrary.
- (2) The characteristics referred to in sub-clause (1) are—
 - (a) [non-linear] that the statistical return to player for the game changes depending on the amount bet;
 - (b) [illusion of control] that the player may be induced to believe that his or her level of skill will affect the outcome of the game when this is not the case;
 - (c) [win truncation] that there are circumstances in which a prize provided for by the rules of the game would, but for a provision that provided that prizes would be truncated to the permitted maximum prize, exceed that permitted maximum prize;
 - (d) [feature entry bet] that the game has a special feature which is only available if the player bets at or above a particular level;
 - (e) [paid-for feature game] that the game has a special feature which will only commence if a further bet or bets are made;

- (f) [metamorphic] that the game will transform into a different game when certain game events (requiring further play) have occurred;
- (g) [free spins] that the game has a special feature which includes more than 25 automated free reel spins or bets;
- (h) [rate of play] that the reel spin interval of the game is less than 3.5 seconds or, in the case of a game which does not display reels, a bet can be placed more than 17 times per minute;
- (i) [game screen meters] that the game does not display the value in money of the credit balance, bet and win, using a “$” symbol and numerals of the same size and intensity as the display of the credit balance, bet and win.

3. Assessment of new characteristics

As a matter of principle, if a proposed game has one or more features or characteristics which are new, or which cause the proposed game to differ materially from the games already approved at the time the application for approval is made, the applicant must be required to provide a responsible gambling impact analysis of the game and of the role of the features and characteristics.
