 - (b) declaring that you have remedied the breach within the notice period;

Information for the tenant

1. If your tenancy agreement is for a periodic tenancy and you wish to leave the rented premises before the date on which the landlord has indicated vacant possession of the premises is required, you may do so by serving a notice of termination (see Form 5) on the landlord at least 21 days before leaving, or a period equivalent to a single rental period of your tenancy (whichever is longer).

Example—

If you pay rent per calendar month, instead of giving 21 days written notice, you would be required to give 1 calendar month's written notice.

2. When you vacate the premises, you should leave them in a reasonable condition and in a reasonably clean state. If you do not, the landlord may recover from the bond, or from you directly, the costs of cleaning the premises, removing any rubbish, and so on.
3. You should contact the landlord or agent and arrange to meet him or her at the premises at an agreed time. With the landlord or agent, you can then inspect the premises and note on the Inspection Sheet (which you filled in and received at the start of the tenancy) the state of cleanliness of the premises and any damage that has occurred during the tenancy. You can then decide with the landlord or agent how much of the bond should be paid to you and to the landlord (respectively).
4. If possible you should agree on how the bond should be paid. If you do agree, both of you should complete and sign the Refund of Bond form and lodge it with Consumer and Business Services. Make sure that your forwarding address is included on the form so that all or part of the bond, or any future correspondence, can be sent to you. If agreement cannot be reached, you should contact Consumer and Business Services.

5. When you vacate the premises, ensure that you leave all the keys, remote controls and security devices with the landlord or agent, and notify the electricity entity, gas company, Australia Post, Telstra etc, so that the new tenants do not use gas, electricity and the telephone on your accounts, and so that mail can be forwarded to you.

[Tick 1 box]

- personally handing it to the tenant
- mailing it to the tenant
- placing it in the tenant's letterbox

Information for the landlord

1. If the landlord is a registered community housing provider and the tenant has ceased to be a member of the provider or no longer satisfies an essential requirement to remain as a tenant, the period of notice must be at least 28 days.
2. Except where the landlord is a registered community housing provider, this notice cannot be used if the tenancy has been entered into for a fixed term.
3. It is a criminal offence under the Residential Tenancies Act 1995 to state a false ground of termination in this notice.
4. A landlord who recovers possession of premises after giving 60 days notice must not, without the consent of the Tribunal, grant a fresh tenancy over the premises within 6 months after recovering possession.
5. Except where the termination is for a failure to pay rent, if the premises are subject to a housing improvement notice or are subject (or potentially subject) to rent control, the Tribunal must give its authorisation to this notice before it is effective.
6. This notice may be served on the tenant (or on an agent of the tenant)—
 - (a) personally; or
 - (b) by sending it by post addressed to the person at his or her last known place of residence, employment or business; or
 - (c) by leaving it in a letterbox or other place where it is likely to come to his or her attention at his or her last known place of residence, employment or business; or

- (d) by fax or email to a fax number or email address provided by the person for the purposes of service under the Act.
7. You should retain a copy of this notice.

Information for the tenant

1. If your tenancy agreement is for a periodic tenancy and you wish to leave the rented premises before the date on which the landlord has indicated vacant possession of the premises is required, you may do so by serving a notice of termination (see Form 5) on the landlord at least 21 days before leaving, or a period equivalent to a single rental period of your tenancy (whichever is longer).

Example—

If you pay rent per calendar month, instead of giving 21 days written notice, you would be required to give 1 calendar month's written notice.

2. When you vacate the premises, you should leave them in a reasonable condition and in a reasonably clean state. If you do not, the landlord may recover from the bond, or from you directly, the costs of cleaning the premises, removing any rubbish, and so on.
3. You should contact the landlord or agent and arrange to meet him or her at the premises at an agreed time. With the landlord or agent, you can then inspect the premises and note on the Inspection Sheet (which you filled in and received at the start of the tenancy) the state of cleanliness of the premises and any damage that has occurred during the tenancy. You can then decide with the landlord or agent how much of the bond should be paid to you and to the landlord (respectively).
4. If possible you should agree on how the bond should be paid. If you do agree, both of you should complete and sign the Refund of Bond form and lodge it with Consumer and Business Services. Make sure that your forwarding address is included on the form so that all or part of the bond, or any future correspondence, can be sent to you. If agreement cannot be reached, you should contact Consumer and Business Services.
5. When you vacate the premises, ensure that you leave all the keys, remote controls and security devices with the landlord or agent, and notify the electricity entity, gas company, Australia Post, Telstra etc, so that the new tenants do not use gas, electricity and the telephone on your accounts, and so that mail can be forwarded to you.

Note—

As required by section 10AA(2) of the Subordinate Legislation Act 1978, the Minister has certified that, in the Minister's opinion, it is necessary or appropriate that these regulations come into operation as set out in these regulations.
