LLOYD KLUMPP
General Manager
Biosecurity Tasmania

Explanatory Note:

Suppliers and importers of plants, plant products and other prescribed matter, and other interested parties must comply with the conditions and restrictions on the import of prescribed matter as specified in the Plant Biosecurity Manual Tasmania – 2020 Edition.

The Plant Biosecurity Manual Tasmania – 2020 Edition includes but is not limited to the following revisions:

- Content and structural changes to Part 1 and Part 2 General Conditions and Restrictions for pre-entry conditions and post-entry inspection when an importer is importing prescribed matter into the State;
- Addition of a definition of who an ‘importer’ is, under the Section - Interpretation (Glossary) of terms (Section 1.13 of the Manual);
- A full update to Biosecurity Tasmania’s Contacts Page (Section 1.1 of the Manual);
- Revisions to the introductory background content to Import Requirements for plants, plant products or other prescribed matter being imported into Tasmania (Section 2.19 of the Manual);
- Amendments to Import Requirement 2 – Fruit Fly Host Produce – Disinfestation with Methyl Bromide, first published on 1 March 2019, including:
  1. Improved specifications regarding fruit core temperature checking throughout pallets of produce prior to fumigation to ensure that fruit core temperature is consistently at or above 17°C;
  2. A new requirement for pre-treatment 600 unit inspections for all mangoes and stone fruit to verify that the produce is free from live fruit fly larvae prior to fumigation occurring.
- Amendments to Import Requirement 10 – Grape phylloxera – Hosts and Vectors, first published on 27 July 2019, imposing a hot water treatment condition for grapevine cuttings and/or rootlings originating from a Phylloxera Exclusion Zone (whole-State Area Freedom certificates will still be recognised without need for treatment).
Cuttings/rootlings will no longer be permitted entry from a Phylloxera Risk Zone. Further to these changes, the length of time for dry heat treatment of ‘at risk’ agricultural equipment and machinery have been extended from two hours to three hours, and agricultural equipment and machinery must have been used in a Phylloxera Exclusion Zone for at least 3 weeks instead of 2 weeks.
