Notice of Local Law —
“Excavating on Council Land”

On 14 July 1998 the Glenelg Shire Council made a local law to control, manage and regulate activities, which may be dangerous or unsafe or detrimental to the quality of life in the environment of the Municipal District.

To achieve this objective the following provisions have been affected:

A permit will be required for a person to excavate on any council controlled land including the cliff face on the beachfront at Portland between the Trawler Wharf and the Lighthouse behind the Centenary Caravan Park.

A copy of the Local Law is available for inspection at the Glenelg Shire Council Customer Service Centres.

Local Law No. 8 – Consumption of Alcohol in Public Places

The Council of the City of Yarra hereby gives notice that it intends to make the Consumption of Alcohol in Public Places Local Law pursuant to section 119 of the Local Government Act 1989.

The purpose of the local law is to control consumption of liquor in public places during specified festivals and events as and when prescribed by Council. The local law aims to protect and minimise any risks to public safety, enhance the social environment and prevent public nuisances and anti social behaviour at specified festivals and events.

The general intention of the local law is to prohibit the consumption and possession of liquor in an open container by any person in a public place, in a prescribed area.

1. A prescribed area is an area specified by the Council for the purposes of the local law. In relation to a prescribed area, Council may, by public notice, declare a prescribed area by way of:
 - (a) description; or
 - (b) plan or map.
2. If the Council specifies an area to be a prescribed area, it must:
 - (a) publish a notice of that specification in the Government Gazette; and
 - (b) ensure that a document describing the area, or plan or map showing the area, is available for inspection at the Council offices during normal office hours.

3. The declaration of a prescribed area may be made to operate:

- (a) during a specified period of the day; or
- (b) during a specified period of the year.

If no period is specified, a prescribed area operates at all times, on all days each year.

Offences

4. A person who contravenes or fails to comply with any provision under this local law is guilty of an offence and is liable to a penalty. As an alternative to prosecution for an offence, a person may be served with an Infringement Notice. The local law specifies procedures for the payment of infringement notices served on persons guilty of an offence.
5. Any person consuming liquor, or in possession of liquor in an open container, in a public place in a prescribed area is guilty of an offence and subject to a penalty of $200. An offence is not committed:-
 - (a) if the possession or consumption of alcohol is in a permitted alcohol consumption area; or
 - (b) "authorised premises" or "licensed premises" within the meaning of the Liquor Control Act 1987; or
 - (c) circumstances to which the Liquor Control Act 1987 does not apply.
6. An authorised officer who finds a person contravening the provisions of this local law may impound any open liquor container in the person's possession. A person, if requested to do so, must give to an authorised officer an open liquor container which the authorised officer wishes to confiscate.

A copy of the proposed local law may be obtained from the Richmond Town Hall, 333 Bridge Road, Richmond and the Collingwood Town Hall, 140 Hoddle Street, Abbotsford between the hours of 8.30 a.m. and 5.00 p.m. weekdays.

Any person may make a submission in accordance with section 223 of the Local Government Act 1989, within fourteen days of the publication of this notice. EXEMPTION
Application No. 72 of 1998

The Victorian Civil and Administrative Tribunal has considered an application pursuant to Section 83 of the Equal Opportunity Act 1995 by Jane Broadhead on behalf of Kildonan Child & Family Services, a division of the Uniting Church of Australia. The application for exemption is to enable the applicant to advertise for and employ a male or female worker where required, to maintain a gender balance.

Upon reading the material tendered in support of this application the Tribunal is satisfied that it is appropriate to grant an exemption from Sections 13, 100 and 195 of the Act to enable the applicant to advertise for and employ a male or female worker where required, to maintain a gender balance.

In granting this exemption the Tribunal noted:

- Kildonan Child and Family Services (“Kildonan”) is a non-profit agency auspiced by the Uniting Church of Australia.
- Kildonan’s Residential Services Program provides full time care for children and young persons who are under Guardianship and/or Custody Orders to the Department of Human Services and who are unable to live at home with their families. In most cases the children have been removed from home due to neglect and or abuse they have experienced while with their families.
- The program is conducted in a number of homes in the community each of which is staffed by one male and one female 24-hour residential caregiver.
- Having both a male and female in each unit is seen as being in the best interests of the children for the following reasons:
 - (a) It provides the children with a positive adult model for both genders.
 - (b) In cases where a child has experienced abuse primarily by members of one gender, a full time staff member of the other gender can provide the children with assurance and a greater sense of security. This is particularly so when the child has experienced sexual abuse.
 - (c) It is important to provide the children with opportunities to engage with an adult who can support them in dealing with the emotional issues arising out of the neglect and abuse they have often experienced. Having staff who belong to the gender with whom the child most easily relates, increases the likelihood that the child will engage with an adult in such a therapeutic process.

The Tribunal grants an exemption from the operation of Sections 13, 100 and 195 of the Equal Opportunity Act 1995, to enable the applicant to advertise for and employ a male or female worker, where required to maintain a gender balance. This exemption is to remain in force from the day on which notice of the exemption is published in the Government Gazette until 29 July 2001.

EXEMPTION

Application No. 73 of 1998

The Victorian Civil and Administrative Tribunal has considered an application pursuant to Section 83 of the Equal Opportunity Act 1995 by Banyule Community Health Service Inc. The application for exemption is to enable the applicant to advertise for and employ a male social worker.

Upon reading the material tendered in support of this application the Tribunal is satisfied that it is appropriate to grant an exemption from Sections 13, 100 and 195 of the Act to enable the applicant to advertise for and employ a male social worker.

In granting this exemption the Tribunal noted:

- The Banyule Community Health Service is a provider of community health and welfare services in the City of Banyule. The organisation has 95 staff and a budget of $3.2 million.
- In recent times there has been a growing number of African refugees. Male African refugees have significant health issues arising from the refugee process and unemployment. Many of them cannot get their work qualifications recognised in Australia.
- Cultural sensitivities have seen difficulties with male members of the African community discussing unemployment and health issues with female staff. Currently there are two Somali community development workers (a male and a female) but funding for these positions ends in September 1998.
- To continue to work effectively Banyule wish to employ a male staff member to work with the men of the community on health and unemployment issues.

The Tribunal grants an exemption from the operation of Sections 13, 100 and 195 of the Equal Opportunity Act 1995, to enable the applicant to advertise for and employ a male social worker. This exemption is to remain in force from the day on which notice of the exemption is published in the Government Gazette until 29 July 2001.

EXEMPTION

Application No. 74 of 1998

The Victorian Civil and Administrative Tribunal has considered an application pursuant to Section 83 of the Equal Opportunity Act 1995 by Out Doors Inc. The application for exemption is to enable the applicant to advertise for and employ a male or female Outdoor Adventure Educator, where appropriate to maintain a gender balance.

Upon reading the material tendered in support of this application the Tribunal is satisfied that it is appropriate to grant an exemption from Sections 13, 100 and 195 of the Act to enable the applicant to advertise for and employ a male or female Outdoor Adventure Educator, where appropriate to maintain a gender balance.

In granting this exemption the Tribunal noted:

- Out Doors is a non-government mental health service primarily funded by the Department of Human Services to provide Statewide psychosocial rehabilitation services to people with psychiatric disabilities. As part of the Funding and Service Agreement with the Department Out Doors are to achieve a 40% female participation rate within the programs. Funding has been received for a two-year women only program.
- The adventure education service consists of a number of program portfolios including an introductory Come & Try program, Medium and Longer term programs, Worker Training, Agency programs and the Women Outdoors program.

- The service assists disadvantaged people as all programs involve direct contact with people with psychiatric disabilities. The aim is to provide opportunities for people to learn or relearn a range of skills within a safe, enjoyable yet challenging alternative environment. The experience gained over ten years of providing these sorts of activities has shown that participation in these types of programs leads to a general improvement in people's mental health, their skills and abilities. This includes improved social skills, planning, problem solving, time management organisation and preparation. Participants generally report improved self-confidence and self-esteem. This is a consequence of participating in a program which often is perceived as being beyond the scope of their abilities by their families, friends, general practitioners, psychiatrists and other psychiatric disability support workers.
- Experience and literature suggest that where women have experienced some form of trauma and disadvantage, they are much more likely to participate in programs where certain preconditions are met. These include experienced and qualified female staff, women-only activities tailored to the individual needs of participants and, where possible safe environments where men are either not present or their presence is appropriately controlled.
- Outdoor Adventure education provides alternative environments, circumstances, activities and opportunities, and broadens life experiences of people, thereby offsetting a narrowing of experience due to such things as mental illness, social disadvantage and disability. It provides experimental learning through active participation in and reflection upon real situations, complementing and/or enhancing more passive approaches to rehabilitation and training. It challenges a person at the level of their ability, and to build upon the challenge from that point. It remains essentially self-directed; has a positive status in society, is attractive and can be structured to ensure success via gradual, supportive and flexible programming. It challenges stereotypes and introduces new possibilities for people, providing people with significant positive memories, the building material of people's psyches.

- The philosophy of Out Doors is that a person with a psychiatric disability has the right to choose and plan their own recreation/leisure; to be challenged; the right to adventure, excitement and exhilaration; to participate in experiences which our society gives high values/status and the right to be considered as someone with potential, abilities and a future. All people have a right to access the whole range of recreation activities, reach their potential through a positive forward-looking approach which focuses on abilities and participate in the community and make their own choices. Recreation, play and outdoor adventure are valuable parts of an holistic approach to personal development and mental health and help to integrate mind, emotions and body.

The Tribunal grants an exemption from the operation of Sections 13, 100 and 195 of the Equal Opportunity Act 1995, to enable the applicant to advertise for and employ a male or female Outdoor Adventure Educator where appropriate to maintain a gender balance. This exemption is to remain in force from the day on which notice of the exemption is published in the Government Gazette until 29 July 2001.

Subordinate Legislation Act 1994
 NOTICE OF PREPARATION OF
 REGULATORY IMPACT STATEMENT
 Forests (Murrindindi Scenic Reserve)
 Regulations 1998

Notice is given under section 11 of the Subordinate Legislation Act 1994 that a Regulatory Impact Statement (RIS) has been prepared in relation to the proposed Forest (Murrindindi Scenic Reserve) Regulations 1998.

The objects of the proposed Regulations are to:

- (a) provide for the effective management and conservation of the Murrindindi Scenic Reserve;
- (b) raise revenue to fund improvement works by charging fees for camping in the Reserve; and
- (c) ensure a safe, enjoyable and educative experience for every visitor.

The reason for the proposed Regulations is that the high and increasing level of visitation to the reserve necessitates some form of management control which will assist in protecting the reserve and provide for the safety and enjoyment of visitors. The proposed Regulations are the first written specifically for the Murrindindi Scenic Reserve, and will underpin management of increasing environment and social impacts being placed on the reserve through increasing visitor usage.

The RIS examined alternatives to the proposed Forests (Murrindindi Scenic Reserve) Regulations 1998. The use of Voluntary Codes of Conduct was examined as an alternative to the proposed Regulations but is considered inadequate because a lower level of benefit is achieved and the costs of implementation and risk of permanent damage to the reserve's values are higher.

Copies of the RIS and the proposed Regulations may be obtained from the Information Centre, Department of Natural Resources and Environment, Ground Floor, 8 Nicholson Street, East Melbourne, 3002 (phone 9637 8080) between 8.30 a.m. and 5.30 p.m., or from Mr Richard Wadsworth (phone 9637 8417) of Forests Service, Level 14, 8 Nicholson Street, East Melbourne, 3002 or on the Internet at <http://www.nre.vic.gov.au/ris/>.

Public comments or submissions on the proposed Regulations and RIS are invited. All comments or submissions must be in writing and must be received at (Attention Mr Richard Wadsworth), Forests Service, Level 14, 8 Nicholson Street, East Melbourne, 3002 or email ris.murrindindi@nre.vic.gov.au no later than 5.00 p.m. on Tuesday, 1 September 1998.

The proposed Regulations are the first written specifically for the Steavenson Falls Scenic Reserve, and will underpin management of increasing environment and social impacts being placed on the reserve through increasing visitor usage.
