EXEMPTION

Application No. A305 of 1999

The Victorian Civil and Administrative Tribunal has considered an application pursuant to Section 83 of the Equal Opportunity Act 1995 by Athanasia Georgiou. The application for exemption is to enable the applicant to be able to personally train ladies only in a private studio in her own home.

Upon reading the material tendered in support of this application the Tribunal is satisfied that it is appropriate to grant an exemption from Sections 42, 100 and 195 of the Act to enable the applicant to be able to personally train ladies only in a private studio in her own home.

In granting this exemption the Tribunal noted:

- The service provided by the applicant is of a personal nature and involves very close contact with clients.
- The service provides exercise for women, involving resistance training with weights, aiding women with weight loss, fitness and to help create change in body shape.
- The applicant will provide these services alone in a small room in her own home.
- The applicant wishes to provide these services to women only for her own safety and for the safety of other women who may have had bad experiences in relation to men.
- Women who undertake this training will be performing these activities not in a fully dressed state.

The Tribunal grants an exemption from the operation of Sections 42, 100 and 195 of the Equal Opportunity Act 1995, to enable the applicant to be able to personally train ladies only in a private studio in her own home.

This exemption is to remain in force from the day on which notice of the exemption is published in the Government Gazette until November 24, 2002.

Dated 23 November 1999.

EXEMPTION

Application No. A308 of 1999

The Victorian Civil and Administrative Tribunal has considered an application pursuant to Section 83 of the Equal Opportunity Act 1995 by Wangaratta High School. The application for exemption is to enable the applicant to advertise and employ a male integration aide.

Upon reading the material tendered in support of this application the Tribunal is satisfied that it is appropriate to grant an exemption from Sections 13, 100 and 195 of the Act to enable the applicant to advertise and employ a male integration aide.

In granting this exemption the Tribunal noted:

- The male integration aide is needed to assist a male student enrolled under the program for Students With Disabilities and Impairments who has quadraplegic cerebral palsy.
- The male aide is to provide the student with a male role model, to act as a mentor which is seen by his parents, primary school teachers, current integration aide, physiotherapist and doctor, valuable to his development.
- The male aide will provide and better facilitate interaction with his male student peers.
- The aide will assist the student in classroom positioning, exercise of his limbs and will assist in toileting and accessing the change table.
- The male aide will help to avoid the students loss of dignity in that having a female aide assist in toileting and changing is a potential embarrassment for a boy approaching puberty, both personally and in the perceived attitude of his peers.

The Tribunal grants an exemption from the operation of Sections 13, 100 and 195 of the Equal Opportunity Act 1995, to enable the applicant to advertise and employ a male aide.

This exemption is to remain in force from the day on which notice of the exemption is published in the Government Gazette until November 24, 2002.

Dated 23 November 1999.
