Fisheries Act 1995GUIDELINES PURSUANT TO SECTION 28(2) OF THE FISHERIES ACT 1995

Abalone Fishery Management Plan

I, Patrick McNamara, Minister for Agriculture and Resources, issue the following guidelines with respect to the preparation of a Management Plan for the Victorian abalone fishery.

Fisheries Victoria will be responsible for the preparation of the Management Plan.

The Fisheries Co-Management Council will oversee the preparation of the Management Plan in consultation with the relevant Fishery Committees.

The Management Plan will be prepared with involvement and input from all major affected stakeholder groups including Fisheries Victoria, commercial interests, recreational interests, aquaculture interests, and conservation interests.

Final advice in respect of the Management Plan should be provided to the Minister so that declaration of the Management Plan can be completed by the end of the year 2000.

In addition to the requirements of the Fisheries Act 1995, the Management Plan should address and include the following:

All management measures must be in accord with the principles of ESD and consistent with National Competition Policy requirements.

The Management Plan should identify strengths, weaknesses, opportunities and threats as they pertain to the abalone fishery and utilise these in development of the Plan.

The Management Plan will consider the need for separate management arrangements for blacklip abalone and greenlip abalone to determine a Total Allowable Catch for each species in each management zone.

Management boundaries should be reviewed and, if necessary realigned to enable optimum management of abalone resources.

Management arrangements in each zone must include selecting the process and identifying the appropriate tools for establishing the TAC and its allocation, risk assessment and harvest strategy evaluation with clear decision triggers for protection and utilisation of stocks.

Research needs should be identified to provide for optimum utilisation of the resource.

A management regime should facilitate the adoption of diverse forms of aquaculture and resource enhancement (including reef reseeding).

Regulations should be reviewed to ensure that the current audit system is evaluated for suitability to national, multi-jurisdictional application for commercial efficiency.

Threats to abalone resources should be identified where possible with an appropriate management regime for minimising possible impacts on stocks.

An appropriate management regime should be developed for the recreational taking of abalone.

The Management Plan should determine mechanisms to assess the effectiveness of enforcement and compliance regimes.

The Management Plan should review the current enforcement and compliance regime and provide for appropriate recommendations for modifications.

APPROVAL OF THE PREPARATION OF A CODE OF PRACTICE FOR DEBARKING OF DOGS

Order in Council

The Governor in Council grants approval to the Minister for Agriculture and Resources, under section 7(1) of the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals Act 1986, for the preparation of the Code of Practice for Debarking of Dogs.

Prevention of Cruelty to Animals Act 1986
PREPARATION OF A CODE OF PRACTICE

Under section 7(1) of the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals Act 1986, I, Patrick McNamara, Minister for Agriculture & Resources prepare the attached Code of Practice for Debarking of Dogs.

Dated 6 April 1999.

PATRICK McNAMARA
Minister for Agriculture & Resources

CODE OF PRACTICE FOR DEBARKING OF DOGS

PURPOSE OF CODE

1. This Code aims to protect the welfare of dogs from indiscriminate debarking and to encourage considerate management of debarked dogs. This Code is made under section 7(1) of the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals Act 1986 and is complementary to section 9(1)(1a) of that Act which prohibits debarking of dogs except on the advice of a registered veterinary practitioner and in accordance with a Code of Practice.

MEANING OF DEBARKING

2. For the purposes of this Code 'debarking' means the surgical operation performed by a registered veterinary practitioner to reduce the noise of a dog's bark. When a dog is debarked its ability to communicate with other animals and human beings is reduced. Most debarked dogs have a subdued "husky" bark, audible up to 20 metres.

CIRCUMSTANCES IN WHICH A DOG MAY BE DEBARKED

3. This Code recognises that debarking a dog may be necessary for therapeutic or prophylactic effects, or as an alternative to euthanasia for a dog declared to be a public nuisance because it barks persistently.
4. A dog is a public nuisance where - there have been written complaints from the occupiers of not less than two neighbouring residences or in isolated areas two written complaints from persons occupying the same residence, submitted to the Municipal offices, and
5. investigation by an authorised officer of the municipality confirms that despite every reasonable effort by the owner to discourage the dog from barking by considerate care, training and management the dog continues to bark persistently.

This Code does not approve of debarking as a substitute for proper care, management and training of a dog. When management changes and training are undertaken, sufficient time should always be allowed for behaviour changes in a dog to be evident.

RESPONSIBILITIES OF THE OWNER IN THE CASE OF A DOG WHICH IS A PUBLIC NUISANCE

6. An owner who intends to have a dog debarked BECAUSE IT IS A PUBLIC NUISANCE must first complete a Statutory Declaration to the effect that the dog is a public nuisance because of its persistent barking and that every reasonable effort has been made to discourage the dog from barking by considerate care, training and management. The owner is to further declare that the only alternative to debarking the dog is to have it destroyed. A model Statutory Declaration is attached.
7. The owner must also obtain from the Chief Executive Officer (or delegate) of the Council of the Municipal District in which the dog is registered a written declaration which certifies that -
 - (i) there have been written complaints from two or more neighbouring residences or, in isolated areas, two written complaints from the same residence, submitted to the Municipal offices, and
 - (ii) an authorised officer of the Municipality has investigated the complaints and has confirmed that every reasonable effort by the owner has failed to discourage the dog from persistently barking.

A model declaration is attached.

8. The registered veterinary practitioner who is to perform the debarking operation is required to notify the Bureau of Animal Welfare within 7 days of each such operation. A model declaration is attached.

In the case of a licensed scientific establishment, the Statutory Declaration may be accompanied by a certificate from the Bureau of Animal Welfare in lieu of a certification by the Chief Executive Officer (or delegate) of the Municipality. Any dog found to be a persistent barker during its holding and preparation period should not be held for scientific purposes.

RESPONSIBILITIES OF THE REGISTERED VETERINARY PRACTITIONER

9. Before agreeing to perform a debarking operation the registered veterinary practitioner should consider the history and physical condition of the dog and arrangements for post-operative care and management. If the welfare of a dog after debarking is likely to be jeopardised because it is not able to attract attention to discomfort or danger, the dog should not be debarked.

The recommended method for debarking (ventriculocordectomy) is by using a ventral laryngotomy approach as compared to the oral approach.

The two primary post-operative complications of either procedure are return to bark and stricture or "webbing" of the glottis. Some return of the bark can be expected after ventriculocordectomy especially with the oral approach. The ventral approach gives more consistent and satisfactory results because it permits better exposure and, generally, more complete removal of the vocal cords.

Owners of dogs who request "debarking" should be advised of the possible complications. The registered veterinary practitioner must be certain that clients understand the risks and limitations of the procedure before accepting the case.

The registered veterinary practitioner should also advise the owner or person-in-charge on the care and management of a debarked dog. It may not be necessary to completely separate a debarked dog from other dogs but care should always be taken soon after the operation or with dogs which are unfamiliar to the debarked dog.

EXEMPTION

Application No. 43 of 1999

The Victorian Civil and Administrative Tribunal has considered an application pursuant to Section 83 of the Equal Opportunity Act 1995 by Central Highlands Women's Collective for exemption from Sections 13, 100 and 195 of that Act. The application for exemption is to enable the applicant to restrict employment to women only within the service operated by the Collective.

Upon reading the material tendered in support of this application the Tribunal is satisfied that it is appropriate to grant an exemption from Sections 13, 100 and 195 of the Act to enable the applicant to restrict employment to women only within the service operated by the Collective.

In granting this exemption the Tribunal noted:

- The Centre provides for the needs of women and children suffering domestic violence.
- The Centre offers referral to other established services both local and metropolitan.
- The Centre also offers a community education program concerning domestic violence.
- Women who have been victims of domestic violence find it less threatening to come to other women for assistance and will be more likely to access the service if it is staffed only by women.

The Tribunal grants an exemption from the operation of Sections 13, 100 and 195 of the Equal Opportunity Act 1995 to enable the applicant to restrict employment to women only within the service operated by the Collective.

This exemption is to remain in force from the day on which notice of the exemption is published in the Government Gazette until 11 August 2002.

Dated this 11 August 1999.
