EXEMPTION

Application No. A502 of 2000

The Victorian Civil and Administrative Tribunal has considered an application pursuant to Section 83 of the Equal Opportunity Act 1995 by Mr Bridges trading as Mister Magnets for exemption from Sections 13, 100 and 195 of that Act. The application for exemption is to enable the applicant to advertise for and employ up to five people who in the Applicant's opinion have, or are capable of assuming, an American accent (irrespective of their race, including their nationality or national origin).

Upon reading the material submitted in support of the application and upon hearing submissions from Mr Bridges and for the Reasons for Decision given by the Tribunal on 12 December 2000, the Tribunal is satisfied that it is appropriate to grant an exemption from Sections 13, 100 and 195 of the Act to enable the applicant to advertise for and employ up to five people who in the Applicant's opinion have, or are capable of assuming, an American accent (irrespective of their race, including their nationality or national origin).

The Tribunal hereby grants an exemption to the applicant from the operation of Sections 13, 100 and 195 of the Equal Opportunity Act 1995 to enable the applicant to advertise for and employ up to five people who in the Applicant's opinion have, or are capable of assuming, an American accent (irrespective of their race, including their nationality or national origin).

This exemption is to remain in force from the day on which notice of the exemption is published in the Government Gazette until 13 December 2003.

Dated 12 December 2000

Deputy President

N.B. Copy of the Reasons for Decision is available from the Registrar of the Anti-Discrimination List.

EXEMPTION

Application No. A503 of 2000

The Victorian Civil and Administrative Tribunal has considered an application pursuant to Section 83 of the Equal Opportunity Act 1995 by Uniting Care Connections in respect of their Starting Out Program. The application for exemption is to enable the applicant to advertise for and employ females under the age of 25 years as Peer Support Workers.

Upon reading the material submitted in support of the application, the Tribunal is satisfied that it is appropriate to grant an exemption from Sections 13, 100 and 195 of the Act to enable the applicant to advertise for and employ females under the age of 25 years as Peer Support Workers.

In granting this exemption, the Tribunal noted:

- Uniting Care Connections is an agency of the Uniting Church with its own Board of Governance.
- The agency is one of Victoria's largest community service agencies providing more than 28 programs delivering support services to infants, children, young people and families.
- The agency receives funding from Federal, State and Local Governments and generates its own funds through the support of the corporate, philanthropic and community sectors.

- The Starting Out Program is a specialised support service designed to meet the needs of pregnant and parenting adolescents, targeting women under the age of 25 years with priority being given to those between 13 – 19 years.
- The Starting Out Program involves staff working with young women who are preparing for the birth of a baby and the responsibilities of parenthood.
- It is seen as appropriate that young women fill these positions because of prior histories of sexual physical abuse of clients of the service. For these young women, discussion of issues relating to the experience of birth and developing a relationship with their baby, together with the practical implications of establishing breast feeding etc. requires a safe and secure relationship with workers whose knowledge and experience relates to their own.
- The employment of Peer Support workers is based on a theoretical understanding of adolescent development, which acknowledges the significance of the “peer group” in adolescence. Peer education and employment acknowledges that young people are often more receptive to and more influenced by information offered by their peers rather than older, professional people.
- Peer education and employment focuses on the transfer of accurate information from peer to peer and also facilitates the development of significant social support networks.

The Tribunal grants an exemption from the operations of Sections 13, 100 and 195 of the Equal Opportunity Act 1995 to enable the applicant to advertise for and employ females under the age of 25 years as Peer Support Workers.

This exemption is to remain in force from the day on which notice of the exemption is published in the Government Gazette until 13 December 2003.

The Victorian Civil and Administrative Tribunal has considered an application pursuant to Section 83 of the Equal Opportunity Act 1995 by Victec Group Training Ltd for exemption from Sections 13, 35, 37, 42, 100 and 195 of that Act. The Application for exemption is to enable the applicant to advertise for and recruit women only to a pre-vocational training and employment placement program in relation to the information technology sector and, in particular, that part of the sector concerned with network administration or Internet infrastructure.

Upon reading the material submitted in support of the application and upon hearing submissions from Mr Graham and Ms Alibrando and for the Reasons for Decision given by the Tribunal on 12 December 2000, the Tribunal is satisfied that it is appropriate to grant an exemption from Sections 13, 35, 37, 42, 100 and 195 of the Act to enable the applicant to advertise for and recruit women only to a pre-vocational training and employment placement program in relation to the information technology sector and, in particular, that part of the sector concerned with network administration or Internet infrastructure.

The Tribunal thereby grants an exemption to the applicant from the operation of Sections 13, 35, 37, 42, 100 and 195 of the Equal Opportunity Act 1995 to enable the applicant to advertise for and recruit women only to a pre-vocational training and employment placement program in relation to the information technology sector and, in particular, that part of the sector concerned with network administration or Internet infrastructure.
