EXEMPTION

Application No. A140 of 2000

The Victorian Civil and Administrative Tribunal has considered an application pursuant to Section 83 of the Equal Opportunity Act 1995 by Parks Victoria. The application for exemption is to enable the applicant to advertise and appoint six Aboriginal people to the positions of Rangers.

Upon reading the material tendered in support of this application the Tribunal is satisfied that it is appropriate to grant an exemption from Sections 13, 100 & 195 of the Act to enable the applicant to advertise and appoint six Aboriginal people to the positions of Rangers.

In granting this exemption the Tribunal noted:

- Parks Victoria, in line with the State Government's "Policy for Indigenous Victorians", is currently working to improve consultation and working arrangements with Aboriginal Communities, manage Indigenous cultural sites and places to best practice standards, develop an internal cross-cultural training program, and to employ more Koori staff.

- The appointees to the Ranger positions will be expected to play important roles in developing these programs through establishing and maintaining networks with local Aboriginal communities, identifying indigenous cultural sites and to help implement protection works, providing advice to non indigenous staff and park visitors on Indigenous cultural resource management, and pass on knowledge of indigenous skills relating to land management to non-indigenous staff and assisting non-indigenous staff, visitors and commercial tour operators to interpret Aboriginal cultural sites and places.
- Parks Victoria believe that an aboriginal person would best fill these positions because only an aboriginal person would have a true understanding and appreciation of aboriginal beliefs, customs, values and affinity to cultural sites and places.
- The appointees must be accepted and trusted by Aboriginal communities and must be aware of and sensitive to Aboriginal meeting protocols.
- An aboriginal person is in a better position to pass on indigenous management skills and knowledge, and to assist in the interpretation of aboriginal cultural sites and places to non-aboriginal people.
- Aboriginal communities would better receive an aboriginal person to undertake the tasks of a Ranger. To appoint a non-aboriginal would be viewed as suspicious by Aboriginal people.

The Tribunal grants an exemption from the operation of Sections 13, 100 and 195 of the Equal Opportunity Act 1995, to enable the applicant to advertise and appoint six Aboriginal people to the positions of Rangers.

This exemption is to remain in force from the day on which notice of the exemption is published in the Government Gazette until 19 April 2003.

Dated 12 April 2000.

Deputy Registrar

EXEMPTION

Application No. A141 of 2000

The Victorian Civil and Administrative Tribunal has considered an application pursuant to Section 83 of the Equal Opportunity Act 1995 by Parks Victoria. The application for exemption is to enable the applicant to advertise and appoint three Aboriginal people to the positions of Team Leaders – Indigenous Cultural Heritage.

Upon reading the material tendered in support of this application, the Tribunal is satisfied that it is appropriate to grant an exemption from Sections 13, 100 and 195 of the Act to enable the applicant to advertise and appoint three Aboriginal people to the positions of Team Leaders – Indigenous Cultural Heritage.

In granting this exemption the Tribunal noted:

- The Team Leaders in Indigenous Cultural Heritage will be appointed to provide regional staff with advice on Aboriginal cultural heritage issues and values, will assist and support statewide indigenous cultural heritage programs, will help build working relationships with key Aboriginal stakeholders and will lead the implementation of relevant training programs within the regions.
- Parks Victoria, in line with the State Government's "Policy for Indigenous Victorians", is currently working to improve consultation and working arrangements with Aboriginal Communities, manage Indigenous cultural sites and places to best practice standards, develop an internal cross-cultural training program, and to employ more Koori staff.
- The appointees to the Team Leader positions will be expected to play important roles in developing these programs through providing expert advice on indigenous cultural site protection and management and coordinating regional programs; leading the planning and implementation of Aboriginal cultural heritage training within their regions; liaise with Aboriginal stakeholder with respect to Parks Victoria's projects and programs; overseeing the implementation of corporate guidelines for working with Aboriginal communities; assisting with the preparation of information required with respect to Native Title applications and acting as mentors for the other Aboriginal staff in their region.

- Parks Victoria believe that an aboriginal person would best fill these positions because only an aboriginal person would have a true understanding and appreciation of aboriginal beliefs, customs, values and affinity to cultural sites and places.
- The appointees must be accepted and trusted by Aboriginal communities and must be aware of and sensitive to Aboriginal meeting protocols.
- An aboriginal person is in a better position to pass on indigenous management skills and knowledge, and to assist in the interpretation of aboriginal cultural sites and places to non-aboriginal people.
- Aboriginal communities would better receive an aboriginal person to undertake the tasks. To appoint a non-aboriginal would be viewed as suspicious by Aboriginal people.

The Tribunal grants an exemption from the operation of Sections 13, 100 and 195 of the Equal Opportunity Act 1995, to enable the applicant to advertise and appoint three Aboriginal people to the positions of Team Leaders – Indigenous Cultural Heritage.

This exemption is to remain in force from the day on which notice of the exemption is published in the Government Gazette until 19 April 2003.

NOTICE OF INTENTION TO PROCEED TO MAKE REGULATIONS

Supreme Court (Fees) (Amendment)
Regulations County Court (Court Fees)
(Amendment) Order Magistrates' Court (Fees, Costs & Charges) (Amendment) Regulations

A Regulatory Impact Statement (RIS) was published in relation to each of the proposed Regulations assessing options available to make provision for the necessary funding support to ensure that the operations of the Supreme Court Library may be continued without diminution of services to its users.

It concluded that incorporating a modest levy on the initiation of cases in the Courts was the most equitable solution, the amount of the levy being $10 in the Supreme Court, $5 in the County Court and $2.50 for cases over $10,000 in the Magistrates' Court and for applications for Probate where the value of the estate exceeds $1,000.

After considering the submissions received in respect of the proposed Regulations, I have determined that the regulations should be made to establish these levies.

It must be noted that the base fees for initiation of cases in the Courts to which the levy is to be added have been increased by virtue of the annual CPI revision of fees undertaken since the release of regulatory impact statement, and the total fees, inclusive of the levy, will vary slightly from those mentioned in the RIS.

I now give notice of my intention to proceed with the making of each of the proposed regulations.

Subordinate Legislation Act 1994

VICTORIAN WORKCOVER AUTHORITY
Occupational Health and Safety (Lead)
Regulations 2000

Notice is given in accordance with section 11 of the Subordinate Legislation Act 1994, that a Regulatory Impact Statement (RIS) has been prepared in relation to the proposed Occupational Health and Safety (Lead) Regulations 2000. Notice is also given of the issuing for public comment under section 8(2) of the Occupational Health and Safety Act 1985 of the proposed Code of Practice for Lead. The proposed Code will provide practical guidance to people on how to meet their obligations under the proposed Regulations.

The objective of the proposed Regulations is to protect people against risks to their health associated with the use of lead in workplaces.

The proposed Regulations, together with the Code of Practice will give effect to the National Standard for the Control of Inorganic Lead at Work. This national standard has been endorsed by the National Occupational Health and Safety Commission.

The proposed Regulations will require employers to provide information, instruction and training to employees, obtain material safety data sheets for lead-containing hazardous substances used in the workplace and make them available to employees, ensure that the containers in which lead compounds are supplied are properly labelled, undertake risk assessments, provide control measures, and arrange for medical examinations and biological monitoring of the employees in lead risk jobs. Where an employee's blood lead level exceeds a prescribed amount, the employee must be removed from that job.

The costs and benefits of the proposed Regulations are considered in the RIS. The base case used in the analysis shows a positive net present value of $7.8 million over ten years. While all models demonstrate that the benefits exceed the costs some costs may be understated and some benefits have been unable to be quantified. However, WorkCover considers that the nature of the problem is such that, when taking into account the social benefits associated with the proposed Regulations, it is reasonable to conclude the proposed Regulations best accomplish the policy objective, which is to protect people against the risks associated with the use of lead in workplaces.

In respect to alternatives to the proposed Regulations, a non-regulatory option is not considered a viable option. However a range of regulatory alternatives were considered during the development of the Regulations, including whether lead should be regulated solely by the existing Occupational Health and Safety (Hazardous Substances) Regulations 1999 or through stand alone Regulations. However, after taking into account the sources of lead exposure, the controls for lead proposed in the National Lead Standard, the structure of the Hazardous Substances Regulations and stakeholder views, WorkCover considers that the use of lead in workplaces needs to be regulated by stand-alone Regulations. Alternatives involving a narrowing of the scope or the range of regulatory duties were not considered viable because they may lead to an unacceptable level of risk for employees (and their families) who work in lead processes.

Public comments are invited on the RIS, proposed Regulations and the draft Code of Practice. Copies may be obtained by contacting WorkCover publications (tel: (03) 9641 1333; fax: (03) 9641 1330).

Written submissions should be directed to the following address by no later than close of business 22 May 2000. All submissions received will be treated as public documents.

Lead Regulatory Package, Chairperson, Lead Policy Group, Legislative Services Branch, Victorian WorkCover Authority, GPO Box 4306, MELBOURNE VIC 3001.

Any enquiries about the draft Regulations or Code of Practice should be directed to the Occupational Hygiene Unit (tel: (03) 9641 1744) while enquiries on the RIS should be directed to the Regulatory Assessment and Support Section (tel: (03) 9641 1373).

Parliamentary Committees Act 1968

REFERRAL OF MATTER TO THE FAMILY AND COMMUNITY DEVELOPMENT COMMITTEE

Order in Council

The Governor in Council, pursuant to section 4F of the Parliamentary Committees Act 1968, refers the following terms of reference to the Family and Community Development Committee of Parliament for inquiry, consideration and report to the Parliament on marketplace discrimination against women consumers and its effects on the economic wellbeing of women. In particular, the Committee is requested to:

1. identify and examine the incidence and impact of price discrimination (where the price of a good or service is determined by the gender of the purchaser, not the quality of the good or service) on women consumers in the purchase of goods and services;
2. identify and examine the incidence and impact of discrimination based on stereotyping of women consumers as lacking technical knowledge, lacking financial independence and unable to make 'big purchase decisions' in the purchase of goods and services and enquiries and complaints related thereto;
3. consider whether existing anti-discrimination legislation (both Victorian and Commonwealth) is adequate to address marketplace discrimination against women; and

- 4. consider whether intervention is necessary to reduce the incidence of discrimination against women consumers and, if so, what form that intervention should take and whether it would be best undertaken by government agencies, industry bodies or a combination of the two. In particular consider non-legislative options such as the development of codes of conduct, accreditation schemes, education and training programs and the development of information products.

Without limiting the Committee to examining only specified industries, the Committee should, in addressing the terms of reference, ensure that it considers the following industries: dry cleaning; motor vehicle repair; clothing; domestic building; and banking and credit, including access to credit by small business women.

The Committee is required to report to the Parliament by 31 March 2001.

Dated 18 April 2000.

Font size:

Use 12 point (10 pitch) or larger.

Font Style:

Clear plain font styles, such as Helvetica, should be used.

Graphics:

Line drawings should be transmitted as large as possible to ensure clarity. Drawings up to A4 size sent by fax using Fine Resolution provide a good quality for reproduction.
