The application for exemption is to enable the applicant to grant to members of the Victoria Racing Club, aged 60 years and older, the preferential opportunity to purchase reserved seating, up to a maximum of 888 seats, in the Members Grandstand at Flemington Racecourse for the 2003 Melbourne Cup Carnival, before that opportunity is provided to other members.

Upon reading the material submitted by Andrew Patrick Ramsden in support of the application, the Tribunal is satisfied that it is appropriate to grant an exemption from Sections 42, 60, 100 and 195 of the Act to enable the applicant to grant to members of the Victoria Racing Club, aged 60 years and older, the preferential opportunity to purchase reserved seating, up to a maximum of 888 seats, in the Members Grandstand at Flemington Racecourse for the 2003 Melbourne Cup Carnival, before that opportunity is provided to other members.

In granting this exemption the Tribunal noted:—

- it is the older members of the Club who are more likely to require guaranteed seating for their comfort, and in some cases for their health and safety, in the crowded conditions which prevail during the Melbourne Cup Carnival;
- there are a large number of members of the Victoria Racing Club, far more than the number of seats can accommodate. The opportunity to purchase the reserved seats is to be offered on a preferential basis to members aged 60 years and older and will be made available to younger Club members only if the 888 available reserved seats are not all purchased by Club members who are 60 years and older;
- the applicant was granted a previous exemption which expired on 31 December 2002. The comments received by the Club were to the effect that a more flexible approach to reserved seating would assist senior members. In response to this the Club proposes to offer the reserved seats as a single day package for Derby Day, Melbourne Cup Day and Oaks Day.

The Tribunal hereby grants an exemption to the applicant from the operation of Sections 42, 60, 100 and 195 of the Act to enable the applicant to grant to members of the Victoria Racing Club, aged 60 years and older, the preferential opportunity to purchase reserved seating, up to a maximum of 888 seats, in the Members Grandstand at Flemington Racecourse for the 2003 Melbourne Cup Carnival, before that opportunity is provided to other members.

This exemption is to remain in force from the day on which notice of the exemption is published in the Government Gazette until 31 December 2003.

EXEMPTION

Application No. A280 of 2003

The Victorian Civil and Administrative Tribunal has considered an application, pursuant to Section 83 of the Equal Opportunity Act 1995 by City of Melbourne, City Assets and Services Division. The application for exemption is to enable the applicant to advertise for and employ Indigenous persons only for the positions of Senior Indigenous Policy Officer and Indigenous Policy Officer.

Upon reading the material submitted in support of the application the Tribunal is satisfied that it is appropriate to grant an exemption from Sections 13, 100 and 195 of the Act to enable the applicant to advertise for and employ Indigenous persons only for the positions of Senior Indigenous Policy Officer and Indigenous Policy Officer.

In granting this exemption the Tribunal noted:—

- the City of Melbourne is committed to the inclusion of indigenous interests within all aspects of life in the City and has recently established a new Indigenous Policy Unit to implement initiatives aimed at supporting this commitment;
- key initiatives include the implementation of an Indigenous Employment Strategy;
- there are two principal areas of work within the City of Melbourne that require urgent progress: activities related to Council's commitment to reconciliation and activities aimed at ensuring the effective representation of Indigenous interests within the City;

- having Indigenous staff to implement the program will:—
  - (i) Ensure the credibility of the program and engender commitment to objectives and initiatives within the Indigenous community and stakeholders;
  - (ii) Maximise participation of the Indigenous community;
  - (iii) Bring an increased awareness of cultural issues;
  - (iv) Bring established networks and partnerships to Council.

The Tribunal hereby grants an exemption to the applicant from the operation of Sections 13, 100 and 195 of the Equal Opportunity Act 1995 to enable the applicant to advertise for and employ Indigenous persons only for the positions of Senior Indigenous Policy Officer and Indigenous Policy Officer.

Judicial Remuneration Tribunal Act 1995

JUDICIAL REMUNERATION TRIBUNAL

Report No. 1 of 2003

Introduction

This report contains a determination regarding the remuneration of Acting Magistrates and follows on from the Tribunal's 2002 review of judicial salaries. The Tribunal considers a separate determination is required to ensure the remuneration of Acting Magistrates is adjusted in line with the salary of Magistrates as determined by the Tribunal in October 2002.

Remuneration of Acting Magistrates

It is the Tribunal's understanding that Acting Magistrates are paid a sessional or daily rate calculated using the following formula:

Sessional rate = the annual salary of a Magistrate ÷ 235 (the typical number of days a Magistrate can be expected to work in a year) x 1.1 (10% allowance in lieu of leave).

The remuneration of Acting Magistrates was fixed by the Governor in Council until 2000 when jurisdiction was conferred on the JRT. Despite the jurisdiction to do so, the previous Tribunal did not appear to specifically address Acting Magistrates in its review of judicial remuneration in 2001.

The Tribunal has been informed by the Council of Magistrates that following the JRT's review and recommendations regarding judicial salaries in 2001, the Department of Justice did not adjust the remuneration of Acting Magistrates on the basis that there was no specific recommendation to do so.

As a result, the remuneration of Acting Magistrates has not increased for over three years.

Tribunal's Consideration

The Tribunal agrees with the Magistrates' 2002 submission that the duties, authority and responsibilities of an Acting Magistrate are identical to that of a Magistrate, with the only difference being that Acting Magistrates work on a sessional rather than full time basis.

Given the concern of the Council of Magistrates that Acting Magistrates would again be denied an increase in remuneration in the absence of a specific direction from the Tribunal, the JRT considered a separate and specific determination in this instance would address the issues surrounding Acting Magistrates' remuneration.

The Tribunal is satisfied that the formula previously used to calculate the sessional rate for Acting Magistrates is appropriate providing the current salary of a Magistrate is used. Therefore, the Tribunal has determined that the remuneration of Acting Magistrates is to be calculated using the formula, based on the current salary of a Magistrate. The use of the current salary of a Magistrate in the formula will ensure that the remuneration of Acting Magistrates will be automatically adjusted whenever the salary of a Magistrate is increased.

The formula is to be applied retrospectively to 1 January 2002 in recognition of the lack of an increase in remuneration for Acting Magistrates for over three years.

The Tribunal will continue to fulfil its statutory obligations to review and report on the remuneration of Acting Magistrates at least every two years, but sees no reason to make a specific determination unless considered appropriate.

Retrospectivity

When making a determination or recommendation, the Tribunal is required under the Judicial Remuneration Tribunal Act 1995 ('the Act') to consider several factors relevant to judicial remuneration (see JRT Report No. 1 of 2002 for further discussion). One of the factors the Tribunal must consider is Government wages policy. The Government informed the Tribunal of its wages policy in its submission to the 2002 review and stated that there should be no retrospectivity to salary adjustments unless there are exceptional circumstances.

The Tribunal has considered the Government's position on retrospectivity in its recent remuneration reviews and has found that exceptional circumstances have warranted a retrospective adjustment in the remuneration of Judges, Magistrates and non judicial members of the Victorian Civil and Administrative Tribunal. Increases were awarded retrospectively to address the salary lag that had arisen as a result of a considerable delay in the review of remuneration in Victoria at the same time other jurisdictions received substantial increases.

The delay in the review of the remuneration of Acting Magistrates has been considerably longer than that of other members of the judiciary and the 'exceptional circumstances' justification for a retrospective adjustment is clearly demonstrated.

In its Report No. 1 of 2002, the Tribunal noted that unless the reporting restrictions placed on the Tribunal are addressed, future determinations may include retrospectivity as a result of salary lag or the need to continually 'catch up' with remuneration movements in other jurisdictions. The increase in remuneration was awarded retrospectively in this determination because of unusual circumstances. However, if the Tribunal is prevented from making a determination when appropriate, it is concerned that 'salary lag' will continue to occur and the issue of retrospectivity in remuneration adjustments is likely to arise in future reviews.

Determination No. 1 of 2003

DETERMINATION OF THE JUDICIAL REMUNERATION TRIBUNAL

The Judicial Remuneration Tribunal has made the following determination pursuant to section 11(1)(b) Judicial Remuneration Tribunal Act 1995:

1. SCOPE OF DETERMINATION

The determination applies to sessional rates for Acting Magistrates.

2. TERMS OF DETERMINATION

The daily sessional rate of an Acting Magistrate is to be paid at a rate calculated using the following formula:

Sessional rate = the current annual salary of a Magistrate ÷ 235 x 1.1

3. EFFECT OF DETERMINATION

The formula prescribed in Clause 2 takes effect from 1 January 2002.

In accordance with section 14A of the Judicial Remuneration Tribunal Act 1995, this determination is subject to disallowance by resolution of a House of Parliament within fifteen sitting days of tabling, and if not disallowed, will take effect in accordance with the terms of the determination at the end of the period specified for disallowance.
