Application No A278 of 2004

The Victorian Civil and Administrative Tribunal has considered an application pursuant to Section 83 of the Equal Opportunity Act 1995 (the Act) by Domestic Violence Victoria (“the applicant”). The application for exemption is to enable the applicant to advertise for and employ a female to position of project worker.

Upon reading the material filed in support of this application, the Tribunal is satisfied that it is appropriate to grant an exemption from Sections 13, 100 and 195 of the Act to enable the applicant to advertise for and employ a female to position of project worker.

In granting this exemption the Tribunal noted:

- The applicant is a peak advocacy body funded by the Office of Housing, Department of Human Services, which comprises as its membership women's domestic violence services across Victoria. It advocates for the right of women and children to live free of violence; and supports the adoption of good practice models in the provision of services to women and children experiencing family violence.

In granting this exemption the Tribunal noted:

- The applicant is a peak advocacy organisation comprising a membership of women's family and domestic violence services operating across the State. As approximately 95% of clients seeking assistance from the programs funding domestic violence services are women, the services represented by the applicant are services run by women for women experiencing family/domestic violence.

The application for exemption is to enable the applicant to advertise for and employ female staff to positions in its resource centre.

Upon reading the material filed in support of this application, the Tribunal is satisfied that it is appropriate to grant an exemption from Sections 13, 100 and 195 of the Act to enable the applicant to advertise for and employ female staff to positions in its resource centre.

In granting this exemption the Tribunal noted:

- the applicant is a statewide service providing support, information and referral for women and children survivors of domestic violence and child sexual assault. It also provides support, consultation, resourcing and information to workers in health and welfare agencies and individual advocacy to women and children survivors;
- it is appropriate to employ only females in this area, as many users of the service would not avail themselves of the service if male employees were present;

- the Tribunal previously granted an exemption to the applicant in 2001 to enable it to advertise for and employ female staff to positions in its resource centre, and the circumstances giving rise to the appropriateness of employing female staff only in its resource centre continue to be relevant.
