EXEMPTION

Application No. A422/2005

The Victorian Civil and Administrative Tribunal has considered an application pursuant to section 83 of the Equal Opportunity Act 1995 by Brian Laker. The application for exemption is to enable the applicant to advertise and conduct cooking classes for men only.

Upon reading the material submitted in support of the application and hearing oral submissions from the applicant, the Tribunal is satisfied that it is appropriate to grant an exemption from sections 42, 100 and 195 of the Act to enable the applicant to advertise and conduct cooking classes for men only.

In granting this exemption the Tribunal noted:

- The applicant intends to conduct cooking classes for men initially at the Rowville Community Centre.
- In compliance with the Tribunal's directions, the application was advertised in the Knox Leader newspaper and submissions concerning it were invited. No submissions were received by the applicant or the Tribunal.
- To determine the need for these classes, the applicant has administered a questionnaire to some forty men, and the results of the questionnaire indicate that there is a demand for these classes.

- The applicant has satisfied the Tribunal that these classes will provide practical and basic cooking instruction to men who have little or no previous experience in cooking and who, because of lack of confidence or a perception that women would be able to cook better than they, would be reluctant to attend mixed cooking classes.
- An understanding of cooking and nutrition will improve nutrition and general health and will be of benefit to those who live alone.
- A knowledge of cooking will help to break down the traditional stereotype of women as the sole cooks for their families.
- There is a large variety of cooking classes available throughout Victoria which may be attended by both men and women and which concern different kinds and levels of cooking, and cooking the food of different countries.
- The Dalton Corporation, trading under the name 'He Cooks', conducts cooking classes for men only at certain educational institutions in Victoria.

The Tribunal hereby grants an exemption to the applicant from the operation of sections 42, 100 and 195 of the Equal Opportunity Act 1995 to enable the applicant to advertise and conduct cooking classes for men only.

This exemption is to remain in force from the day on which notice of the exemption is published in the Government Gazette until 12 April 2009.

Dated 5 April 2006.
