Upon reading the material submitted in support of the application the Tribunal is satisfied that it is appropriate to grant an exemption from sections 13, 100 and 195 of the Act to enable the applicant to engage in the exempt conduct.

In granting this exemption, the Tribunal noted:

- The program aims to assist Aboriginal men who have issues in respect of violence toward their families, particularly the women in their families. It aims to assist them to avoid violent behaviour and to take responsibility for their conduct towards their families.
- Aboriginal cultural protocols require that 'men's business' be conducted by men and 'women's business' be conducted by women. The duties of this Case Manager involve men's business. According to that protocol, the Case Manager must be a man in order that the program can be effective to achieve its aim and can be culturally appropriate.

The Tribunal hereby grants an exemption to the applicant from the operation of sections 13, 100 and 195 of the Equal Opportunity Act 1995 to enable the applicant to engage in the exempt conduct.

This exemption is to remain in force from the day on which notice of the exemption is published in the Government Gazette until 1 December 2011.

Application No. A320/2008

The Victorian Civil and Administrative Tribunal has considered an application, pursuant to section 83 of the Equal Opportunity Act 1995, by Royal Botanic Gardens Melbourne. The application for exemption is to enable the applicant to advertise for and employ a part-time Aboriginal Program Officer for its Cranbourne Gardens site (the exempt conduct).

Upon reading the material submitted in support of the application the Tribunal is satisfied that it is appropriate to grant an exemption from sections 13, 14, 100 and 195 of the Act to enable the applicant to engage in the exempt conduct.

In granting this exemption, the Tribunal noted:

- The focus of the role is to research, develop and deliver Indigenous cultural based tours on site at the Royal Botanic Gardens Cranbourne; and
- mentor and train a group of three Casual Aboriginal Tour Guides to provide Indigenous tours to the general public.
- The role of the Aboriginal Program Officer requires a breadth of knowledge of Australian Aboriginal culture and the ability to gain a sound knowledge of the local Aboriginal community and its networks in order to ensure that the program emphasises engagement, knowledge and education which is relevant, credible and authentic.
- The Aboriginal Program Officer must be recognised as an Aboriginal or Koori person by their community and be able to build and maintain strong relationships with the local Indigenous community.
- Previous applications to VCAT have been approved for similar roles in the Royal Botanic Gardens in Melbourne (A133–2002, A33–2005, A203–2006, A79–2006, A2–2008) and the Royal Botanic Gardens in Cranbourne (A293–2008).

The Tribunal hereby grants an exemption to the applicant from the operation of sections 13, 14, 100 and 195 of the Equal Opportunity Act 1995 to enable the applicant to engage in the exempt conduct.

This exemption is to remain in force from the day on which notice of the exemption is published in the Government Gazette until 1 December 2011.

Application No. A321/2008

The Victorian Civil and Administrative Tribunal has considered an application, pursuant to section 83 of the Equal Opportunity Act 1995, by Goulburn Valley Centre Against Sexual Assault. The application for exemption is to enable the applicant to advertise for and employ a female counsellor to work in its centre (the exempt conduct).

Upon reading the material submitted in support of the application the Tribunal is satisfied that it is appropriate to grant an exemption from sections 13, 100 and 195 of the Act to enable the applicant to engage in the exempt conduct.

In granting this exemption, the Tribunal noted:

- The applicant provides assistance and counselling services to the victims of sexual assault. Sexual assaults are mainly perpetrated by men and the applicant's clients are therefore mainly women.
- The applicant's clients feel more comfortable, and more able to make disclosures, if they are assisted and counselled by an employee who is a woman.

The Tribunal hereby grants an exemption to the applicant from the operation of sections 13, 100 and 195 of the Equal Opportunity Act 1995 to enable the applicant to engage in the exempt conduct.

This exemption is to remain in force from the day on which notice of the exemption is published in the Government Gazette until 1 December 2011.

Application No. A318/2008

The Victorian Civil and Administrative Tribunal has considered an application, pursuant to section 83 of the Equal Opportunity Act 1995, by Seville Primary School. The application for exemption is to enable the applicant to advertise for and employ a male school services officer (the exempt conduct).

Upon reading the material submitted in support of the application the Tribunal is satisfied that it is appropriate to grant an exemption from sections 13, 14, 100 and 195 of the Act to enable the applicant to engage in the exempt conduct.

In granting this exemption, the Tribunal noted:

- A male student at the school suffers from a severe behavioural disorder which from time to time involves threatening/challenging behaviour to others and has resulted, on various occasions, in the withdrawal of the student from the school.

- The student responds positively to assistance from male staff/teacher's aides.
- The student will best integrate into the school if assisted by a male school services officer/teacher's aide who would also provide a positive role model for the student. This assistance would foster the student's education and enable him to more continuously attend the school.
- While the school employs female school services officers, it does not have a full-time male school service officer.
- While working with a male school services officer who currently works at the school on a temporary basis to assist this student, the student's behaviour has improved.

The Tribunal hereby grants an exemption to the applicant from the operation of sections 13, 14, 100 and 195 of the Equal Opportunity Act 1995 to enable the applicant to engage in the exempt conduct.

This exemption is to remain in force from the day on which notice of the exemption is published in the Government Gazette until 1 December 2011.

Application No. A319/2008

The Victorian Civil and Administrative Tribunal has considered an application, pursuant to section 83 of the Equal Opportunity Act 1995, by Austin Health. The application for exemption is to enable the applicant to advertise for and employ in the position of Aboriginal Liaison Officer a person of Aboriginal and/or Torres Strait Islander (ATSI) descent (the exempt conduct).

Upon reading the material submitted in support of the application the Tribunal is satisfied that it is appropriate to grant an exemption from sections 13, 14, 100 and 195 of the Act to enable the applicant to engage in the exempt conduct.

In granting this exemption, the Tribunal noted:

- The key objectives of the applicant include: to develop relationships with the ATSI communities, to promote ATSI cultural awareness among its staff, and to ensure that culturally appropriate care, referrals and discharge planning occurs for ATSI clients of its services.

- A person of ATSI descent can best assist the achievement of these key objectives, because of that person's experience and knowledge of the many sensitive issues involved, that person's unique abilities to communicate with ATSI people and communities, and the likelihood that the person will be accepted by and be able to promote good relationships with ATSI people and communities.
- Improvement of cultural awareness for ATSI issues among the applicant's staff, and the provision of culturally appropriate care, referrals and discharge in respect of ATSI clients, will promote their health and wellbeing, give them better access to the applicant's health services and ensure better discharge planning.
- The holder of this position will assist the applicant to develop culturally appropriate support systems, to develop strong working relationships with ATSI communities and agencies, and will assist in providing cultural awareness, education, training and support for the applicant's workforce.

The Tribunal hereby grants an exemption to the applicant from the operation of sections 13, 14, 100 and 195 of the Equal Opportunity Act 1995 to enable the applicant to engage in the exempt conduct.

GUIDELINES TO CALCULATE ANNUAL SOLAR ENERGY SAVINGS FOR DOMESTIC SOLAR WATER HEATERS PRODUCED BY ADDING A
RETROFIT KIT (COLLECTORS AND PUMP) TO AN EXISTING TANK

Version 5.1 updated October 2008

Annual Solar Energy Savings Calculation Methodology for Domestic Solar Water Heaters

RETROFIT DOMESTIC SOLAR WATER HEATER MODELS

To determine the annual solar energy savings for a solar water heater retrofit kit not listed on Sustainability Victoria's list of kits approved for rebate, use the following methodology:

1. OVERVIEW

Modelling shall be conducted in the same manner as for a complete packaged solar water heating system as specified in the document 'Guideline to calculate annual solar energy savings for domestic solar water heaters rebate' available on the Sustainability Victoria website. As there is no tank included as part of the retrofit kit, a generic tank model shall be used for the modelling of annual solar energy savings.

Modelling shall be conducted to AS4234 using the TRNSYS program or extensions of the software in the TRNSYS modelling package, to determine the relative solar fraction in Southern Victoria (Zone 4). The results should be reported on the same spreadsheet as for the full system modelling.

The characteristics of the components to be used in the model are specified below.

2. COLLECTOR AREA

In order to limit the possibility of overheating in high solar conditions the maximum collector aperture area allowed in any retrofit kit is given below:

Size of tank	Maximum collector aperture area
	Flat plate collectors	Evacuated tube collectors
200 – 300 litres	2 m ²	1.5 m ²
300 – 440 litres	4 m ²	2.5 m ²
Greater than 440 litres	6 m ²	3.5 m ²

3. COLLECTOR CHARACTERISTICS

The annual performance calculation shall use the actual performance and area of collectors in the model including:

- the collector performance measured to AS 2535.1 requirements (or equivalent eg ISO 9806-3);
- the number of collectors as defined in the kit specification; and
- the measured aperture area of each collector (or the area consistent with the collector performance curve characteristic if not the aperture area).

4. PUMP AND CONTROLLER CHARACTERISTICS

The model shall use the actual measured performance of the pump and the controller in the model, including:

- pump controller differential temperature settings for both switch on and switch off conditions and any other controller functions;
- maximum temperature at bottom of tank allowed by the controller to avoid overheating in the tank;

- pump flow rate, measured in pumping the collector fluid through a circuit configured consistent with the pipe lengths given in the plumbing between tank and solar collector table below; and
- pump power measured in the above configuration.

5. TANK CHARACTERISTICS

The characteristics of the tank and the auxiliary boost regime are defined in the table below.

TANK

Tank inner diameter	500	mm
Tank volume	315	L
Tank wall thickness	2.5	mm
Tank wall material	Carbon steel/glass
Tank standing heat loss (AS1056)	3.06	kWh/day for $\Delta T=55K$

AUXILIARY BOOSTING

Volume of water above the electric element	315	L
Volume of water above the thermostat	300	L
Element heating capacity	4.8	kW
Thermostat set temperature	70	°C
Thermostat dead band	8	K
Electric boost times	11.00 pm to 7.00 am	Night rate

6. PLUMBING CHARACTERISTICS

The characteristics of the plumbing between tank and solar collector(s) are defined in the table below.

PLUMBING BETWEEN TANK AND SOLAR COLLECTOR

Connection to tank	Direct	Direct or heat exchanger
Volume of water above collector flow input to tank	300	L
Collector supply (inlet) pipe inner diameter	10.9	mm
Inlet pipe length	10	m
Inlet pipe insulation material thermal conductivity	0.038	W/(m K)
Inlet pipe insulation thickness	10 ¹⁾	mm
Collector outlet pipe inner diameter	10.9	mm
Outlet pipe length	10	m

Connection to tank	Direct	Direct or heat exchanger
Outlet pipe insulation material thermal conductivity	0.038	W/(m K)
Outlet pipe insulation thickness	10 ¹⁾	mm
External heat loss coefficient	10	W/(m ² K)

Note: ¹⁾ If better insulation is supplied as part of the Retrofit Kit the thickness of the supplied insulation material may be used.

GUIDELINES TO CALCULATE ANNUAL SOLAR ENERGY SAVINGS FOR DOMESTIC SOLAR WATER HEATERS PRODUCED BY ADDING A
SOLAR PREHEATER TO AN EXISTING GAS HOT WATER SYSTEM

Version 2.3 updated October 2008

Annual Solar Energy Savings Calculation Methodology for Domestic Solar Water Heaters

To determine the annual solar energy savings for a solar water preheater for inclusion on Sustainability Victoria's list of preheaters approved for a rebate, use the following methodology:

1. OVERVIEW

Modelling shall be conducted in the same manner as for a complete packaged solar water heating system as specified in the General Guidelines document 'Guideline to calculate annual solar savings for domestic SWH' available on the Sustainability Victoria website, with modifications as outlined in this guideline.

As there is no conventional heat source included as part of the pre-heater, a generic gas storage water heater (post heater) shall be included for the modelling of Annual Energy Savings.

Modelling shall be conducted to AS4234 using the TRNSYS program or extensions of the software in the TRNSYS modelling package, to determine the relative solar fraction in Southern Victoria (Zone 4). The characteristics of the components to be used in the model are specified below.

2. POST HEATER CHARACTERISTICS

The characteristics of the heater are defined in the table below.

Tank volume	170	Litres
Burner rate	28	MJ/hr
Burner efficiency	78.8	%
Maintenance rate	0.88	MJ/hr
Thermostat temperature	65	°C
Thermostat differential	10	K
Tank inner diameter	400	mm

3. PLUMBING CHARACTERISTICS

The characteristics of the plumbing between tank and solar collector(s) are defined in the table below.

Inlet pipe inner diameter	10.9	mm
Inlet pipe length if preheater tank is roof mounted	10	m
Inlet pipe length if preheater tank is on the ground	5	m
Inlet pipe insulation material thermal conductivity	0.038	W/mK
Inlet pipe insulation thickness	10 ¹⁾	mm

Note: ¹⁾ If better insulation is supplied as part of the solar preheater the thickness of the supplied insulation material may be used.

4. CALCULATION METHOD

1. Configure model as a pre-heater to a gas storage water heater, defined in Sections 2 and 3 above.
2. Run the model for the chosen load following the requirements of the General Guidelines. If the model doesn't show a 60% savings, choose the next lowest.
