EXEMPTION

Application No. A259/2009

The Victorian Civil and Administrative Tribunal has considered an application, pursuant to section 83 of the Equal Opportunity Act 1995 (the Act), by The Centre for Multicultural Youth. The application for exemption is to enable the applicant to advertise for a project officer from a refugee or migrant background aged 25 years or younger (the exempt conduct).

Upon reading the material submitted in support of the application including the affidavit of Leanne McGaw, the Tribunal is satisfied that it is appropriate to grant an exemption from sections 13, 100 and 195 of the Act to enable the applicant to engage in the exempt conduct.

In granting this exemption the Tribunal noted:

- The Centre for Multicultural Youth (CMY) is a community based organisation that advocates for the needs of young people from migrant and refugee backgrounds.
- CMY undertakes a range of programs, projects and policy initiatives aimed at enhancing the life opportunities of young people from newly arrived refugee and migrant backgrounds.
- The Project Officer role is a critical position in the organisation which works directly with newly arrived young people to provide them with training, consultation opportunities and support to develop their own youth-led initiatives.
- Given the work of CMY it is important that workers employed are from backgrounds that reflect the diversity of young people that CMY work with. This seeks to facilitate the development of strong links between the communities CMY works with and also ensures that young people have direct input into the development and delivery of CMY work. It also provides a good role model for young people CMY works with as they can learn from their experiences and journey through education and employment pathways.
- It is appropriate that the position be filled by a person 25 years or younger from a refugee or migrant background.

The Tribunal hereby grants an exemption to the applicant from the operation of sections 13, 100 and 195 of the Act to enable the applicant to engage in the exempt conduct.

This exemption is to remain in force from the day on which notice of the exemption is published in the Government Gazette until 12 November 2012.

EXEMPTION

Application No. A277/2009

The Victorian Civil and Administrative Tribunal has considered an application, pursuant to section 83 of the Equal Opportunity Act 1995, by Lauren Maw on behalf of Mind Australia. The application for exemption is to enable the applicant to advertise for and employ a full-time worker who is male to work in its prevention and recovery care services for people with psychiatric disabilities (the exempt conduct).

Upon reading the material submitted in support of the application the Tribunal is satisfied that it is appropriate to grant an exemption from sections 13, 14, 100 and 195 of the Act to enable the applicant to engage in the exempt conduct.

In granting this exemption, the Tribunal noted:

- The applicant provides prevention and recovery care services for people with psychiatric disabilities. Most of its employees are currently female.
- Many of the male clients of the applicant's service experience acute loneliness, depression, isolation and disempowerment. Many have been the perpetrators or the victims of physical, emotional or sexual abuse.
- Many of the male clients of the service benefit from working with a male worker. Some find it easier to discuss issues openly with a male. Some find it easier to relate to a male, and good relationships between the clients and staff of the service are an integral part in assisting its clients. Some of the male clients need assistance with hygiene issues, and feel more comfortable if this assistance is provided to them by a male.
- Of the current staff of the service, 10 out of 12 are female. A male full-time worker who had assisted the male clients of the service has recently left the service. The service wishes to be able to employ a male so that it can appropriately assist its male clients who feel more comfortable dealing with a man.

The Tribunal hereby grants an exemption to the applicant from the operation of sections 13, 14, 100 and 195 of the Equal Opportunity Act 1995 to enable the applicant to engage in the exempt conduct.

This exemption is to remain in force from the day on which notice of the exemption is published in the Government Gazette until 2 December 2012.

Regulations 2009

I, Peter Batchelor, Minister for Energy and Resources, and Minister responsible for administering the Electricity Safety Act 1998, give notice under section 12 of the Subordinate Legislation Act 1994 as follows:

A Regulatory Impact Statement (RIS) was prepared in relation to the proposed Electricity Safety (Installations) Regulations 2009. The RIS was advertised to invite public comment on 29 September 2009; 27 submissions were received and considered.

I have decided that the proposed Regulations should be made with the following amendments:

- increasing the threshold at which reconstruction of a private electrical line, in a high bushfire risk area, becomes a substantial reconstruction of that line requiring that line to be placed underground;
- equipment installed for the protection of fire safety services and generation systems are not to be subject to inspection, where that equipment operates at a voltage that is below low voltage;
- requiring licensed electricians to obtain a reference number from Energy Safe Victoria (ESV) prior to carrying out emergency restoration work on a private electric line. This number will be used to track the restoration work and subsequent reports provided to ESV on that work;
- clarifying that ‘design’ does not include providing advice in relation to the requirements of the Act or the Regulations;
- requiring persons authorised for tree clearing to notify the owner of a relevant installation, in certain circumstances, of proposed tree clearing work prior to commencement of that work; and
- minor technical amendments.
