EXEMPTION

Application No. A250/2009

The Victorian Civil and Administrative Tribunal, has considered an application pursuant to section 83 of the Equal Opportunity Act 1995 by Schultz Plumbing (the applicant) for exemption from sections 13, 100 and 195 of that Act. The application for exemption is to enable the applicant to advertise for and employ female apprentices ('the exempt conduct').

Upon reading the material submitted in support of the application and upon hearing submissions from Mr Chivers, manager, on 20 January 2010, the Tribunal is satisfied that it is appropriate to grant an exemption from sections 13, 100 and 195 of the Act to enable the applicant to engage in the exempt conduct.

The Tribunal hereby grants an exemption to the applicant from the operation of sections 13, 100 and 195 of the Equal Opportunity Act 1995 to enable the applicant to engage in the exempt conduct.

In granting this exemption the Tribunal notes –

- Of the approximately 8000 students enrolled in plumbing courses in Australia, approximately 0.5% are women.
- The applicant conducts a large plumbing business in the Melbourne metropolitan area and also undertakes work in country Victoria.
- The applicant has no female apprentices and all of those who seek employment with it as apprentices are male.
- The applicant wishes to encourage women to enter what has until now been an almost exclusively male occupation and believes that the initiative for which it is applying for exemption will encourage women to apply for apprenticeships in this industry.

- There is a demand (currently unmet) by those who ask for plumbing work to be done in their homes that the work be done by a woman.
- At present, plumbing work which involves entry into facilities used by women only (such as female only change rooms and toilets) mean that the facilities are closed during the work because male plumbers undertake the work.
- The Tribunal is satisfied that this is an appropriate initiative to encourage women to enter an occupation in which their numbers are currently small. Trades of this kind provide flexible opportunities for both women and men with family responsibilities.

This exemption is subject to the condition that, of the new apprentices whom the applicant employs in any calendar year, not more than half are women.

This exemption is to remain in force from the day on which notice of the exemption is published in the Government Gazette until 27 January 2013.

Dated 20 January 2010

EXEMPTION

Application No. A276/2009

The Victorian Civil and Administrative Tribunal has considered an application pursuant to section 83 of the Equal Opportunity Act 1995 by Melbourne Women's English Institute Pty Ltd ACN 136 062 649 for exemption from sections 13, 100 and 195 of that Act. The application for exemption is to enable the applicant to advertise for and employ women only as on-site staff at the education institution and at programs which it provides ('the exempt conduct').

Upon reading the material submitted in support of the application and upon hearing submissions from Ms Patterson (compliance officer) the Tribunal is satisfied that it is appropriate to grant an exemption from sections 13, 100 and 195 of the Act to enable the applicant to engage in the exempt conduct.

In granting the exemption the Tribunal noted:

- The applicant has applied to become a registered training organisation and for accreditation to enable it to provide educational courses and programs in English as a Second Language (ESL). It proposes to provide these for women only.
- The applicant has previously provided informal training in ESL primarily to newly-arrived migrant or refugee women, many of whom are Muslim.
- Through its discussions with these women, the applicant has become aware of a need for ESL programs for women only. Programs of this kind are not currently conducted in the Melbourne metropolitan area. There are a large number of ESL programs which may be attended by men and women.
- Many of those who undertook the informal training provided by the applicant explained that they were unable to attend mixed gender ESL courses for the following reasons –
 - Their religious beliefs or cultural values did not allow them to attend a mixed setting of this kind;
 - Having been educated in countries in which, for religious or cultural reasons, education was generally provided in a single sex settings they felt uncomfortable in a mixed gender class;
 - Many of these women have their heads and faces covered and cannot remove this covering when men (other than close family members) are present. These women find it difficult, when covered in this way, to check whether their mouth and lip movements in pronouncing English are correct and to watch the faces of others when speaking English;
 - Many of these women come from countries where power and authority is traditionally exercised by men and felt that they would be more willing to participate and speak openly in a class taught by a woman.
- It is desirable that new arrivals to Australia learn English as soon as possible to assist with every day living, socialisation, and their understanding of the community in which they now live.

The Tribunal hereby grants an exemption to the applicant from the operation of sections 13, 100 and 195 of the Equal Opportunity Act 1995 to enable the applicant to engage in the exempt conduct.

This exemption is to remain in force from the day on which notice of the exemption is published in the Government Gazette until 27 January 2013.

The Tribunal hereby grants an exemption to the applicant from the operation of sections 13, 13, 14, 42, 59, 60, 100 and 195 of the Equal Opportunity Act 1995 to enable the applicant to engage in the exempt conduct.

This exemption is to remain in force from the day on which notice of the exemption is published in the Government Gazette until 27 January 2013.

Application No. A300/2009

The Victorian Civil and Administrative Tribunal has considered an application, pursuant to section 83 of the Equal Opportunity Act 1995, by the Queer Department of the Monash Student Association (MSA). The application for exemption is to enable the applicant to:

1. Provide a queer only space for gay, lesbian, bisexual, transgender, intersex and non-heterosexual identifying students on the Clayton Campus of Monash University;
2. Nominate for election, elect and advertise for and employ a female who identifies as queer, as Female Queer Officer;
3. Nominate for election, elect and advertise for and employ a male who identifies as queer, as Male Queer Officer;
4. Permit only students identifying as queer to stand for membership, and be members of the Queer Committee and Queer Collective (the exempt conduct).

Upon reading the material submitted in support of the application the Tribunal is satisfied that it is appropriate to grant an exemption from sections 13, 14, 42, 59, 60, 100 and 195 of the Act to enable the applicant to engage in the exempt conduct.

In granting this exemption, the Tribunal noted:

- An exemption in similar terms was granted by the Tribunal in 2007. An exemption in similar terms was granted in proceedings A322 and A265 of 2000 and the Tribunal adopts the reasons given in the determination of that exemption and is satisfied that the grounds on which the exemption was granted continue to apply.

EXEMPTION

Application No. A313/2009

The Victorian Civil and Administrative Tribunal has considered an application pursuant to section 83 of the Equal Opportunity Act 1995 by Department of Transport (the applicant). The application for exemption is to enable the applicant to advertise for and provide one scholarship per year to female post graduate students in the fields of freight, logistics or marine studies (the exempt conduct).

Upon reading the material submitted in support of the application the Tribunal is satisfied that it is appropriate to grant an exemption from sections 13, 37, 42, 100 and 195 of the Act to enable the applicant to engage in the exempt conduct.

In granting this exemption, the Tribunal noted:

- The applicant's functions include functions relating to the freight, logistics and marine industries (the industries).
- Women are under-represented in these industries, particularly at the management level, in proportion to men. Statistics from the 2006 census show that less than 30% of workers in these industries were women. For example, in the electricity, gas, water and waste services industry, 25% of workers were women. In the transport, postal and warehousing industry, 23% of workers were women. This under-representation occurs across Australia, including Victoria.
- In sub-categories of these industries, the under-representation of women is more marked. The 2006 census shows that, in Victoria, of supply and distribution managers in the transport, postal and warehousing industries, 88% were men and 12% women.

- In the applicant's senior staff and executive management in relation to the industries, there are far more men than women. For example, in 2006, 34% of the applicant's senior staff in this area were women, and 19% of its executive managers in this area were women. Between June 2005 and June 2006, in the applicant's freight/logistics/marine division, the percentage of women managers decreased from 35% to 27%.
- These scholarships are one initiative proposed by the applicant to redress this under-representation in these industries and in the applicant's senior staff and executive management. The scholarship will provide a sum to be applied to the students' educational expenses, and opportunities to the student to work full time or part time with the applicant (studies permitting).
- The scholarship aims to encourage women to gain the qualifications necessary to enter industries in which they are under-represented, to provide career paths for them in these industries, and to give opportunities to women to enter the applicant's senior staff and executive management in these industry areas. In this way, the scholarship is aimed at redressing historical under-representation of women in these industries and a gender imbalance at the senior staff and management levels in one part of the applicant's workforce.

The Tribunal hereby grants an exemption to the applicant from the operation of 13, 37, 42, 100 and 195 of the Equal Opportunity Act 1995 to enable the applicant to engage in the exempt conduct.

This exemption is to remain in force from the day on which notice of the exemption is published in the Government Gazette until 27 January 2013.

EXEMPTION

Application No. A302/2009

The Victorian Civil and Administrative Tribunal has considered an application pursuant to section 83 of the Equal Opportunity Act 1995 (the Act) by Swan Hill Rural City Council (the applicant). The application for exemption is to enable the applicant to advertise scholarships for people of an Aboriginal or Torres Strait Island (ATSI) descent only and to advertise for and employ any holder of such scholarships who has successfully completed studies in a field in which the applicant has work available ('the exempt conduct').

Upon reading the material submitted in support of the application, the Tribunal is satisfied that it is appropriate to grant an exemption from sections 13, 37, 100 and 195 of the Act to enable the applicant to engage in the exempt conduct.

In granting this exemption the Tribunal noted that:

- The applicant municipality has a significant Indigenous population.
- The applicant wishes to encourage Indigenous students to pursue their education by offering them scholarship opportunities which will enable them to study in a field in which the applicant has potential future staffing needs. Each scholarship will be paid annually and will continue while the holder continues to attend the selected course and pass the subjects. Each student will be required to work with the Council in the selected field during semester breaks and, at the end of the course, will be required to take up employment with the applicant, if that employment is offered, for a period of twelve months.
- This initiative will both encourage the retention of ATSI students in education and provide employment and career opportunities.

The Tribunal hereby grants an exemption to the applicant from the operation of sections 13, 37, 100 and 195 of the Act to enable the applicant to engage in the specified conduct.

This exemption is to remain in force from the day on which notice of the exemption is published in the Government Gazette until 27 January 2013.

EXEMPTION

Application No. A6/2010

The Victorian Civil and Administrative Tribunal has considered an application pursuant to section 83 of the Equal Opportunity Act 1995 by Eastern Access Community Health Inc.

The application for exemption is to enable the applicant to advertise for and employ a female Intake Service Co-ordinator and a female Intake Case Manager (the exempt conduct).

Upon reading the application and supporting affidavit of Michael Griffin the Tribunal is satisfied that it is appropriate to grant an exemption from sections 13, 14, 100 and 195 of the Act to enable the applicant to engage in the exempt conduct.

In granting this exemption, the Tribunal noted:

- These two positions are located within the Boorndawan Willam Indigenous Healing Service. The holders of the positions will work with Indigenous women who have experienced domestic violence. It is appropriate that these staff be women.

The Tribunal hereby grants an exemption to the applicant from the operation of sections 13, 14, 100 and 195 of the Equal Opportunity Act 1995 to enable the applicant to engage in the exempt conduct.

This exemption is to remain in force from the day on which notice of the exemption is published in the Government Gazette until 27 January 2013.

EXEMPTION

Application No. A4/2010

The Victorian Civil and Administrative Tribunal has considered an application, pursuant to section 83 of the Equal Opportunity Act 1995, by Wimmera Health Care Group (the applicant). The application for exemption is to enable the applicant to advertise for and employ an Indigenous person in position of Indigenous trainee – patient care attendant; and an Indigenous person in position of Indigenous trainee – division 2 registered nurse (the exempt conduct).

Upon reading the material submitted in support of the application the Tribunal is satisfied that it is appropriate to grant an exemption from sections 13, 100 and 195 of the Act to enable the applicant to engage in the exempt conduct.

In granting this exemption, the Tribunal noted:

- The applicant is a health care provider which operates two hospitals in the Wimmera area.
- In the past, the applicant has employed an Indigenous aged care trainee worker and has found that the employment of such an Indigenous trainee had many benefits including providing employment and career pathways, strengthening relationships with the local Koori community, providing a culturally appropriate environment which encourages Indigenous people to access the applicant's medical services and increasing the understanding of the applicant's non-Indigenous staff in relation to Indigenous people and culture.
- This application is made to build on the benefits mentioned above.

The Tribunal hereby grants an exemption to the applicant from the operation of sections 13, 100 and 195 of the Equal Opportunity Act 1995 to enable the applicant to engage in the exempt conduct.

This exemption is to remain in force from the day on which notice of the exemption is published in the Government Gazette until 27 January 2013.
