Application No. A88/2010

The Victorian Civil and Administrative Tribunal (the Tribunal) has considered an application, pursuant to section 83 of the Equal Opportunity Act 1995 (the Act), by Alfred Health (the applicant). The application for exemption is to enable the applicant to advertise for and employ an Aboriginal or Torres Strait Islander person in the position of Aboriginal Liaison and Access Worker.

Upon reading the material submitted in support of the application, including the affidavit of Kirstan Corben, the Tribunal is satisfied that it is appropriate to grant an exemption from sections 13, 100 and 195 of the Act to enable the applicant to advertise for and employ an Aboriginal or Torres Strait Islander person in the position of Aboriginal Liaison and Access Worker.

In granting this exemption the Tribunal noted:

- The applicant operates the Caulfield Community Health Service which provides primary and community health services for the local area.
- The applicant wishes to employ a person in the role of Aboriginal Liaison and Access Worker whose responsibilities will include developing relationships with the local Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander community and enhancing their access to appropriate health and community services; working collaboratively with other Aboriginal Liaison and Access Workers at the Alfred and Inner South Community Health Service and other relevant health and community services to develop efficient and coordinated services for the local Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander community; and providing education, training and support for staff to enhance cultural safety for Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander consumers.
- The applicant believes that the role would best be filled by an Aboriginal or Torres Strait Islander person.

The Tribunal hereby grants an exemption to the applicant from the operation of sections 13, 100 and 195 of the Act to enable the applicant to advertise for and employ an Aboriginal or Torres Strait Islander person in the position of Aboriginal Liaison and Access Worker.

This exemption is to remain in force from the day on which notice of the exemption is published in the Government Gazette until 9 June 2013.

EXEMPTION

Application No. A91/2010

The Victorian Civil and Administrative Tribunal (the Tribunal) has considered an application, pursuant to section 83 of the Equal Opportunity Act 1995 (the Act), by Good Shepherd Youth and Family Services (the applicant). The application for exemption is to enable the applicant to advertise for and employ only a female Aboriginal or Torres Strait Islander person in the position of Indigenous Family Violence Community Development Worker.

Upon reading the material submitted in support of the application, including the affidavit of Iain Ritchie, the Tribunal is satisfied that it is appropriate to grant an exemption from sections 13, 100 and 195 of the Act to enable the applicant to advertise for and employ only a female Aboriginal or Torres Strait Islander person in the position of Indigenous Family Violence Community Development Worker.

In granting this exemption the Tribunal noted:

- The applicant operates the Mornington Peninsula Domestic Violence Service ('Service') which provides services to women, young people, families and children across four regional locations. The Service assists women and children who have experienced family violence including by providing advocacy, housing, financial counselling and other services. It is appropriate for women only be employed to provide this service.
- The position of Indigenous Family Violence Community Development Worker is intended to assist in building a comprehensive integrated family violence response for local Indigenous women and their children who are victims of or witnesses to family violence. The role will involve building relationships with the local Indigenous community and non-Indigenous services. As Indigenous women rarely access non-Indigenous family violence services an important part of the role is to develop the Indigenous community's knowledge of the Service and also work with the Service's non-Indigenous staff to strengthen their cultural understanding and capacity to engage with Indigenous women and their children. It is appropriate that an Aboriginal or Torres Strait Islander person undertake the position having regard to these aspects of the role.

The Tribunal hereby grants an exemption to the applicant from the operation of sections 13, 100 and 195 of the Act to enable the applicant to advertise for and employ only a female Aboriginal or Torres Strait Islander person in the position of Indigenous Family Violence Community Development Worker.

This exemption is to remain in force from the day on which notice of the exemption is published in the Government Gazette until 9 June 2013.

EXEMPTION

Application No. A99/2010

The Victorian Civil and Administrative Tribunal (the Tribunal) has considered an application, pursuant to section 83 of the Equal Opportunity Act 1995 (the Act), by Zena Women's Services Inc. (the applicant). The application for exemption is to enable the applicant to advertise for and employ only an Aboriginal woman in the position of Aboriginal Family Violence Outreach Worker.

Upon reading the material submitted in support of the application, including the affidavit of Catherine Kerr, the Tribunal is satisfied that it is appropriate to grant an exemption from sections 13, 100 and 195 of the Act to enable the applicant to advertise for and employ only an Aboriginal woman in the position of Aboriginal Family Violence Outreach Worker.

In granting this exemption the Tribunal noted:

- The applicant operates a Domestic Violence Outreach Program and a Crisis Accommodation Service in the Barwon region (the Service). It provides information, support and referral for women and children who have experienced or are experiencing domestic violence. The Service has been funded under the Supported Accommodation Assistance Program of the Department of Human Services since 1991. The applicant has previously been granted an exemption (A235/2007) to employ only female workers.
- The Wathaurong Aboriginal Co-operative Limited operates within Geelong and the surrounding areas. It has provided funding to the applicant to employ someone in the position of Aboriginal Family Violence Outreach Worker. That position is intended to provide particular assistance to Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander women and children who have experienced or are experiencing domestic violence. One of the roles of the position is to provide an innovative and culturally appropriate range of support services that encourages positive engagement of Aboriginal women within the Service. Both the applicant and the Wathaurong Aboriginal Co-operative Limited expect an Aboriginal woman to fill the position in order to undertake the role. Having regard to the position description that is appropriate.

The Tribunal hereby grants an exemption to the applicant from the operation of sections 13, 100 and 195 of the Act to enable the applicant to advertise for and employ only an Aboriginal woman in the position of Aboriginal Family Violence Outreach Worker.

This exemption is to remain in force from the day on which notice of the exemption is published in the Government Gazette until 9 June 2013.

EXEMPTION

Application No. A66/2010

The Victorian Civil and Administrative Tribunal (the Tribunal) has considered an application, pursuant to section 83 of the Equal Opportunity Act 1995 (the Act), by the Aboriginal Family Violence Prevention and Legal Service (Victoria) (the applicant). The application for exemption is to enable the applicant to advertise for and employ Aboriginal and Torres Strait Island (ATSI) women to fill the following roles within the applicant's organisation: family violence and sexual assault counsellor; lawyer; paralegal support worker; and Indigenous community education and community development officer (the exempt conduct).

Upon reading the material submitted in support of the application, including the affidavits of Antoinette Christian Winter Braybrook, Rebecca Anne Boreham and Shelley Burchfield, the Tribunal is satisfied that it is appropriate to grant an exemption from sections 13, 100 and 195 of the Act to enable the applicant to engage in the exempt conduct.

In granting this exemption the Tribunal noted:

- The applicant was incorporated in October 2002. It is an ATSI community controlled organisation based in Melbourne with outreach services being provided to regional Victoria. The applicant is funded by the Commonwealth Attorney General's Department and other sources including Victoria Legal Aid, the Department of Justice Victoria and from project grants. It has been endorsed by the Australian Taxation Office as a deductible gift recipient under the relevant legislation on the basis that it is a public benevolent institution.
- The applicant was established as part of the National Family Violence Prevention and Legal Services Program (the Program). Recognition of a lack of dedicated services for the ATSI victims/survivors of family violence and sexual assault was a significant factor in the establishment of the Program. The objects of the applicant include: providing assistance to victims of family violence; reducing the incidence of violence and abuse in communities through community education and advocacy; increasing the recognition of the problem of violence and abuse in communities through community education and advocacy; and facilitating long-term solutions to violence and abuse in communities. The applicant seeks to achieve these ends in part by providing legal advice, representation, referral and other related support services to ATSI victims of family violence. The applicant does not act for perpetrators of violence.

- Through offices in Melbourne, Bairnsdale, Warrnambool and Mildura, the applicant offers legal assistance, counselling, information and referral, community legal education, policy development and law reform for Indigenous victims/survivors of family violence and sexual assault and non-ATSI carers of ATSI children. The only other ATSI legal service in Victoria is the Victoria Aboriginal Legal Service which has a significant focus on criminal defence work. The applicant provided evidence regarding the extent of its involvement in running and supporting programs for ATSI women and also about its involvement in providing education to the non-ATSI community, including through cultural awareness workshops. The applicant also has links with a number of other community and government bodies.
- The applicant's current staff totals 24 full time and part time female staff, including eight ATSI women.
- Statistical information provided to the Tribunal indicates that the vast majority of the applicant's clients are women and children. In 2008–2009 the number of clients seeking assistance totalled 347 women, 33 men and 29 children. In the six months to December 2009 the numbers were 310 women, 28 men and 33 children.
- Research has found that ATSI women are at a significant disadvantage in dealing with the law, in part because they may have had traumatic life experiences and in part because they have often had poor experiences with legal officers or others in authority. The exemption will allow the applicant to assist to redress this disadvantage.
- The independence of the applicant and it being dedicated to supporting ATSI victims/survivors have been key factors in its ability to gain the trust of ATSI women and encouraged them to seek legal and associated supports for themselves and their children. The applicant believes that the roles referred to above are best undertaken by women because ATSI women are unlikely to disclose detail about violence and/or sexual assaults to male solicitors. The affidavits included anecdotal evidence to this effect. Similarly the applicant's clients are more likely to be open with female para-legal support workers and counsellors. The applicant's experience is that clients prefer female solicitors and counsellors over male when given the choice.
- The applicant believes that each of the positions is best filled by an ATSI woman because that better allows the building of trust and rapport with clients and also ensures that the interactions are culturally appropriate and respectful. Community education and community development positions require good communication with and knowledge of the relevant communities. ATSI workers with cultural knowledge and experience are best placed to undertake those responsibilities. While non-ATSI staff can undertake cultural awareness training and that can go part of the way to addressing issues of cultural sensitivity, it does not equate with having ATSI staff.
- ATSI women holding these and other positions within the applicant organisation is a positive way to raise the status of ATSI women in the ATSI and broader community.

The Tribunal hereby grants an exemption to the applicant from the operation of sections 13, 100 and 195 of the Act to enable the applicant to engage in the exempt conduct.

This exemption is to remain in force from the day on which notice of the exemption is published in the Government Gazette until 9 June 2013.

MEDICAL PRACTITIONERS BOARD OF VICTORIA

Notice

Re: Dr Jack Ignati Stiglitz

On 28 May 2010 the Victorian Civil and Administrative Tribunal made the following determination pursuant to section 77(4)(e) of the Health Professions Registration Act 2005:

- The future conduct of Dr Stiglitz's practice is subject to the following supervisory regime:
 - Every three months for the next two years, his professional activities should be the subject of monitoring and reporting by an experienced general practitioner approved by the Medical Practitioners Board of Victoria. The doctor chosen should be experienced and knowledgeable in the care of difficult and complex patients, especially those who are drug dependent and others requiring schedule 8 drugs for any other reason.
 - This is to be at Dr Stiglitz's expense and the chosen practitioner should provide a quarterly report to the Board of his/her observations and comments and a final report at the conclusion of the two-year period. That report should include his observations on the management of all of Dr Stiglitz's drug dependent patients.
 - It is expected that Dr Stiglitz's note taking should be improved radically and be the subject of proper enquiry by the monitoring practitioner.
 - Dr Stiglitz should spend time and effort using computerised medical records to achieve a proper account of his patients' treatment and symptoms and if necessary obtain some expert training to ensure the effective use of the systems available in his practice. These notes should contain careful notes of home visits and nursing home visits as well as visits in his rooms.
 - Dr Stiglitz should continue to attend postgraduate professional development education organised by the Royal Australian College of General Practitioners and the supervising report should also indicate compliance with this.
 - Dr Stiglitz is to attend the annual weekend symposium on drug and alcohol management to be organised by the College in May 2011. If Dr Stiglitz is not already a member of the College he should join forthwith. In the interim it is likely that the Central Bayside Division of General Practice will conduct courses on drug and alcohol medicine and he should attend these courses.
- The supervisory regime should be instigated as soon as possible but no later than 60 days from the date of this order. (B271/2009 28 May 2010)

² Order in Council revokes previous Order in Council dated 8 November 2005 in Government Gazette S215 which temporarily reserved the land under Crown Land (Reserves) Act 1978, for the purposes of the Project. Purpose of revocation as per Footnote 1.

⁵ Footnotes 3 and 4 apply.

⁶ Footnotes 3 and 4 apply.

⁷ As to specified parts of the land referred to in the Order, Footnotes 3 and 4 apply.

⁸ As to specified parts of the land referred to in the Order, Footnotes 3 and 4 apply.

⁹ Footnotes 3 and 4 apply.

¹⁰ Land originally acquired and held by SEITA as freehold. Contractor subsequently decided additional land required, including this land and the land was therefore divested from SEITA.

¹¹ Footnotes 3 and 4 apply.

¹² Note that part or all of the land referred to in the Decision to Discontinue Roads may also form part of the Orders in Council listed in Schedule C which divested the roads from a council or public authority and reserved the land for the purposes of the Project (in particular the divestment orders of 30 November 2004). Although the decision to discontinue a road under section 133 has the effect of automatically revoking any previous reservation and reserving the land for the purposes of the Project, the earlier divestment Orders are also included in Schedule C to ensure that all reservations for the purpose of the Project are revoked.

¹³ Footnote 12 may also apply to this Decision to Discontinue Roads.

¹⁴ Land referred to in this Order was subsequently declared as a freeway by Government Gazette 318, 15 September 2009.
