INTERIM EXEMPTION

Application No. A342/2011

The Victorian Civil and Administrative Tribunal has considered an application pursuant to section 89 of the Equal Opportunity Act 2010 (the Act) by Women's Liberation Halfway House Domestic Violence Service (the applicant). The application for exemption is to enable the applicant to advertise for and employ females to run the women's refuge service and, for membership of the management of the Women's Liberation Halfway House to be available to women only (the exempt conduct).

The application and supporting affidavit, received on 30 November 2011, is for renewal of an existing exemption granted to the applicant (A316/2008) which expires on 1 December 2011.

Upon reading the material filed in support of this application, including the affidavit of Kathy Russell, and having regard to the previous exemption and that fact that it is shortly to expire, the Tribunal is satisfied that it is appropriate to grant an interim exemption on the same terms as the 2008 exemption for a limited period of three months to allow the current application to be heard and determined.

The Tribunal hereby grants an interim exemption from the operation of from sections 16, 44, 52, 64, 65, 107 and 182 of the Act to enable the applicant to engage in the exempt conduct.

This exemption is to remain in force from the day on which notice of the exemption is published in the Government Gazette until 7 March 2012.

EXEMPTION

Application No. A266/2011

The Victorian Civil and Administrative Tribunal has considered an application pursuant to section 89 of the Equal Opportunity Act 2010 (the Act) by U3A Melbourne City Inc. (the applicant). The application for exemption is to enable the applicant to limit membership of the applicant organisation to people aged 50 years and over (the exempt conduct).

Upon reading the material filed in support of this application, including the affidavit of Helena Ling, the Tribunal is satisfied that it is appropriate to grant an exemption from sections 38, 44, 107 and 182 of the Act to enable the applicant to engage in the exempt conduct.

In granting this exemption the Tribunal noted:

- The applicant organisation is based on the worldwide U3A movement which provides an opportunity for older retired and semi-retired people (referred to as people in their third age) to engage in educational and social activities to enhance their retirement and promote well-being.
- The applicant offers year long and weekly based classes and activities. The classes and activities are led by volunteer members. The classes and activities are designed to meet the learning needs and experiences of the members. The applicant operates on peer based learning and provides an opportunity for people of the same approximate age and who have common experiences to meet, learn and socialise.
- The applicant acknowledges that some older members have been disadvantaged in relation to their access to lifelong learning due to entry requirements, accessibility and cost. Membership fees at present range between $35 to $45 per year and, on payment of membership, classes and activities are free. At present, the demand for classes and activities exceeds supply with waiting lists operating for many. The applicant has over 920 members. Of the 47 year long courses offered, only 14 had vacancies and the remainder have waiting lists. Many of the short courses also had waiting lists. Widening the membership of the applicant would increase those waiting lists.
- The applicant seeks an exemption in part to ensure that it can, through its volunteer members, meet the demand for learning and activities for older members of the community. It has set the age limit at 50 years, rather than at an age usually recognised as senior (such as 55, 60 or 65 years), in recognition of the fact that many people in their early fifties are unemployed and do not receive age pension benefits or have access to superannuation. Membership gives those people access to low cost activities and social networks, which might not otherwise be available to them.

- If the applicant were required to allow membership of people of all ages, it would no longer fall within the international U3A ethos or operate within its own Rules and mission which are directed at providing services to older people. Its volunteers may be less confident and willing to take courses if required to teach younger people with different levels of knowledge and learning experiences. The peer to peer learning aspect would be lost. The limited resources available to the applicant would be further stretched if required to provide courses and services to a wider range and number of people.
- No exception or current exemption already applies to the exempt conduct. A previous exemption (A191/2008) expired on 1 August 2011. In the absence of an exemption the exempt conduct would amount to prohibited discrimination.
- When making decisions about exemptions, the Tribunal is required to give proper consideration to relevant human rights as set out in the Charter of Human Rights and Responsibilities Act 2006 (Charter). Arguably, this exemption limits the right to equality and in particular the right to equal and effective protection against discrimination of people aged under 50 years who would wish to join the applicant. I am satisfied that, in the circumstances discussed above, the limit imposed by this exemption is reasonable and justified under the Charter.

The Tribunal hereby grants an exemption from the operation of sections 38, 44, 107 and 182 of the Act to enable the applicant to engage in the exempt conduct.

This exemption is to remain in force from the day on which notice of the exemption is published in the Government Gazette until 7 December 2016.

EXEMPTION

Application No. A245/2011

The Victorian Civil and Administrative Tribunal has considered an application pursuant to section 89 of the Equal Opportunity Act 2010 (the Act) by Mt Evelyn Special Developmental School (the applicant). The application for exemption is to enable the applicant to advertise for and employ only males in two School Support Office roles (the exempt conduct).

Upon reading the material filed in support of this application, including the affidavit of Helen Johnston, submissions made by the applicant and submissions made by the Victorian Human Rights and Equal Opportunity Commission, the Tribunal is satisfied that it is appropriate to grant an exemption from sections 16, 107 and 182 of the Act to enable the applicant to engage in the exempt conduct.

In granting this exemption the Tribunal noted:

- The applicant is a school for students aged from two years eight months to 18 years who have a significant developmental delay and/or an intellectual disability including students with Autism Spectrum Disorder and/or multiple disabilities. An important component of the programs is assisting students to become valued members of the community and so it is important that they have the opportunity to have a wide range of everyday life experiences.
- The applicant currently has 39 boys or male adolescents out of a total of 53 secondary students. Of those, 20 need assistance with personal care ranging from full assistance with toileting, showering and other like personal matters to close supervision and verbal support for some. A number of the students lack a significant male in their lives. Many come from single parent homes or are in out of home care. Of the four boys in out of home care, two are cared for by a sole female and the other two are cared for predominantly by females within a respite facility. Three secondary boys live with their father as a sole parent and 11 live with their mothers. Some of the adolescent boys, seven in particular with Autism Spectrum Disorder, can exhibit challenging behaviours including severe aggression towards themselves and others.
- Of the 75 paid staff, only eight are male. There are 16 female and four male teachers employed in the classrooms. There are 36 female education support staff and three male education support staff. The result is that only 13% of staff working in the classroom are male. It can be difficult for female staff to manage some of the challenging behaviours and there have been a number of Workcover claims from staff as a result of student attacks.
- Although in the initial application there was a focus on managing aggressive behaviour and the impact on the majority female staff, the applicant has provided further information which explains why the exemption is sought.
- The applicant says that the lack of male staff impacts on the applicant's ability to deliver a program with true dignity and respect. For example, although the school has designated toilets and change rooms in areas such as near the pool, female staff must enter them to toilet and change the young men. When out in the community toileting is also an issue with female staff entering toilets with the students. The applicant believes that having more male staff available to meet these personal needs and to act as positive male role models for the students will allow the male students to be cared for with greater dignity and lead to their enrichment.
- While there are times when female staff can manage difficult behaviour and promote responsible behaviour, on occasion, as a last resort, restraint or physical intervention is necessary. This arises where the student is a danger to himself or others. More male staff will assist in better and more safely managing those events.

- No current exemption already applies to the exempt conduct. Section 26 of the Act contains an exception to allow the limiting of offers of employment to people of one sex if it is a genuine occupational requirement of the employment that the employees be people of that sex. Sub-section 2 sets out a non-exhaustive list of genuine occupational requirements which include where the employee is required to enter lavatories ordinarily used by people of that sex while it is in use by people of that sex (sub-section (2)(d)) and where the employee is required to enter areas ordinarily used only by people of that sex while those people are in a state of undress (sub-section (2)(e)). Although the School Support Officers will be required from time to time to enter male lavatories or male change rooms, that is not always required for each of the students and so it is not an inherent requirement. It is apparent from the material before the Tribunal that, while it is preferable for the staff to be male for the reasons described, I am not satisfied that the employment of a female would mean the required tasks could not be completed. In those circumstances section 26 would not apply and nor would any other exception under the Act. I am satisfied that in the absence of an exemption the exempt conduct would amount to prohibited discrimination.
- When making decisions about exemptions, the Tribunal is required to give proper consideration to relevant human rights as set out in the Charter of Human Rights and Responsibilities Act 2006 (Charter). Arguably, this exemption limits the right to equality and in particular the right to equal and effective protection against discrimination of females who would wish to be employed in these two School Support Officer roles. I am satisfied that, in the circumstances discussed above, the limit imposed by this exemption is reasonable and justified under the Charter.

The Tribunal hereby grants an exemption from the operation of sections 16, 107 and 182 of the Act to enable the applicant to engage in the exempt conduct.

This exemption is to remain in force from the day on which notice of the exemption is published in the Government Gazette until 7 December 2016.
