The City of Greater Dandenong has prepared Amendment C131 to the Greater Dandenong Planning Scheme.

EXEMPTION

Application No. A109/2011

The Victorian Civil and Administrative Tribunal has considered an application pursuant to section 83 of the Equal Opportunity Act 1995 (the Act) by Glen Eira U3A Inc. (the applicant). The application for exemption is to enable the applicant to grant membership of its organisation and provide services only to people aged 55 years and over (the exempt conduct).

Upon reading the material filed in support of this application, including the affidavit of Paul Herbert Shewan, exemptions granted in 2001 and 2007 and the published reasons for the former, the Tribunal is satisfied that it is appropriate to grant an exemption from sections 37, 42, 59, 100 and 195 of the Act to enable the applicant to engage in the exempt conduct.

In granting this exemption the Tribunal noted:

- The applicant offers continuous learning services to senior retired persons at low cost. It has its origins in the United Kingdom and is part of a world wide movement which seeks to provide non-university learning to retired persons. The services are provided by volunteers offering learning through a range of formats including lectures, seminars and discussion groups. The applicant has limited space to provide services to its members who are increasing in numbers and so the age limit of 55 years is required to allow the applicant to continue to operate. The applicant receives funding from the Victorian Government, the U3A Network and from member subscriptions.
- The applicant has been granted exemptions previously (A535/2000 and A67/2007), with the most recent expiring on 1 March 2010. The reasons for seeking the exemption and the information about the operations and purpose of the applicant remain the same today.
- When making decisions about exemptions, the Tribunal is required to give proper consideration to relevant human rights as set out in the Charter of Human Rights and Responsibilities Act 2006 (Charter). Arguably, this exemption limits the right to equal and effective protection against discrimination of persons aged under 55 years who would wish to join the applicant organisation. I am satisfied that, in the circumstances discussed above, the limit imposed by this exemption is reasonable and justified under the Charter.

The Tribunal hereby grants an exemption from the operation of sections 37, 42, 59, 100 and 195 of the Act to enable the applicant to engage in the exempt conduct.

This exemption is to remain in force from the day on which notice of the exemption is published in the Government Gazette until 8 June 2014.

EXEMPTION

Application No. A104/2011

The Victorian Civil and Administrative Tribunal has considered an application pursuant to section 83 of the Equal Opportunity Act 1995 (the Act) by Robinson House Inc. (the applicant). The application for exemption is to enable the applicant to advertise for and employ only women in the organisation (the exempt conduct).

Upon reading the material filed in support of this application, including the affidavit of Alison Foley, the Tribunal is satisfied that it is appropriate to grant an exemption from sections 13, 100 and 195 of the Act to enable the applicant to engage in the exempt conduct.

In granting this exemption the Tribunal noted:

- The applicant manages three properties which provide residential and other services to women and their children who have experienced and in some cases are fleeing domestic violence.
- Domestic violence is usually gender based with the male partner directing violence towards the women (and sometimes children) within the home. The applicant believes that in order for the women and children who they assist to feel safe, they are best supported by other women.
- Employees of the applicant work in the three properties and from an administration centre located at the rear of one of the properties. For the reasons set out above, the applicant believes that all staff, including administrative staff, ought to be women.
- A previous exemption was granted to the applicant which expired on 30 January 2010 (A20/2007).
- When making decisions about exemptions, the Tribunal is required to give proper consideration to relevant human rights as set out in the Charter of Human Rights and Responsibilities Act 2006 (Charter). Arguably, this exemption limits the right to equal and effective protection against discrimination of men who would wish to be employed by the applicant. I am satisfied that in the circumstances discussed above, the limit imposed by this exemption is reasonable and justified under the Charter.

The Tribunal hereby grants an exemption from the operation of sections 13, 100 and 195 of the Act to enable the applicant to engage in the exempt conduct.

This exemption is to remain in force from the day on which notice of the exemption is published in the Government Gazette until 8 June 2014.

EXEMPTION

Application No. A85/2011

The Victorian Civil and Administrative Tribunal has considered an application pursuant to section 83 of the Equal Opportunity Act 1995 (the Act) by Fahdriscoll Enterprises Pty Ltd (the applicant). The application for exemption is to enable the applicant to conduct a social venue for male homosexual patrons only called 'the Circuit Bar' at 103–105 Smith Street, Fitzroy, other than Sundays from 3 pm onwards, and to advertise that fact (the exempt conduct).

Upon reading the material filed in support of this application, including two affidavits of Christopher Driscoll, evidence of advertising undertaken in accordance with the Tribunal's directions, the evidence of the representatives of the applicant at today's hearing and the Reasons for Decision given on 18 October 2007 in respect of a previous exemption, the Tribunal is satisfied that it is appropriate to grant an exemption from sections 42, 100 and 195 of the Act to enable the applicant to engage in the exempt conduct.

In granting this exemption the Tribunal noted:

- The Circuit Bar has been designed to provide a venue for gay men. The ground floor level includes a bar, lounge area and poolroom. The first floor includes a movie lounge and private areas. No alcohol is served on the first floor.
- The applicant says that, although there are many other venues which welcome the gay community, the experience is that those environments can be uncomfortable for gay men who wish to display affection or otherwise engage in interactions of the same type which are engaged in by heterosexual people and couples. For gay men those actions can readily lead to misunderstanding and disparaging comments which are not applied to heterosexual people. The applicants wish to provide a venue where it is safe and acceptable to openly express homosexuality.
- In addition to providing a social venue, the Circuit Bar is used for gay men's social and community groups to meet. One of those groups is People Living With HIV and Aids Victoria (PLWHA). The applicant submitted a letter of support from the Executive Officer of that organisation which refers to the role the venue takes in promoting social events and providing information about gay health issues. More than $15,000 has been raised through the venue which has been donated to PLWHA to support people living with HIV who are in financial difficulty and contribute to other programs.
- As noted above, a previous exemption for the same venue and on same terms was granted in name of National Management Plus Pty Ltd in October 2007. That exemption expired on 24 October 2010. The representatives of the applicant in this matter operated the venue under the previous company and gave evidence that there is no record of any individual complaint from a patron or other individual or from authorities arising from the exemption. The applicants say that, to the contrary, they have received positive comments about the venue and the manner of its operation and about the contribution made to the broader gay community through the applicant's involvement with organisations such as PLWHA.
- In practice, the applicant does not use the exemption in order to ask patrons about their sexuality. The applicant primarily relies on the exemption to exclude women from the venue, other than on Sundays after 3 pm. This is to ensure that gay men are not subject to attempts to change their sexuality which reduce their comfort in the venue which includes being fully accepted for who they are. At times the applicant asks male heterosexual patrons to leave but that usually arises under liquor licensing and other laws which allow for exclusion for drunkenness, harassment or other inappropriate conduct.

- This exemption application expressly states that it will not apply to the venue on Sundays from 3.00 pm onwards, when the venue will be open to all patrons.
- The Tribunal gave the Human Rights and Equal Opportunity Commission (Commission) notice of the exemption application and hearings and was advised that the Commission did not wish to intervene.
- When making decisions about exemptions, the Tribunal is required to give proper consideration to relevant human rights as set out in the Charter of Human Rights and Responsibilities Act 2006 (Charter). Arguably, this exemption limits the right to equal and effective protection against discrimination of women and heterosexual men who would wish to attend the Circuit Bar and the right of women and heterosexual men not to have their privacy arbitrarily interfered with. I am satisfied that in the circumstances discussed above, the limit imposed by this exemption is reasonable and justified under the Charter.

The Tribunal hereby grants an exemption from the operation of sections 42, 100 and 195 of the Act to enable the applicant to engage in the exempt conduct.

This exemption is to remain in force from the day on which notice of the exemption is published in the Government Gazette until 8 June 2014.

EXEMPTION

Application No. A134/2011

The Victorian Civil and Administrative Tribunal has considered an application pursuant to section 83 of the Equal Opportunity Act 1995 (the Act) by Parks Victoria (the applicant). The application for exemption is to enable the applicant to advertise for and employ only Aboriginal members of the Gunditj Mirring Traditional Owners Aboriginal Corporation in designated field and office based positions within the applicant organisation (the exempt conduct).

Upon reading the material filed in support of this application, including the affidavit of Gregory Robert Mead, the Tribunal is satisfied that it is appropriate to grant an exemption from sections 13, 100 and 195 of the Act to enable the applicant to engage in the exempt conduct.

In granting this exemption the Tribunal noted:

- The applicant, in line with Federal Government registered Indigenous Land Use Agreement [2007] FCA 474 between State and Federal Governments and the Gunditj Mirring Traditional Owners Aboriginal Corporation (the Corporation) on behalf of the Gunditjmarra people, is required to co-operatively manage relevant public land in south-west Victoria. That public land comprises areas held under native title by the Corporation on behalf of the traditional owners, including Mt Eccles National Park.
- The Mt Eccles National Park is co-operatively managed by the State and the Corporation under the direction of the Budj Bim Council. That Council has asked the applicant to maximise employment and training opportunities for Gunditjmarra people to work on their own country. The positions in issue would predominantly be located within the Gunditj Mirring native title held area and all positions will play a key role in the management of that country (including Gunditjmarra cultural heritage) and communication between Gunditjmarra people and the applicant.
- The applicant believes that members of the Corporation would best fill the specific positions because they will have a true understanding and appreciation of the traditional owners' beliefs, customs, values and affinity with cultural sites and places. As the appointees will have access to privileged information concerning traditional ecological knowledge, customs and practices, it is vital the traditional owners accept them.
- The Tribunal has granted similar exemptions to the applicant in respect of other areas of Victoria for which the applicant is responsible (A119/2009, A230/2009 and A127/2007).
- The appointees will help the applicant reach its current target for Indigenous people to comprise at least 10% of its workforce.

- When making decisions about exemptions, the Tribunal is required to give proper consideration to relevant human rights as set out in the Charter of Human Rights and Responsibilities Act 2006 (Charter). Arguably, this exemption limits the right to equal and effective protection against discrimination of persons who are not Aboriginal members of the Corporation who would wish to be employed in the designated positions. I am satisfied that the exemption is a measure taken for the purpose of assisting or advancing Indigenous people who are disadvantaged and so it does not amount to discrimination under the Charter. In any event, in the circumstances discussed above, the limit imposed by this exemption is reasonable and justified under the Charter.

The Tribunal hereby grants an exemption from the operation of sections 13, 100 and 195 of the Act to enable the applicant to engage in the exempt conduct.

This exemption is to remain in force from the day on which notice of the exemption is published in the Government Gazette until 8 June 2014.

Application No. A136/2011

The Victorian Civil and Administrative Tribunal has considered an application pursuant to section 83 of the Equal Opportunity Act 1995 (the Act) by Scoresby Primary School (the applicant). The application for exemption is to enable the applicant to advertise for and employ only a male in the role of male integration aide to work with a specific male student (the exempt conduct).

Upon reading the material filed in support of this application, including the affidavit of Maureen Fowler, the Tribunal is satisfied that it is appropriate to grant an exemption from sections 13, 100 and 195 of the Act to enable the applicant to engage in the exempt conduct.

In granting this exemption the Tribunal noted:

- A male student attending the applicant school has been granted funding under the applicant's disabilities and impairments program for an integration aid. It is appropriate that the integration aide also be male to ensure that the assistance the student requires can be provided.
- When making decisions about exemptions, the Tribunal is required to give proper consideration to relevant human rights as set out in the Charter of Human Rights and Responsibilities Act 2006 (Charter). Arguably, this exemption limits the right to equal and effective protection against discrimination of females who would wish to be employed in the integration aide role. I am satisfied that in the circumstances discussed above, the limit imposed by this exemption is reasonable and justified under the Charter.

The Tribunal hereby grants an exemption from the operation of sections 13, 100 and 195 of the Act to enable the applicant to engage in the exempt conduct.

Application No. A139/2011

The Victorian Civil and Administrative Tribunal has considered an application pursuant to section 83 of the Equal Opportunity Act 1995 (the Act) by Brimbank City Council (the applicant). The application for exemption is to enable the applicant to advertise for and employ only an Indigenous person in the role of Reconciliation Action Plan Development Consultant (the exempt conduct).

Upon reading the material filed in support of this application, including the affidavit of Kelly Grigsby, the Tribunal is satisfied that it is appropriate to grant an exemption from sections 13, 100 and 195 of the Act to enable the applicant to engage in the exempt conduct.

In granting this exemption the Tribunal noted:

- The applicant has a long standing commitment to develop a Reconciliation Action Plan. The position of Reconciliation Action Plan Development Consultant is required to assist the applicant to identify opportunities for consultation with the Indigenous community in relation to the development of that plan and to ensure that the needs of the Indigenous community served by the applicant are reflected in that plan. Knowledge of the Indigenous community and its culture will be essential in ensuring that the development of the plan is effective.
- When making decisions about exemptions, the Tribunal is required to give proper consideration to relevant human rights as set out in the Charter of Human Rights and Responsibilities Act 2006 (Charter). Arguably, this exemption limits the right to equal and effective protection against discrimination of non-Indigenous persons who would wish to be employed in the Reconciliation Action Plan Development Consultant role. I am satisfied that the exemption is a measure taken for the purpose of assisting or advancing Indigenous people who are disadvantaged and so it does not amount to discrimination under the Charter. In any event, in the circumstances discussed above, the limit imposed by this exemption is reasonable and justified under the Charter.
