EXEMPTION

Application No. A207/2011

The Victorian Civil and Administrative Tribunal has considered an application pursuant to section 83 of the Equal Opportunity Act 1995 (the Act) by Rumbalara Aboriginal Co-Operative Ltd (the applicant). The application for exemption is to enable the applicant to advertise for and employ only an Aboriginal or Torres Strait Islander person in the role of General Operations Manager (the exempt conduct).

Upon reading the material filed in support of this application, including the affidavit of Felicia Dean, the Tribunal is satisfied that it is appropriate to grant an exemption from sections 13, 100 and 195 of the Act to enable the applicant to engage in the exempt conduct.

In granting this exemption the Tribunal noted:

- The applicant is an Aboriginal community controlled organisation, which was established in 1981. It has grown to become a leading Aboriginal organisation in Australia and the largest Co-operative outside metropolitan Melbourne. The applicant's philosophy is based upon self-determination and it has a self-management and governance structure. The managing board is comprised of seven members all of whom are Aboriginal and the Chief Executive Officer is Aboriginal. These positions have always been filled by Aboriginal persons.

- The applicant wishes to have the position of General Operations Manager filled by an Aboriginal or Torres Strait Islander person to ensure appropriate succession planning and to maintain the applicant's philosophy of self-determination and self-management.
- The applicant has been granted previous exemptions to fill positions with Aboriginal or Torres Strait Islander people for the same reasons as set out above (for example A49/2010, A101/2010 and A24/2011).
- When making decisions about exemptions, the Tribunal is required to give proper consideration to relevant human rights as set out in the Charter of Human Rights and Responsibilities Act 2006 (Charter). Arguably, this exemption limits the right to equal and effective protection against discrimination of a non-Aboriginal or Torres Strait Islander person wishing to apply for the General Operations Manager position. I am satisfied that the exemption is a measure taken for the purpose of assisting or advancing Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander people who are disadvantaged and so it does not amount to discrimination under the Charter. In any event, in the circumstances discussed above, the limit imposed by this exemption is reasonable and justified under the Charter.

The Tribunal hereby grants an exemption from the operation of sections 13, 100 and 195 of the Act to enable the applicant to engage in the exempt conduct.

This exemption is to remain in force from the day on which notice of the exemption is published in the Government Gazette until 10 August 2014.

The Victorian Civil and Administrative Tribunal has considered an application pursuant to section 83 of the Equal Opportunity Act 1995 (the Act) by Women's Health Goulburn North East Inc. (the applicant). The application for exemption is to enable the applicant to advertise for and employ only an Aboriginal or Torres Strait Islander woman in the role of Closing the Gap Young Women's Health Project Officer (the exempt conduct).

Upon reading the material filed in support of this application, including the affidavit of Susan Reid, the Tribunal is satisfied that it is appropriate to grant an exemption from sections 13, 100 and 195 of the Act to enable the applicant to engage in the exempt conduct.

In granting this exemption the Tribunal noted:

- The object of the applicant is to maintain a women's health service that is community based and run by women for women, thereby creating an environment that is accessible, non-threatening and comfortable, where confidentially and respect for the women's perspective is attributed the highest priority.
- On 22 September 2008, the applicant was granted an exemption allowing it to advertise for and employ women only (A225/2008). That exemption remains in force until 1 September 2011. Accordingly, in so far as the applicant seeks to employ only a woman as the Closing the Gap Young Women's Health Project Officer (Project Officer), no further exemption is required.
- As to the application to employ only an Aboriginal or Torres Strait woman as the Project Officer, I have noted that a focus of the role is to assist in the execution of the Hume Regional Closing the Gap in Aboriginal Health Implementation Plan. The Project Officer will also play a role in building relationships to increase utilisation of mainstream health services by Aboriginal people. A particular responsibility will be increasing the health knowledge of Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander adolescents and their networks and providing them with information about sexuality and sexually transmitted infections. The Project Officer will also be expected to develop health education resources to support parents and carers. This work will clearly assist those Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander young women and, if the Project Officer is an Aboriginal or Torres Strait Islander, she will have a greater capacity to relate to her clients and establish credibility in their eyes. This is known to increase engagement with services.

- Further, through employing an Aboriginal or Torres Strait Islander person, workforce participation of that part of the community will be improved. Statistics show that Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islanders have lower rates of workforce participation than those of the wider community.
- When making decisions about exemptions, the Tribunal is required to give proper consideration to relevant human rights as set out in the Charter of Human Rights and Responsibilities Act 2006 (Charter). Arguably, this exemption limits the right to equal and effective protection against discrimination of non-Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander persons who would wish to be employed in the Project Officer role. I am satisfied that the exemption is a measure taken for the purpose of assisting or advancing Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander people who are disadvantaged and so it does not amount to discrimination under the Charter. In any event, in the circumstances discussed above, the limit imposed by this exemption is reasonable and justified under the Charter.

The Tribunal hereby grants an exemption from the operation of sections 13, 100 and 195 of the Act to enable the applicant to engage in the exempt conduct.

This exemption is to remain in force from the day on which notice of the exemption is published in the Government Gazette until 10 August 2014.

Subordinate Legislation Act 1994

NOTICE OF PREPARATION OF A REGULATORY IMPACT STATEMENT

Marine Safety Regulations 2011

Notice is given under section 11 of the Subordinate Legislation Act 1994 that a Regulatory Impact Statement (RIS) has been prepared in relation to the proposed Marine Safety Regulations 2011.

The proposed Regulations are made under Part 8.10 and section 315 of the new Marine Safety Act 2010 (the Act), which will commence operation on or before 1 July 2012. The Act largely replaces the Marine Act 1988.

The objective of the proposed Regulations is to provide for safe marine operations in Victoria including in relation to –

- the registration and operation of vessels;
- licensing and endorsements on marine licences;
- certification of commercial and hire and drive vessels;
- various other matters to be prescribed for the purposes of the Act.

The RIS assesses the costs and benefits of the proposed Regulations and possible alternative means of achieving the stated objectives and explains why the proposed Regulations are the preferred option. The RIS concludes that the benefits of the proposed Regulations outweigh the expected costs.

Copies of the proposed regulations and the RIS may be obtained by visiting www.transport.vic.gov.au/legislation, by emailing marinesafetyregulations@transport.vic.gov.au, or by phoning (03) 9655 6601.

Submissions on the proposed regulations and the RIS are invited no later than 5 pm on 11 October 2011. All submissions will be treated as public documents.

Submissions should be emailed to the address above or posted to Marine Safety Regulations, Department of Transport, GPO Box 2797, Melbourne 3001.
