EXEMPTION

Application No. A217/2011

The Victorian Civil and Administrative Tribunal has considered an application made under section 83 of the Equal Opportunity Act 1995 (1995 Act) by Wellsprings for Women Inc. (the applicant). The Tribunal orders that the application be treated as an application pursuant to section 89 of the Equal Opportunity Act 2010 (the Act) under its power to make orders of a transitional nature contained in section 196 of the Act.

The application for exemption is to enable the applicant to offer services to women only, to operate a women-only centre and to advertise itself as such (the exempt conduct).

Upon reading the material filed in support of this application, including the affidavit of Veronica Hassett, the Tribunal is satisfied that it is appropriate to grant an exemption from sections 44, 107 and 182 of the Act to enable the applicant to engage in the exempt conduct.

In granting this exemption the Tribunal noted:

- The applicant was established in 1994 and originally catered for women who were victims of domestic violence. Since then it has developed to cater for women who are isolated in the local community due to the effects of migration (including as refugees), domestic violence, mental illness, family breakdown, disability, limited educational opportunities or impaired health. The women who attend are extremely vulnerable.
- In addition, the applicant works in partnership with a variety of agencies for these purposes including: The Victorian Foundation for the Survivors of Torture, local community health services, in particular with their domestic violence units, WAYYS and Hanover in relation to homelessness, Dandenong and Cardinia Casey Community Legal Service, Maternal and Child Health Services, Dandenong hospitals and other like organisations.
- At present, the applicant has an enrolment of approximately 300 women and the majority attend the applicant's centre because it is for women only. Women from 58 different cultural groups attend the centre and the applicant is aware that many Muslim women are only permitted to attend because it is a women only centre.
- No exception or current exemption already applies to the exempt conduct and in the absence of an exemption the exempt conduct would amount to prohibited discrimination. Two previous exemptions were granted to the applicant to engage in the exempt conduct under the 1995 Act, with the last expiring on 1 July 2011 (A181/2008).
- When making decisions about exemptions, the Tribunal is required to give proper consideration to relevant human rights as set out in the Charter of Human Rights and Responsibilities Act 2006 (Charter). Arguably, this exemption limits the right to equal and effective protection against discrimination of men who would wish to benefit from the applicant's services. I am satisfied that, in the circumstances discussed above, the limit imposed by this exemption is reasonable and justified under the Charter.

The Tribunal hereby grants an exemption from the operation of sections 44, 107 and 182 of the Act to enable the applicant to engage in the exempt conduct.

This exemption is to remain in force from the day on which notice of the exemption is published in the Government Gazette until 14 September 2016.
