Planning and Environment Act 1987
SOUTH GIPPSLAND PLANNING SCHEME
Notice of Preparation of Amendment
Amendment C91
Authorisation A02381

The South Gippsland Shire Council has prepared Amendment C91 to the South Gippsland Planning Scheme.

In accordance with section 8A(3) of the Planning and Environment Act 1987, the Minister for Planning authorised the South Gippsland Shire Council as planning authority to prepare the Amendment.

The land affected by the Amendment is part of Lot 2 in Plan of Subdivision 648040Y, known as part of 16–24 Pioneer Street, Foster.

The Amendment proposes to rezone part of the land currently in Public Use Zone Schedule 6 (Local Government) (PUZ6) to Public Use Zone 1 (Service & Utility) (PUZ1), to facilitate the long-term use of the land by South Gippsland Water (SGW), the owner of the land. The land, formerly owned by Council and recently purchased by SGW, is used by the service provider in accordance with an approved planning permit.

The key purpose of this Amendment is to formally recognise the use of the land by SGW for its purposes as a Service and Utility Public Authority in the Planning Scheme. This will also address the split zoning anomaly that was introduced as a result of the consolidation of the land with the adjoining land to the north, also owned by SGW. This split zoning situation of Lot 2 will be rectified through this Amendment.

You may inspect the Amendment, any documents that support the Amendment and the explanatory report about the Amendment, free of charge, at the following locations: during office hours, at the office of the planning authority, South Gippsland Shire Council, 9 Smith Street Leongatha; at the Department of Transport, Planning and Local Infrastructure website, www.dpced.vic.gov.au/planning/publicinspection; Foster Post Office, 22 Main Street, Foster; Foster Library, Main Street, Foster; and Foster & District Community House and Learning Centres, corner Station Road and Court Street, Foster.

Any person who may be affected by the Amendment may make a submission to the planning authority. Submissions must be made in writing giving the submitter's name and contact address, clearly stating the grounds on which the Amendment is supported or opposed and indicating what changes (if any) the submitter wishes to make.

Name and contact details of submitters are required for Council to consider submissions and to notify such persons of the opportunity to attend Council meetings and any public hearing held to consider submissions. In accordance with the Planning and Environment Act 1987, Council must make available for inspection a copy of any submissions made.

The closing date for submissions is 7 February 2014. A submission must be sent to the South Gippsland Shire Council, Private Bag 4, Leongatha, Victoria 3953.

EXEMPTION

Application No. H99/2013

The Victorian Civil and Administrative Tribunal has considered an application pursuant to section 89 of the Equal Opportunity Act 2010 (the Act) by Moonee Valley Legal Service (the applicant). The application for exemption is to enable the applicant to advertise for and employ only a woman in the role of solicitor working in the applicant's 'Safe from Harm – CALD family violence prevention program' (the exempt conduct).

Upon reading the material filed in support of this application, including the affidavit of Janice Thorpe, the Tribunal is satisfied that it is appropriate to grant an exemption from sections 16, 18, 107 and 182 of the Act to enable the applicant to engage in the exempt conduct.

In granting this exemption the Tribunal noted:

- The applicant opened in 1985 and is a not-for-profit organisation that provides legal services to members of the public. Those services include legal advice, legal referrals, casework, community legal education and participation in community development projects.
- The applicant and Flemington & Kensington Community Legal Centre successfully applied for funding from the Legal Services Board for a three-year family violence project, 'Safe from Harm – CALD family violence prevention program' (the program). The commencement date for the program is January 2014. The program has three key objectives:
 - To improve accessibility and provide a culturally safe family violence and family law legal service for residents of the Ascot Vale and Flemington housing estates, including outreach, representation, advocacy and court support;
 - To increase safety for women living in the Ascot Vale and Flemington housing estates who are experiencing or are at risk of violence, through improved socio-legal referral pathways, innovative community legal education and strong community consultation and collaboration; and
 - To develop a sustainable multi-agency family violence partnership for the local area that will improve accessibility and reduce barriers for women living in the Ascot Vale and Flemington housing estates who are experiencing or are at risk of violence.
- One solicitor will be employed for three days per week to undertake activities including face-to-face appointments providing legal advice and casework in relation to family violence and family law matters and representation in court in relation to family violence intervention orders.
- Studies have consistently shown that there is a need to provide family violence services to women who make up a significant proportion of the victims of family violence while men make up a significant proportion of perpetrators. While the program will be open to all individuals in the areas of Flemington, Kensington and Ascot Vale, surveys and other research indicate that a significant proportion of the program's client base will be vulnerable women who have suffered family violence.
- The Ascot Vale and Flemington housing estates are disproportionately high Cultural and Linguistically Diverse (CALD) communities. Many of the victims of family violence are from migrant and refugee backgrounds. Those backgrounds together with language difficulties mean those women face particular barriers to accessing legal advice and assistance.
- Section 28 of the Act allows for employment to be limited to persons with a particular attribute where the employer provides services which are for special needs (under section 88) and where the services can be provided most effectively by people with that attribute. Under section 88 of the Act, a person may establish special services, benefits or facilities that meet the special needs of people with a particular attribute and may limit eligibility for such services to people with the particular attribute. A person does not discriminate by establishing special services, benefits or facilities, or by limiting eligibility for such services.

- On the evidence before me I am satisfied that the program is intended to meet the particular needs of individuals in the Ascot Vale and Flemington area who require legal advice and assistance in respect of family violence and family law matters. I am satisfied, on the evidence before me, that it is likely that the majority of clients seeking legal advice and assistance will be women. I am satisfied that, for those women clients, it is likely that the legal advice and assistance services can be provided most effectively by another woman. However, where eligibility for the program and the legal advice and assistance services to be provided by the solicitor is not limited to women only, section 28 does not apply to allow for employment of women only. I am satisfied that, where it is likely that the majority of clients seeking legal advice and assistance will be vulnerable women, it is appropriate that an exemption be granted to allow for employment of a woman only in the role of solicitor working in the program.
- No current exemption already applies to the exempt conduct and in the absence of an exemption the exempt conduct would amount to prohibited discrimination.
- When making decisions about exemptions, the Tribunal is required to give proper consideration to relevant human rights as set out in the Charter of Human Rights and Responsibilities Act 2006 (Charter). Arguably, this exemption limits the right to equality and in particular the right to equal and effective protection against discrimination of men who would wish to be employed in the role of solicitor working in the program. I am satisfied that, in the circumstances discussed above, the limit imposed by this exemption is reasonable and justified under the Charter.
- As the funding for the employment of a solicitor is for a period of three years, the exemption application has been made for that period only.

The Tribunal hereby grants an exemption from the operation of sections 16, 18, 107 and 182 of the Act to enable the applicant to engage in the exempt conduct.

This exemption is to remain in force from the day on which notice of the exemption is published in the Government Gazette until 23 December 2016.

Application No. H100/2013

The Victorian Civil and Administrative Tribunal has considered an application pursuant to section 89 of the Equal Opportunity Act 2010 (the Act) by Flemington & Kensington Community Legal Centre (the applicant). The application for exemption is to enable the applicant to advertise for and employ only a woman in the role of solicitor working in the applicant's 'Safe from Harm – CALD family violence prevention program' (the exempt conduct).

Upon reading the material filed in support of this application, including the affidavit of Patricia Cameron, the Tribunal is satisfied that it is appropriate to grant an exemption from sections 16, 18, 107 and 182 of the Act to enable the applicant to engage in the exempt conduct.

In granting this exemption the Tribunal noted:

- The applicant opened in 1980 and is a not-for-profit organisation that provides one-off legal advice, legal referrals and ongoing legal casework to individuals, as well as community legal education to individuals in the suburbs of Flemington and Kensington.
- The applicant, in conjunction with Moonee Valley Legal Service, has been granted funding from the Legal Services Board for a three-year family violence project, 'Safe from Harm – CALD family violence prevention program' (the program). The program is scheduled to start in January 2014 and has three key objectives:

- To improve accessibility and provide a culturally safe family violence and family law legal service for residents of the Flemington and Ascot Vale housing estates, including outreach, representation, advocacy and court support;
 - To increase safety for women living in the Flemington and Ascot Vale housing estates who are experiencing or are at risk of violence, through improved socio-legal referral pathways, innovative community legal education and strong community consultation and collaboration; and
 - To develop a sustainable multi-agency family violence partnership for the local area that will improve accessibility and reduce barriers for women living in the Flemington and Ascot Vale housing estates who are experiencing or are at risk of violence.
- One solicitor will be employed for three days per week to undertake activities including face-to-face appointments providing legal advice and casework in relation to family violence and family law matters and representation in court in relation to family violence intervention orders.
 - Studies have consistently shown that there is a need to provide family violence services to women who make up a significant proportion of the victims of family violence while men make up a significant proportion of perpetrators. While the program will be open to all individuals in the areas of Flemington, Kensington and Ascot Vale, surveys and other research indicate that a significant proportion of the program's client base will be vulnerable women who have suffered family violence.
 - The Flemington and Ascot Vale housing estates are disproportionately high Cultural and Linguistically Diverse (CALD) communities. Many of the victims of family violence are from migrant and refugee backgrounds. Those backgrounds together with language difficulties mean those women face particular barriers to accessing legal advice and assistance.
 - Section 28 of the Act allows for employment to be limited to persons with a particular attribute where the employer provides services which are for special needs (under section 88) and where the services can be provided most effectively by people with that attribute. Under section 88 of the Act, a person may establish special services, benefits or facilities that meet the special needs of people with a particular attribute and may limit eligibility for such services to people with the particular attribute. A person does not discriminate by establishing special services, benefits or facilities, or by limiting eligibility for such services.
 - On the evidence before me I am satisfied that the program is intended to meet the particular needs of individuals in the Flemington, Kensington and Ascot Vale area who require legal advice and assistance in respect of family violence and family law matters. I am satisfied, on the evidence before me, that it is likely that the majority of clients seeking legal advice and assistance will be women. I am satisfied that, for those women clients, it is likely that the legal advice and assistance services can be provided most effectively by another woman. However, where eligibility for the program and the legal advice and assistance services to be provided by the solicitor is not limited to women only, section 28 does not apply to allow for employment of women only. I am satisfied that, where it is likely that the majority of clients seeking legal advice and assistance will be vulnerable women, it is appropriate that an exemption be granted to allow for employment of a woman only in the role of solicitor working in the program.
 - No current exemption already applies to the exempt conduct and in the absence of an exemption the exempt conduct would amount to prohibited discrimination.
 - When making decisions about exemptions, the Tribunal is required to give proper consideration to relevant human rights as set out in the Charter of Human Rights and Responsibilities Act 2006 (Charter). Arguably, this exemption limits the right to equality and in particular the right to equal and effective protection against discrimination of men who would wish to be employed in the role of solicitor working in the program. I am satisfied that, in the circumstances discussed above, the limit imposed by this exemption is reasonable and justified under the Charter.

- As the funding for the employment of a solicitor is for a period of three years, the exemption application has been made for that period only.

The Tribunal hereby grants an exemption from the operation of sections 16, 18, 107 and 182 of the Act to enable the applicant to engage in the exempt conduct.

This exemption is to remain in force from the day on which notice of the exemption is published in the Government Gazette until 23 December 2016.
