EXEMPTION

Application No. A89/2013

The Victorian Civil and Administrative Tribunal has considered an application pursuant to section 89 of the Equal Opportunity Act 2010 (the Act) by CSV Limited, operator of Casey Grammar School and Balcombe Grammar School (the applicant). The application for exemption is to enable the applicant, from time to time, for the purposes of achieving gender balance to:

- (a) structure waiting and enrolment lists to target prospective students of either gender;
 - (b) advertise for prospective male or female students in year levels where future waiting lists show a gender imbalance;
 - (c) allocate student placements and enrolments targeted at prospective male or female students so as to promote a gender balance at the schools; and
 - (d) advertise these matters.
- (the exempt conduct).

Upon reading the material filed in support of this application, including the affidavits of Christopher David Gallagher, Margaret Buttigieg, Jennifer Hoffman and Matthew Dodd and having heard evidence and submissions at a hearing held on 12 August 2013, the Tribunal is satisfied that it is appropriate to grant an exemption from sections 38, 44, 107, and 182 of the Act to enable the applicant to engage in the exempt conduct.

In granting this exemption, the Tribunal noted:

- The subject schools are low fee, non-denominational Christian schools located in Cranbourne and Mount Martha. Each school is committed to providing a co-educational experience to its students and has done so since each was established.

- Until the time of the application, neither school has needed to employ any particular strategy to maintain or achieve a gender balance of students. For Casey Grammar School, the ratio has been 50% plus or minus 2% and for Balcombe Grammar School, the ratio has been 50% plus or minus 5%. Each school regards these ratios as acceptable in terms of gender balance. Due to a marked imbalance in the number of boys and girls who had applied for Casey Grammar School's prep intake for 2014 (32 males and 11 females), this exemption application was made. Each school intends only to rely upon the exemption if, by choosing students from the enrolment list in order of application, there would or would likely be a significant gender imbalance for a particular year level.
- The schools' experience is that, if numbers of one gender reduce to less than around a 60:40 ratio, numbers of the under-represented gender may further reduce quickly and so the exemption is sought to allow the schools to respond to reduce any such imbalance. Parents of current and prospective students at the schools expect there to be a gender balance and appear to accept that, from time to time, steps may need to be taken in respect of management of waiting lists and enrolments to ensure that a true co-education can be offered to current and prospective students.
- Notice of the exemption application was provided to the community through newspaper advertisements and by a notice being placed on each school's website. Parents of current, prospective and past students were also notified directly by the schools. Neither school nor the Tribunal received any submission for or against the application.
- An interim exemption granted on 27 May 2013 will expire on 26 August 2013. No exception already applies to the exempt conduct. After 26 August 2013, in the absence of an exemption the exempt conduct would amount to prohibited discrimination.
- When making decisions about exemptions, the Tribunal is required to give proper consideration to relevant human rights as set out in the Charter of Human Rights and Responsibilities Act 2006 (Charter).

Arguably, this exemption limits the right to equality and in particular the right to equal and effective protection against discrimination of students who would wish to be offered a place at the schools based solely on their place on a waiting list. I am satisfied that, in the circumstances discussed above, the limit imposed by this exemption is reasonable and justified under the Charter.

The Tribunal hereby grants an exemption from the operation of sections 38, 44, 107 and 182 to enable the applicant to engage in the exempt conduct.

This exemption is to remain in force from 27 August 2013 until 26 August 2018.
