EXEMPTION

Application No. H22/2017

The Victorian Civil and Administrative Tribunal has considered an application pursuant to section 89 of the Equal Opportunity Act 2010 (the Act) by Geelong Bowls Region (the applicant). The application for exemption is to enable the applicant to organise, operate and advertise the Women's Country Carnival lawn bowls tournament for women only (the exempt conduct).

Upon reading the material filed in support of this application, including the affidavit of Robin Roberts, the Tribunal is satisfied that it is appropriate to grant an exemption from sections 44, 71, 107 and 182 of the Act to enable the applicant to engage in the exempt conduct.

In granting this exemption the Tribunal noted:

- A copy of the application was sent by the Tribunal to the Victorian Equal Opportunity and Human Rights Commission (the Commission). The Commission did not seek leave to intervene in the proceeding.
- The applicant is a not-for-profit organisation whose sole purpose is to run and administer bowls events for the 2200 affiliated lawn bowlers in the Geelong region. Those events include weekly pennant competitions, championship and regional events and social bowls events.
- The Women's Country Carnival moves around Victoria from time to time. The applicant has been appointed to run the six day event in March 2018 and possibly thereafter. The event is run at 17 different clubs in the region. The Carnival attracts around 800 women bowlers and has long been the largest event in terms of numbers of participants. The applicant believes that participation is increased because it is a semi social event which is gender specific. The Womens Country Carnival brings significant financial benefits to the local community. It relies on large numbers of volunteers and that includes large numbers of men. The Bendigo Mens Country Week is to be run at around the same time and, as the event is spread across 17 of the 24 clubs in the Region over the period of the event, men have opportunities to play bowls elsewhere.

- I am not currently satisfied that the exception contained in section 72(1B) of the Act (which allows for the exclusion of people of one sex from a competitive sporting activity in order to facilitate participation) applies to the conduct. While the applicant believes that is the case, there is insufficient evidence to support that position at present. No current exemption applies to the exempt conduct. In the absence of an exemption, the exempt conduct would amount to prohibited discrimination on the basis of sex.
- When making decisions about exemptions, the Tribunal is required to give proper consideration to relevant human rights as set out in the Charter of Human Rights and Responsibilities Act 2006 (Charter). Arguably, this exemption limits the right to equality and in particular the right to equal and effective protection against discrimination of men who would wish to participate in the Carnival. I am satisfied that, in the circumstances discussed above, the limit imposed by this exemption is reasonable and justified under the Charter.

The Tribunal hereby grants an exemption from the operation of sections 44, 71, 107 and 182 of the Act to enable the applicant to engage in the exempt conduct.

This exemption is to remain in force from the day on which notice of the exemption is published in the Government Gazette until 12 April 2022.

EXEMPTION

Application No. H42/2017

The Victorian Civil and Administrative Tribunal has considered an application pursuant to section 89 of the Equal Opportunity Act 2010 (the Act) by Safe Steps Family Violence Response Centre (the applicant). The application for exemption is to enable the applicant to advertise for and employ only female staff in all roles within its organisation (the exempt conduct).

Upon reading the material filed in support of this application, including the affidavit of Annette Gillespie and written submissions from the applicant's solicitors dated 17 March 2017, the Tribunal is satisfied that it is appropriate to grant an exemption from sections 16, 18, 107 and 182 of the Act to enable the applicant to engage in the exempt conduct.

In granting this exemption the Tribunal noted:

- The applicant was formerly known as Women's Domestic Violence Crisis Service of Victoria. It is a statewide, not-for-profit family violence response service providing support, risk assessment, safety planning and emergency accommodation and advocacy exclusively for women and their children who have been subjected to family violence. The applicant currently employs 54 female staff and assists over 10,000 women and children annually.
- The applicant's staff include front-line staff who work directly with clients to provide counselling and other services. The applicant also has administration, policy and development and corporate staff. Administration staff regularly deliver donated goods to client's homes and to safe accommodation locations including motels. Corporate services staff regularly visit the applicant's crisis accommodation locations to oversee property maintenance and asset allocation/distribution. Office and other staff regularly contact clients to discuss the provision of services and make arrangements for the delivery of goods. The applicant's policy and strategy team interview women with a personal experience of family violence for research and submissions. The applicant's marketing staff run its 'Survivor Advocacy' program. The staff of the office of the Chief Executive interview survivors of family violence in order to establish needs and priorities for the establishment of a purpose built refuge. All staff interact with clients from time to time when clients telephone or attend the applicant's offices. Many staff are survivors of abuse themselves and it is important that the applicant's trainers and supervising staff are female.

- The majority of the perpetrators of family violence are male and the overwhelming majority of the victims of this violence are female. Due to the often very serious and sensitive nature of family violence, the applicant believes, and the Tribunal accepts, it is not appropriate to expect the applicant's clients to disclose those experiences to a male worker or to receive services from male workers.
- On the evidence provided, I am satisfied that the services provided by the applicant are special needs services under section 88 as they meet the special needs of its female clients. I am further satisfied that the exception contained in section 28 of the Act applies in relation to much of the exempt conduct. That is because I am satisfied that the direct client services, follow-up and ancillary services of the kind described above where the staff have direct and significant contact with the applicant's clients can be most effectively provided by female staff. Despite the significant contact with clients, the evidence does not establish that all staff roles can be provided most effectively by females. For example, the evidence does not satisfy me that the tasks associated with visits to the applicant's crisis accommodation locations to oversee property maintenance and asset allocation/distribution, interviews for the purposes of research and submissions and planning for a purpose built refuge can most effectively be provided by female staff. Where I am not satisfied that an exception applies to the services provided by the holder of each role within the applicant organisation but accept that it is preferable that vulnerable clients who have suffered family and similar violence receive services from females only, it is appropriate that an exemption be granted.

- An earlier granted exemption expired on 1 March 2017 (A366/2011). In the absence of an exemption the exempt conduct would amount to prohibited discrimination on the basis of sex.
- When making decisions about exemptions, the Tribunal is required to give proper consideration to relevant human rights as set out in the Charter of Human Rights and Responsibilities Act 2006 (Charter). Arguably, this exemption limits the right to equality and in particular the right to equal and effective protection against discrimination of males who would wish to be employed by the applicant. I am satisfied that, in the circumstances discussed above, the limit imposed by this exemption is reasonable and justified under the Charter.

The Tribunal hereby grants an exemption from the operation of sections 16, 18, 107 and 182 of the Act to enable the applicant to engage in the exempt conduct.

This exemption is to remain in force from the day on which notice of the exemption is published in the Government Gazette until 12 April 2022.

EXEMPTION

Application No. H49/2016

The Victorian Civil and Administrative Tribunal has considered an application pursuant to section 89 of the Equal Opportunity Act 2010 (the Act) by State of Victoria (Department of Environment, Land, Water and Planning) and the Secretary of the Department of Environment, Land, Water and Planning (together, the Applicants) for an exemption from sections 16, 18, 21, 105, 107 and 182 of the Act.

In this exemption –

The terms ‘employee’ and ‘contract worker’ each have the meaning given in the Act.

‘ITAR-controlled material’ means the Fire and Safety Equipment owned and/or operated by the Applicants that contains defence articles including technical data that are deemed ‘unclassified’ under the International Traffic in Arms Regulation 22 CFR § 120 (2003) (USA) (ITAR) and which are subject to US export controls.

‘Fire and Safety Equipment’ means:

- 2 x multi sensor imaging systems (L3 Wescam MX10);
- 2 x aircraft scanners (Daedalus Thermal Linescan);
- 3 x night vision goggles; and
- Any replacement or upgraded version of the equipment referred to in (a), (b) and (c) above, owned and/or operated by the Applicants during the period of the exemption that contains ITAR-controlled material.

The term the ‘exempt conduct’ refers to the Applicants engaging in the following conduct:

- requesting nationality or national origin information from current and prospective employees and contract workers, who have or are to have access to ITAR-controlled material;
- taking a person’s nationality or national origin into account in determining who should be offered employment or contract work on projects requiring access to ITAR-controlled material and when making decisions as to the participation of employees or contract workers in such work;
- maintaining records of the nationalities or national origins of all persons who have or may have access to ITAR-controlled material;
- ensuring that ITAR-controlled material is disclosed only to persons who are authorised by ITAR controls to receive it;
- imposing limitations or prohibitions on persons of particular nationalities or national origins having access to ITAR-controlled material;
- redeploying employees affected by the exemption to alternative roles not requiring access to ITAR-controlled material;

- (g) disclosing to USA-based exporters and to the USA government the nationalities or national origins of all employees and contract workers who will have access to ITAR-controlled material in the performance of their work; and
- (h) establishing security systems which will prevent the unauthorised re-export or re-transfer of ITAR-controlled material.

The Tribunal is satisfied it is appropriate to grant this exemption having regard to material contained in affidavits made by Alan Goodwin and Brett Redway, written and oral submissions made on behalf of the Applicants and supporting material filed with the Tribunal in support of the application.

The Tribunal noted:

- The first named Applicant is responsible for providing a fleet of fixed and rotary wing resources (Aviation Assets) for the State of Victoria. While primarily employed on fire, flood and land management operations, the Aviation Assets are increasingly used by all emergency agencies in Victoria in any emergency or hazard response efforts. The Aviation Assets relied upon include some specialist equipment, such as the Fire and Safety Equipment. That equipment has a military pedigree with a proven history of application in the emergency environment. The Fire and Safety Equipment contain defence articles including technical data that are deemed unclassified under the ITAR and are subject to US export controls.
- The second named Applicant is the employer of the staff who are required to access, operate, maintain and/or dispose of the Fire and Safety Equipment.
- The Applicants have applied for an exemption to allow them to engage in the exempt conduct so as to allow them to make use of the Fire and Safety Equipment in Victoria.
- The exemption is sought by the Applicants as a last resort to ensure that it complies with the Act but also complies with the ITAR. The nature of the ITAR and the relationship between it and the Act have been discussed in previous decisions of the Tribunal (such as BAE Systems Australia Limited [2012] VCAT 349, Raytheon Australia Pty Ltd [2014] VCAT 1370 and Linfox Australia Pty Ltd – Exemption [2015] VCAT 528) which reasons are adopted in this matter.
- If the exemption is not granted, the Applicants would act in breach of the Act if it engaged in the exempt conduct. Further, if the exemption were not granted, the Applicants' capacity to respond to fires and other emergencies in Victoria would be seriously compromised and that would lead to compromising community safety because the Applicants would be unable to lawfully use the Fire and Safety Equipment. The Applicants may also lose existing licences and approvals and be restricted in its capacity to access like technology in future and conduct business with US contractors if the exemption is not granted.
- The Applicants have proposed conditions to be attached to the exemption which are satisfactory to the Tribunal and which are drafted to ensure that the exemption operates only to the extent necessary.
- A copy of the application was sent by the Tribunal to the Victorian Equal Opportunity and Human Rights Commission (the Commission). The Commission did not seek leave to intervene in the proceeding.
- The Tribunal adopts the reasons given in previous decisions (such as those listed above) in respect of applications of this kind in the context of the Charter of Human Rights and Responsibilities Act 2006 (Charter). The Tribunal is satisfied that the limitation on the rights to equality and privacy which may result from the granting of the exemption are justified, in particular having regard to the purpose for which the exemption is sought.

Accordingly, the Tribunal grants an exemption under section 89(5)(a) of the Act to the Applicants from the operation of sections 16, 18, 21, 105, 107 and 182 of the Act in respect of the exempt conduct for the period 1 May 2017 (the day after the expiry of an interim exemption granted on 24 June 2016) to 30 April 2022 subject to the conditions contained in Schedule 1.

SCHEDULE 1

 4. The Applicants will take all reasonable steps to ensure that any employees adversely affected by the exemption retain their employment with the Applicants, and do not suffer a reduction in salary or opportunity for advancement.

 - a. all strategies in place to ensure compliance with anti-discrimination legislation, including all training programs and internal audits;
 - b. the steps taken by the Applicants to comply with the Act and the terms and conditions of this exemption, including any complaints made under the Act;

 - d. the number of employees redeployed under the exemption, and any steps taken to minimise harm or loss to those people arising from the redeployment;
 - e. the number of employment vacancies advertised or offered under the exemption.

Subordinate Legislation Act 1994

NOTICE OF PREPARATION OF REGULATORY IMPACT STATEMENT

Livestock Disease Control Regulations 2017

In accordance with section 11 of the Subordinate Legislation Act 1994, I, Jaala Pulford, Minister for Agriculture, and Minister responsible for administering the Livestock Disease Control Act 1994 (LDC Act), give notice of the preparation of a regulatory impact statement (RIS) in relation to the Livestock Disease Control Regulations 2017 (proposed Regulations).

The primary intention of the proposed Regulations is to support the LDC Act by improving traceability, enabling disease in livestock to be detected, monitored and controlled more effectively and to avoid and limit the economic and social impact of disease outbreaks in livestock.

The objectives of the proposed Regulations are to:

- (a) provide for the timing and manner of the notification of livestock diseases;
- (b) provide for the manner in which certain livestock are identified;
- (c) provide for the manner of certification of, and restrictions relating to, livestock, livestock products, fodder or fittings introduced into Victoria;
- (d) set out the standards and record keeping requirements relating to the testing for livestock diseases;
- (e) set out requirements for the prevention of livestock diseases;
- (f) provide for the recording or forwarding of information relating to the movement of identified livestock;
- (g) provide for matters relating to claims for compensation for losses incurred due to livestock disease;
- (h) provide for other matters authorised by the Livestock Disease Control Act 1994.

Through consultation, industry sector research, and cost-benefit and break-even analysis, the RIS finds the preferred option is to re-make the current Regulations, with amendments to:

- (a) require mandatory electronic identification (EID) for all sheep and goats born on or after 1 January 2017, followed by phased-in mandatory EID for sheep and goats born prior to this date or coming from interstate;
- (b) require scanning of EID tags for sheep and goats along the supply chain;
- (c) incorporate NLIS Pig Traceability Standards into the proposed Regulations;
- (d) remove obstacles to livestock owners applying for and administering vaccines to livestock by simplifying the process;

- (e) reduce regulatory burden and consolidate subordinate legislation in one place by incorporating a range of Orders made under the LDC Act into the proposed Regulations;
- (f) make minor and administrative changes to the proposed Regulations to improve functionality and provide greater clarity.

A copy of the proposed Regulations and RIS may be obtained:

- online at <https://engage.vic.gov.au/LDCR2017>;
- by phoning the DEDJTR Customer Service Centre on 136 186 (between 8 am and 6 pm); or
- by emailing animal.biosecurity@ecodev.vic.gov.au

Public comment or submissions are invited on the RIS and the proposed Regulations. Please submit comments or submissions by no later than 5 pm on Friday 12 May 2017 to:

Water Industry Act 1994

NOTICE OF AMENDMENTS TO CUSTOMER SERVICE CODES

The Essential Services Commission (Commission) gives notice under section 4F of the Water Industry Act 1994 that it has made amendments to the water customer service codes arising from recommendation 109 of the Royal Commission into Family Violence, and action area 10.10 in the Water for Victoria plan.

Our code amendments require water businesses take steps to implement family violence policies that address:

- training and support for staff dealing with customers affected by family violence;
- the protection of private and confidential customer information;
- access to the existing payment difficulty programs provided by businesses;
- minimising repeat disclosures of family violence by a customer; and
- referring customers to specialist family violence services.

The amendments take effect from 1 July 2017, and water businesses must fully implement the changes by the end of June 2018.

The amendments to the customer service codes and the accompanying final decision paper are available on the Commission's website located at <http://www.esc.vic.gov.au>. Alternatively, copies may be obtained by calling the Commission on 1300 664 969.
