INTERIM EXEMPTION

Application No. H331/2018

The Victorian Civil and Administrative Tribunal has considered an application pursuant to section 89 of the Equal Opportunity Act 2010 (the Act) by the Department of Justice and Regulation (the applicant). The application for exemption is to enable the applicant to advertise for and employ female staff in custodial roles at Dame Phyllis Frost Centre and Her Majesty's Prison Tarrengower within the applicant organisation (the exempt conduct).

Upon reading the material filed in support of this application, including the affidavit of Miya Chiba, the Tribunal is satisfied that it is appropriate to grant an interim exemption from sections 16, 18, 107 and 182 of the Act to enable the applicant to engage in the exempt conduct until such time as the application can be heard.

In granting this exemption the Tribunal noted:

- In November 2017 the Victorian Ombudsman released its report entitled 'Implementing OPCAT in Victoria: report and inspection of the Dame Phyllis Frost Centre (DPFC)'. The report contains 19 recommendations to reduce the risk of cruel, inhuman and degrading treatment at DPFC. The applicant has accepted the majority of the recommendations. Recommendation 18, which is adopted, states:

Recommendation 18: More women officers
The General Manager at DPFC develop a strategy for recruiting and retaining women to increase the proportion of female custodial officers at DPFC to 60 per cent by 2020, including seeking any necessary exemptions under the Equal Opportunity Act 2010 (Vic).

- The applicant intends to apply that recommendation to Her Majesty's Prison Tarrengower also.
- I accept that the recruitment strategies would not attract the operation of section 12 of the Act because the purpose is not for promoting or realising substantial equality for female custodial officers, but rather to promote better care and rehabilitation outcomes for women prisoners.
- I accept that the recruitment strategies would not attract the operation of section 26 of the Act because not all duties of a custodial officer in a women's prison need to be performed by a woman.
- When making decisions about exemptions, the Tribunal is required to give proper consideration to relevant human rights as set out in the Charter of Human Rights and Responsibilities Act 2006 (Charter). Arguably, this exemption limits the right to equality and in particular the right to equal and effective protection against discrimination of persons who are not female and who would wish to be employed by the applicant. I am satisfied that, in the circumstances discussed above, the limit imposed by this exemption is reasonable and justified under the Charter.

The Tribunal hereby grants an interim exemption from the operation of sections 16, 18, 107 and 182 of the Act to enable the applicant to engage in the exempt conduct until such time as the application can be heard.

This interim exemption is to remain in force from 27 December 2018 until 1 March 2019.

EXEMPTION

Application No. H349/2018

The Victorian Civil and Administrative Tribunal has considered an application pursuant to section 89 of the Equal Opportunity Act 2010 (the Act) by P B Activate Pty Ltd trading as Laird Hotel (the applicant). The application for exemption is to enable the applicant to advertise for and employ males only and to operate an all male venue at the Laird Hotel, 149 Gipps Street, Abbotsford (the Hotel), and to advertise in connection with those purposes (the exempt conduct).

Upon reading the material filed in support of this application the Tribunal is satisfied that it is appropriate to grant an exemption from sections 16, 44, 107 and 182 of the Act to enable the applicant to engage in the exempt conduct.

In granting this exemption the Tribunal noted:

- Previous exemptions have been granted in respect of the same conduct since 1998 and the circumstances have not significantly changed in that time.
- The applicant prefers to employ only males, whether or not they are homosexual, and the venue has progressed over the years to provide a safe meeting and party space for men and trans men. Three to four times per year the venue is opened to all members of the gay, lesbian, bisexual, transgender and intersex community.
- Letters of support were provided by relevant groups. Men's sexual health educator,

Michael Whelan said that the Laird Hotel has increased in its importance to the community of men who have sex with men because many similar venues have closed in recent years. Events which support the wider LGBTI community are hosted at the Hotel and the operation of a male only venue improves the cultural standing of that community.

- Simon Ruth, Chief Executive Officer of Thorne Harbour Health, said that the foundation was established at a meeting at the Hotel in 1983 in response to the HIV/AIDS epidemic. He said the Hotel plays an important part in promotion of public health messages. It offers a secure location for men and enables the conduct of an annual survey that the foundation conducts.
- J. Adamm Ferrier and Robert Camm of VicBears noted that the Hotel provides a safe and welcoming social space in which marginalised and devalued men acquire visibility and a form of acceptance which can repair and develop their sense of validation and self-worth.
- No exception already applies to the exempt conduct. In the absence of an exemption after the expiry of the recent exemption, the exempt conduct would amount to prohibited discrimination.
- When making decisions about exemptions, the Tribunal is required to give proper consideration to relevant human rights as set out in the Charter of Human Rights and Responsibilities Act 2006 (Charter). Arguably, this exemption limits the right to equality and in particular the right to equal and effective protection against discrimination of persons who are not male and who would wish to be employed by the applicant. I am satisfied that, in the circumstances discussed above, the limit imposed by this exemption is reasonable and justified under the Charter.

The Tribunal hereby grants an exemption from the operation of sections 16, 44, 107 and 182 of the Act to enable the applicant to engage in the exempt conduct.

This exemption is to remain in force from 27 December 2018 until 28 December 2021.
