Notice of the Preparation of an Amendment

Amendment C178

The Yarra Ranges Council has prepared Amendment C178 to the Yarra Ranges Planning Scheme.

The land affected by the Amendment is land within the Coldstream Neighbourhood Activity Centre, including commercial, mixed use and residential zoned land. The Amendment also applies to some Green Wedge Zoned land surrounding the activity centre, as shown in the map included within the explanatory report to this Amendment.

The Amendment proposes to implement the recommendations of the Coldstream Structure Plan 2016 by making a number of changes to land zoning and planning overlay controls, and creating a local planning policy for Coldstream. The changes include:

- Rezone Mixed Use Zone land and Public Use Zone land at 638–640 Maroondah Highway, Coldstream, to a General Residential Zone Schedule 3.
- Apply a Design and Development Overlay to guide development of the town centre, including some nearby residential and green wedge zoned land (DDO20).
- Replace the Design and Development Overlay Schedule 5 from selected residential land adjacent to parkland, with a new Design and Development Overlay (DDO19).
- Amend the Schedule to Clause 52.02 to allow owners of selected residential properties to vary covenants.

You may inspect the Amendment, any documents that support the Amendment and the explanatory report about the Amendment, free of charge, at the following locations from Thursday 4 April 2019: during office hours, at the office of the planning authority, Yarra Ranges Council, 15 Anderson Street, Lilydale; 21 Main Rd, Monbulk; 110 River Street, Healesville; 40 Main Street, Upwey; 2442–2444 Warburton Highway/Hoddle Street, Yarra Junction; Yarra Ranges Council’s website, www.yarraranges.vic.gov.au/C178; and at the Department of Environment, Land, Water and Planning website, www.delwp.vic.gov.au/public-inspection

EXEMPTION

Application No. H24/2019

The Victorian Civil and Administrative Tribunal has considered an application pursuant to section 89 of the Equal Opportunity Act 2010 (the Act) by Karingal Bowling Club (the applicant). The application for exemption is to enable the applicant to organise and operate a men-only lawn bowls tournament, the Karingal Memorial Classic, and advertise those matters (the exempt conduct).

Upon Reading the material filed in support of this application, including the affidavit of David Victor Turnbull, the Tribunal is satisfied that it is appropriate to grant an exemption from sections 44, 71, 107 and 182 of the Act to enable the applicant to engage in the exempt conduct.

In granting this exemption the Tribunal noted:

- A copy of the application was sent by the Tribunal to the Victorian Equal Opportunity and Human Rights Commission (the Commission). The Commission did not seek leave to intervene in the proceeding.
- The Karingal Memorial Classic is a men's only invitation event which has operated for the past ten years (the tournament). The tournament was originally called the Max Simpson Karingal Classic, in honour of a distinguished past member of the applicant. The name changed in 2011 and is held in honour of all past distinguished male members of the applicant. Invitations are sent to the top level players within the Karingal district, region and state level teams. As a consequence, the tournament is strong and competitive and attracts many spectators. The tournament is a showcase for bowls and for the applicant club. The tournament will next be held in April 2019.
- The applicant intends this year to hold an equivalent women-only tournament day specifically aiming to increase the participation of women in bowls. The arrangements at the applicant club for bowls allow for all pennant competitions to be open to both men and women. The only events that are closed to either men or women are those leading to local regional or state level championships for men or for women separately.
- I am not satisfied that one of the exceptions contained in the Act applies to the conduct and there is no current exemption which applies to the exempt conduct. In the absence of an exemption, the exempt conduct would amount to prohibited discrimination.
- When making decisions about exemptions, the Tribunal is required to give proper consideration to relevant human rights as set out in the Charter of Human Rights and Responsibilities Act 2006 (the Charter). Arguably, this exemption limits the right to equality and in particular the right to equal and effective protection against discrimination of women who would wish to play in the tournament. I am satisfied that, in the circumstances discussed above, the limit imposed by this exemption is reasonable and justified under the Charter.

The Tribunal hereby grants an exemption from the operation of sections 44, 71, 107 and 182 of the Act to enable the applicant to engage in the exempt conduct.

This exemption is to remain in force from the day on which notice of the exemption is published in the Government Gazette until 4 April 2024.

GUIDELINES FOR VET PROVIDERS

INTRODUCTION

Authority

The Victorian Registration and Qualifications Authority (VRQA) Guidelines for Vocational Education and Training (VET) Providers (the Guidelines) are issued under section 4.3.18A of the Education and Training Reform Act 2006 (the Act) in response to the Ministerial Direction – Standards for Registered Training Organisations (Instrument No. MD146).

All RTOs registered before 1 January 2016, will be required to comply with these guidelines from 1 April 2016.

Purpose

The Guidelines purpose is to ensure the quality of training and assessment services in Victoria reflects a nationally consistent approach to VET regulation. The Guidelines align Victoria's regulatory settings to the national Standards for Registered Training Organisations 2015.

The Guidelines supersede all previous VRQA guidelines for VET providers and have been developed with reference to the relevant regulatory standards for RTOs in Victoria, set out in the following documents:

- Australian Quality Training Framework (AQTF), including both the AQTF Essential Conditions and Standards for Initial and Continuing Registration
- Standards for RTOs 2015
- Standards for VET Regulators 2015.

The Guidelines are divided into the following five parts:

- 5.1 An RTO registered with the VRQA must provide an annual declaration of compliance with the AQTF Essential Conditions and Standards for Continuing Registration (the AQTF Standards) and these Guidelines, and in particular whether it:

INTRODUCTION

The Benchmark Rating method provides methods and variables for project-based activities in the Victorian Energy Upgrades program. These are contained within this document, the Benchmark Rating Specifications (the specifications).

Purpose

This document sets out the specifications for calculating the carbon dioxide equivalent (in tonnes) of greenhouse gases using the Benchmark Rating method to be reduced by carrying out a prescribed activity.

Legislation and responsibilities

The Victorian Energy Upgrades program is enabled by the Victorian Energy Efficiency Target Act 2007, the Victorian Energy Efficiency Target Regulations 2018 (the VEET Regulations 2018), the Victorian Energy Efficiency Target (Project-Based Activities) Regulations 2017 (the VEET PBA Regulations 2017) and the Victorian Energy Efficiency Target Guidelines (the Guidelines).

The Department of Environment, Land, Water and Planning (the department) supports the Minister in overseeing the Victorian Energy Upgrades legislation.

This document sets out the rules for defining the methods and variables to be used when calculating the abatement of a prescribed activity using the Benchmark Rating method for the purpose set out in the PBA Regulations.

The Essential Services Commission (ESC) is the administrator of the Victorian Energy Upgrades program and is responsible for the Guidelines. Participants must also comply with the ESC's requirements, which are published on their website at <http://veet.vic.gov.au>

This document should be read in conjunction with the Act, Regulations and material published by the ESC.

Using this document

This document is divided into three parts: Information to be provided, Methods and Variables.

Information to be provided lists information specific to benchmark rating which must be provided during the scoping approval and project impact report stages.

Methods sets out the calculations that must be undertaken in determining the abatement.

METHODS

Calculation of carbon dioxide equivalents of greenhouse gases

- (3) The carbon dioxide equivalent (in tonnes) of greenhouse gases to be reduced by undertaking a project is calculated using Equation 1, where variables are determined in accordance with sections (6) to (16).

Equation 1 – Carbon dioxide equivalent to be reduced

$$\begin{aligned} \text{carbon dioxide equivalent} = & \\ & \text{electricity savings} \times \text{electricity emissions factor} \times RF \\ & + \text{gas savings} \times \text{gas emissions factor} \\ & - \text{counted savings} + \text{negative savings} \end{aligned}$$

where:

- (a) electricity savings are calculated in MWh using Equation 2, in which references to ‘energy’ in Equations 3 to 5 of this Division are taken to mean ‘electricity’.
- (b) RF is the regional factor, which is 0.98 if the project is undertaken in metropolitan Victoria or 1.04 if the project is undertaken in regional Victoria, as defined by the Locations Variable List in the Victorian Energy Upgrades Specifications 2018.
- (c) gas savings are calculated in gigajoules (GJ) using Equation 2, in which references to ‘energy’ in Equations 3 to 5 of this Division are taken to mean ‘gas’.
- (d) counted savings is a variable determined in accordance with section (6).
- (e) emissions factors are provided in section (7).
- (f) negative savings is the negative carbon dioxide equivalent from the previous reporting period (if any), which should be carried through reporting periods until the difference has become zero.

Equation 2 – Energy savings

$energy\ savings = (baseline\ energy\ consumption - reporting\ energy\ consumption)$

where:

- (a) baseline energy consumption is calculated using Equation 4.
- (b) reporting energy consumption is calculated using Equation 3.
- (c) baseline energy consumption and reporting energy consumption have been calculated for a premises with a similar configuration as defined in section (8).

Equation 3 – Reporting energy consumption

$Reporting\ energy\ consumption = E_R + E_U$

where:

- (a)  $E_R$  is the energy consumption specified in the benchmark rating document, as defined in section (11), for the reporting period.
- (b)  $E_U$  is the unaccounted energy consumption during the reporting period, at the building where the project is undertaken, that is not included in for reasons defined in section (9).

Equation 4 – Baseline energy consumption

$Baseline\ energy\ consumption = BF \times E_B$

where:

- (a)  $E_B$  is the energy consumption for the baseline period calculated using the reverse calculator for the approved benchmark administrator specified in the scoping approval and inputs for the reverse calculator as defined in section (12).
- (b)  $BF$  is the benchmark factor calculated using Equation 5.

Equation 5 – Benchmark factor

$Benchmark\ factor = 1 - 0.03n$

where:

- (a)  $n$  is the number of whole years from the end of the baseline period to the end of the reporting period, as defined in section (14).

Time at which prescribed activity is undertaken and reduction in greenhouse gas emissions occurs

For the purpose of creating certificates using a reduction in greenhouse gases calculated for a reporting period:

- (4) The project is taken to have been undertaken at the end of the reporting period.
- (5) The reduction in greenhouse gas emissions that results from a project is taken to have occurred 6 months after the end of the reporting period.

VARIABLES*Terms

- (6) Counted savings
  - (a) Counted savings are the reduction of carbon dioxide equivalent (in tonnes) of greenhouse gases represented by certificates created in respect of activities undertaken within the measurement boundary after the end of the baseline period, unless accounted for in an earlier reporting period.
  - (b) An adjustment may be made to counted savings in respect of activities prescribed by the Victorian Energy Efficiency Target Regulations 2018 if:

- (i) the adjustment corrects for the number of years that the savings coincide with the remaining eligible annual reporting periods; or
  - (ii) the adjustment is required for compliance with Regulation 14(b) of the Victorian Energy Efficiency Target (Project-Based Activities) Regulations 2017.
- (7) Emissions factors
  - (a) For the purposes of Equation 1, the emissions factor:
    - (i) for electricity is 1.095;
    - (ii) for natural gas is 0.05523;
    - (iii) for liquefied petroleum gas is 0.0642;
    - (iv) for solar, wind, hydroelectric, geothermal and ocean energy is zero;
    - (v) for any other renewable energy is the relevant emissions factor for the renewable energy listed in Section 2.1 of the National Greenhouse Accounts Factors published by the Commonwealth Department of the Environment in August 2016.
- (8) Similar configuration
  - (a) The baseline energy consumption and reporting energy consumption, calculated in Equation 3 and Equation 4, must have a similar configuration for the premises, as defined below:
    - (i) the sub-metering arrangements are the same. A premises' sub-metering arrangements are considered the same if, at the time a building was rated during the baseline and reporting periods, the sub-metering arrangements (if any) covered the same space as determined by the assessor for each rating, using the evidence required by the benchmark administrator that is relevant to the type of premises or the type of area within a premises.
    - (ii) where the conditions defined in (i) are not met, changes in sub-metering arrangements resulting in changes in energy consumption due to a reduced space must be discounted from energy savings. This discount will be done as unaccounted energy consumption, as described in (9) below. These changes must be metered and recorded over the rating period.
- (9) Unaccounted energy consumption
  - (a) Where 'energy' consumption in Equation 3 is taken to mean 'electricity', the unaccounted energy consumption is the electricity consumption (in MWh) during the reporting period, at the premises where the project is undertaken, that is not included in reporting electricity consumption as a result of:
    - (i) electricity generated from renewable energy systems installed between the end of the baseline and the end of the reporting period for which incentives have been received under a prescribed greenhouse gas scheme as specified in Regulation 38 of the VEET Regulations 2018;
Note: this means that renewable energy which has not generated incentives in these prescribed schemes is not unaccounted energy. Energy exported to the electricity grid is excluded from the energy consumption.
    - (ii) changes in the metering arrangements at the building between the start of the baseline period and the end of the reporting period, as defined in (10) below.
    - (iii) Where 'energy' consumption in Equation 3 is taken to mean 'gas', the unaccounted energy consumption is the gas consumption (in GJ) during the reporting period, at the premises where the project is undertaken, that is not included in the reporting gas consumption as a result of changes in the metering arrangements at the building between the start of the baseline period and the end of the reporting period, as defined in (10) below.

- (10) Changes in metering arrangements
- (a) Changes in metering arrangements are allowed over the course of the project, provided changes in the energy boundary have been metered and recorded over the rating period.
- (11) Benchmark rating document
- (a) A document that was issued by the benchmark administrator nominated at scoping approval and meets the requirements under regulation 11A (3) and 11A (4) of the VEET PBA Regulations 2017.
- (12) Inputs for the reverse calculator
- (a) A reverse calculator is an electronic mechanism for calculating the maximum energy that the premises can consume for a given benchmark rating, as defined in the VEET PBA Regulations 17A.
- (b) Subject to (d) the inputs for the reverse calculator must be the other variables published in the reporting rating.
- (c) The rating input into the reverse calculator must not take into account whether electricity is purchased under the GreenPower Program.
- (d) The baseline rating input into the reverse calculator is the rating published on the benchmark rating report for the baseline period, unless the building where the project is undertaken undergoes a renovation or upgrade that requires planning approval, in which case the baseline rating for each reporting period commencing after the renovation or upgrade is completed is the highest of:
- (i) the rating published on the benchmark rating report for the most recent reporting period that ends prior to the issue of the planning approval; or
- (ii) the minimum rating (if any) the building is required to meet under the planning scheme of the Local Government Area that applies to the building; or
- (iii) if the building is not required to meet a minimum rating, 4.5 stars for a building that is a data centre or 4 stars for any other building.
- (e) The percentage breakdown of fuels used in the building where the project is undertaken, which is input into the reverse calculator, must be determined by converting into MWh any measurement of energy consumed at the building that is not measured in MWh. This must include all fuels used in the reporting rating.
- (f) For the purpose of the conversion referred to in (e), if the measurement is not in terms of energy, the energy content factor for that fuel type, as specified in section (7), must be used in the conversion.
- (13) Other variables
- (a) Additional information to a premises' measured energy consumption, which is used by a benchmark administrator's process to calculate a benchmark rating.
- (14) Number of whole years
- (a) The number of whole years are calculated by subtracting the year of the end of the reporting period minus the year of the end of the baseline period, as defined in section (15) and (16).
- (15) Reporting period
- (a) The reporting period, in relation to a project, is a 12-month period commencing:
- (i) Immediately after the implementation start time for the project, as defined in regulation 4 of the VEET PBA Regulations 2017; or
- (ii) Immediately after another reporting period but not later than 7 years after the implementation start time.

Note: this means there can be a maximum of 8 reporting periods.

- (16) Baseline period
- (a) The baseline period, in relation to a project, is a 12-month period ending:
- (i) Before works commence, as defined in regulation 6(7) of the VEET PBA Regulations 2017; and
- (ii) No more than 18 months before works commence.

    - (i) must not end more than 24 months before the day work for the purposes of the project has commenced at the premises; and
    - (ii) must end before the day and time that work for the purposes of the project has commenced at the premises, unless (c) applies.
  - (c) The baseline period may end after the day that work for the purposes of the project has commenced at the premises if the effects of the project can be temporarily suspended so that conditions prior to the project being undertaken can be measured.
  - (d) The operating period referred to in (a) must not start before the implementation start time and must end no later than two years after the implementation start time.
- (13) Accuracy factor
  - (a) The accuracy factor is determined using Table 1, where the “relative precision” means the relative precision of the normal year savings at 90% confidence level.
- (14) Maximum time period for forward creation
  - (a) The maximum time period for forward creation in relation to a project is 10 years, commencing immediately after the implementation start time of the project.
- (15) Normal year
  - (a) A normal year is a set of values for a 12 month period for each independent variable used in the baseline energy model and the operating energy model.
  - (b) A value in a normal year must be provided for each time interval.
  - (c) A normal year must reasonably represent the expected mean, range and variation of the independent variables used in the baseline energy model and operating energy model in an average year of the maximum time period for forward creation.
- (16) Interactive energy savings
  - (a) Interactive energy savings are energy savings attributable to the project that are outside the measurement boundary.
  - (b) The total interactive energy savings are limited to a maximum of:
    - (i) in a normal year, 10% of the difference between the energy consumption calculated using the baseline energy model and the energy consumption calculated using the operating energy model for eligible time intervals in the normal year, for all energy sources.
    - (ii) in a reporting period, 10% of the difference between the energy consumption calculated using the baseline energy model and the measured energy consumption for eligible time intervals in the reporting period, for all energy sources.
  - (c) Interactive energy savings must be estimated in accordance with a repeatable method that:
    - (i) uses data recorded for the premises where the project is undertaken; or

- (ii) is consistent with generally accepted estimation approaches in the science and engineering field applicable to the kind of effects being estimated.
  - (d) The same method must be used to estimate interactive energy savings in all calculations for the project.
- (17) Decay factor
- (a) The decay factor for a year is determined using Table 2 or by applying a persistence model.
  - (b) A persistence model must meet the following requirements:
    - (i) it provides a reasonable estimate of the expected lifetime of an energy consuming product in whole years; and
    - (ii) it provides a decay factor representing the decline in performance of the product each year by taking into account:
      - the type of the energy consuming product; and
      - how the energy consuming product is used; and
      - the environmental characteristics of the premises where the energy consuming product is used; and
    - (iii) the model provides the most conservative set of yearly decay factors when applied to more than one energy consuming product.
- (18) Measured energy consumption
- (a) The measured energy consumption is the energy consumed by all products that is measured within the measurement boundary.
  - (b) If the project includes undertaking multiple similar activities at the same premises, the measured energy consumption can be determined from measurements taken for a sample of the activities if:
    - (i) the measured energy consumption of each activity can be reasonably described by the same energy model; and
    - (ii) the sampling methods used produce a random sample; and
    - (iii) the calculation of the relative precision used to determine the accuracy factor includes quantification of the impact of the sampling.
- (19) Time intervals
- (a) The accredited person must nominate a measurement frequency.
  - (b) The length of a time interval is determined by the measurement frequency.
  - (c) The first time interval in a period must start at the start of the period, and each subsequent time interval in the period must start immediately after the previous time interval ends.
  - (d) The length of a time interval used to calculate electricity, gas or renewable energy savings may differ; however, time intervals used to calculate savings of the same energy source must be of the same length.
  - (e) A time interval in a period is an eligible time interval if, with respect to that time interval:
    - (i) if the period is a reporting period, values for the measured energy consumption have been obtained; and
    - (ii) values for all independent variables have been obtained; and
    - (iii) if the period is a reporting period, all site constants are at their standard values; and
    - (iv) the value of each independent variable is an amount that is:

- no less than the minimum value of the effective range minus 5% of the difference between the maximum and minimum values of the effective range; and
  - no more than the maximum value of the effective range plus 5% of the difference between the maximum and minimum values of the effective range.
- (f) The effective range referred to in (e) is:
- (i) if the time interval is in the reporting period—the range of values of the variable used to develop the baseline energy model; or
  - (ii) if the time interval is in the normal year—the range of values that are in both:
    - the range of values of the variable used to develop the baseline energy model; and
    - the range of values of the variable used to develop the operating energy model.
