FOREWORD

Message from the Minister

Last year, we implemented the most significant fire services reform in the history of this state, designed to ensure all Victorians receive a world-class fire service response no matter where they live.

This work coincided with one of the most unprecedented times imaginable for our emergency service agencies. Coupled with the devastating bushfire season that had preceded it our fire services have been challenged like never before, but their commitment to this critical reform and to our community has not wavered. I want to thank all our volunteer and career firefighters that continue to dedicate themselves to keeping our communities safe.

The genesis of this reform came in 2017, with the Fire Services Statement providing a clear, long-term vision for modernising Victoria's fire service agencies. During the COVID-19 upheaval, 1 July 2020 represented a landmark day in Victoria's emergency response sector. It saw the establishment of Fire Rescue Victoria (FRV) and the restoration of the Country Fire Authority (CFA) to its proud legacy as a fully volunteer emergency response service.

In the space of a year, career firefighters at 38 CFA brigades were transferred to FRV, with 34 of those brigades now co-located stations, included in the FRV fire district. A return to their volunteer roots for the state's 1220 CFA volunteer brigades has ensured greater autonomy with many co-located stations appointing their first volunteer captain in their brigade's history. And crucially, presumptive rights to cancer compensation for all firefighters were introduced.

Year one also saw the appointment of the Hon. Niall Blair as the inaugural Fire Services Implementation Monitor. The Monitor's role is to independently report against this Implementation Plan annually, and against each agency's outcomes framework quarterly.

The Year 2 to 5 Implementation Plan further embeds all these commitments. It's about strengthening both the CFA and FRV, giving them the resources they need to perform their roles and together keep the community safe. It's about implementing a cultural shift, with a strong focus on valuing our people and building a safe and respectful sector. It's about a long-term vision, focused on the future sustainability of our complementary fire service and the safety of our community.

If year one was about establishing these key reforms, then the next four years are about capitalising on the good work, recognising our strengths and building for the future.

In every instance, this reform is about working towards a common goal of a world-class fire service for all Victorians. It's about modernising, integrating and ensuring a sustainable fire services system that will keep Victorians safe for decades to come.

That's our focus, that's our commitment, and that's what this Implementation Plan will deliver.

JACLYN SYMES MP
Minister for Emergency Services

1: INTRODUCING THE YEAR TWO TO FIVE IMPLEMENTATION PLAN

The 2017 Fire Services Statement (the Statement) outlined the Government's vision for a modern fire service that will keep Victorians safe. It drew together findings and recommendations from eight different reviews into the fire services. This paved the way for long-term reform that would build on the strengths of agencies and reflect the changing environmental, organisational and community needs. The Statement, together with the Year One Fire Services Reform Implementation Plan (Year One Plan), outlined five key priority areas to guide a ten-year reform program and achieve fire service modernisation that will keep Victorians safe.

The Statement also recognised the vital interplay between agencies and organisations for Victoria's emergency response and management. Implementation of the fire service reform priority areas are delivered through strong collaboration between government, FRV and CFA. The updated vision and success statement diagram acknowledges the progress made to date and provides a vision for where the reform aspires to be at the end of year five. It also recognises the strength of both CFA and FRV as separate, yet interoperable and complementary, fire services to achieve this vision of success.

CFA has the capability and capacity to deliver high quality and sustainable emergency services to the community through a contemporary operating model which engages a broader cross section of the community. The professional services delivered by CFA across the spectrum of prevention, preparedness, mitigation, response and recovery are of the highest standards and informed by contemporary research and best practice ensuring Victorian communities are prepared for and safe from fire. Valuing our people  Victoria's fire services are staffed by world class career and volunteer firefighters, supported by capable and skilled non-operational employees, and reflect the community which they serve.	Ensure the future sustainability of the fire services  CFA and FRV have funding plans that reflect a shared understanding with stakeholders about fire service delivery costs and drivers and deliver financial sustainability.

What does success at year five look like?

Fire service agencies are safe, inclusive and diverse workplaces, respected and trusted by the communities they serve. All people in our fire services have access to support, high quality training, professional development and equipment.	Fire agencies utilise evidence-based planning and continuous improvement strategies to support a shared understanding of risk and capability, to ensure a sustainable service which meets community needs and expectations now and into the future.

Embedding fire services reform

The Victorian Government's Year 2–5 Implementation Plan (the Plan) transitions our focus from reform initiation, to strategic and future focussed actions which will continue to operationalise and embed our priorities. The Plan was developed in close consultation with CFA and FRV, ensuring alignment with each organisation's vision of modern fire services and agency-led strategic priorities over the next four years.

Some multi-year activities and complex strategic actions from the Year One Plan have been reframed in this Plan, to focus on the remaining work required to fully achieve their intended outcomes. Appendix A provides an overview of the status of actions from the Year One Plan and how they align to our reform priorities for the next four years. The Plan also includes new actions, reflecting emergent organisational reform priorities and builds on the successes from year one.

To ensure that the program of reform across the fire services is focused and responsive to priorities being delivered across our emergency management sector, the Plan reflects on recent and expected activities. The actions in this Plan, and the timing of their delivery, have been considered against sector-wide activities progressing in response to Inspector General for Emergency Management's (IGEM) recommendations, and other whole of sector reforms.

Strong mechanisms to monitor and measure performance against the outcomes of the reform is critical. The establishment of outcomes frameworks developed by both CFA and FRV provide a platform for agencies to demonstrate their commitment to continuous improvement and holds agencies to account to ensure their service delivery priorities compliment the outcomes of the reform. The outcomes frameworks will continue to mature and assist as an ongoing mechanism to measure agency performance, with data reported to the Fire Services Implementation Monitor (FSIM) on a quarterly basis.

Governance underpinning success

Strong governance, built on a framework that sets out the obligations and accountabilities of all key stakeholders, is integral to the success of any program of reform. Successful delivery of the reforms, including the actions within this plan, can only be achieved through collaboration and engagement with all employees and key stakeholders and representative bodies. The Plan includes a lead agency for each action, accountable for its delivery. Where an action is held jointly, all responsible agencies will deliver against a set of defined activities that achieve the agreed objective.

Agencies will be required to report quarterly to the Minister for Emergency Services against the progress of their respective actions. A formal acquittal process governs the completion of each action and is managed by the Department of Justice and Community Safety.

Progress against reform as defined in the Plan is independently overseen by the FSIM. The FSIM holds the government and fire agencies to account through annual reporting on progress of actions and working closely with both the fire agencies and Minister for Emergency Services.

Year Two activities will run from cessation of the Year One Plan in October 2021 until 30 June 2022, and the subsequent years (three to five) will commence from 1 July each year. Readjustment to the financial year will streamline the delivery of reform activities with the allocation of funding and other legislated obligations.

The government has committed to a 10-year program of reform across the fire services. To ensure that activities at each point of the reform journey remain relevant, this Plan will guide our direction over the next four years. This will be a time of embedding key transitional elements and looking towards our future service delivery demands across Victoria. Over the next four years there will be an opportunity to identify new reform priorities to reflect changes in communities, the environment and organisational needs to ensure we invest our resources where they are needed most.

2: ACHIEVEMENTS AGAINST THE FIRE SERVICES STATEMENT PRIORITIES AND YEAR ONE PLAN

The commencement of the Fire Recue Victoria Act 1958 (FRV Act) on 1 July 2020 paved the way for the creation of a new career fire service through the establishment of FRV, and the re-establishment of CFA as a volunteer-based agency serving Victoria. The actions in the Year One Plan provided an important framework to ensure a focus on operationalising the reforms and creating a strong foundation upon which to build a world class fire service for every Victorian.

The first year saw a substantial amount of work progressed by CFA and FRV, in conjunction with government, to advance the initial 54 actions within the Year One Plan. Significant progress has been made and a number of these actions completed.

What have we been doing?

Transitional activities

A significant amount of work was required by government, CFA and FRV to ensure continuous service delivery to the community following the establishment of FRV, and restoration of CFA to a volunteer-based organisation. In the background, agencies worked to transfer people, fire stations, appliances and tools, assets and projects from CFA to FRV. In addition, the commencement of the new FRV fire districts and the transfer of all career firefighters to FRV saw the transition of some activities from CFA to FRV across the state. While there are still some transitional activities to be completed in year two, these critical transfers ensured that agencies maintained the right tools, in the right place, to keep firefighters and communities safe.

Diversity and inclusion

CFA and FRV have demonstrated a strong and ongoing commitment to understanding and improving culture, diversity and inclusion within their organisations. Both agencies are members of the Emergency Management Inclusion and Diversity Leadership Group which collectively seeks to drive sector-wide change to create an inclusive emergency management sector that reflects the diversity of the community.

FRV is developing a four-year diversity and inclusion framework and strategy, and has commenced a recruitment campaign that supports attracting diverse candidates. The number of women recruits has been increasing and FRV anticipates continued growth in the number of women joining the fire services. Currently, women are represented at all operational ranks, up to the level of Deputy Commissioner, and FRV has established a new department to focus on people and culture to deliver on this organisational commitment. FRV has also forged partnerships with non-government organisations aimed at establishing a talent pipeline and increasing diversity.

CFA has acted to remove barriers faced by women by developing and continuing to deliver a range of programs and activities to improve the experience and skills of female volunteers and prepare them for leadership roles. These include establishing a Women's Advisory Committee and Youth Advisory Committee to directly advise the Chief Executive Officer and Chief Officer on issues to support and enable inclusion and diversity at CFA. The CFA has commenced district-based women's networks and women-only training days and camps to support female firefighters to increase their skills, knowledge and confidence in a tailored and uniquely supportive environment. Work towards ensuring CFA is a safe and positive workplace for its volunteers has also involved identifying strategies to improve workplace culture and complaints management processes.

Commencement of critical projects

The government provided investment of $126 million over five years for CFA capability initiatives, to enhance CFA's delivery of critical training, equipment, infrastructure and volunteer support. In consultation with volunteers, CFA has commenced the following projects, with delivery to be completed across the life of this plan:

- provision of additional support to volunteers and brigades
- provision of crew and strike team training
- delivery of critical volunteer facing ICT systems
- delivery of improved training for new volunteers
- delivery of new CFA volunteers' health and safety initiatives, including training programs, approximately 24,000 sets of new generation personal protective clothing for operational volunteers and the rollout of a respiratory protection pilot
- delivery of 50 replacement dual cab firefighting appliances and 16 replacement fire stations.

Embedding interoperability arrangements and provision of assurance prior to the commencement of the 2020/21 summer season

CFA and FRV have worked hard to build interoperability across critical areas of service delivery throughout the first year of reform. This included developing a framework and arrangements to support FRV staff who are seconded to CFA so that they can perform their functions effectively, as well as commencing the harmonisation of operational procedures across FRV and CFA where practicable and appropriate.

In addition, through the multiagency Operational Assurance Group, CFA and FRV actively supported and participated in operational incident response testing across the state. This was an opportunity to ensure interoperability across all emergency services organisations was maintained across Victoria.

Formation of independent entities

Under the FRV Act, independent entities were established to ensure that the government and fire service agencies are adequately supported as they plan and build for the future.

Fire District Review Panel (FDRP)

The FDRP was established in October 2020 to undertake an independent review of fire risk and service needs across Victoria. The review undertaken by the FDRP will inform our reform priorities into the future. The FDRP continues to progress work to provide evidence-based recommendations to the Minister for Emergency Services on any changes to the FRV fire district in accordance with the legislated functions, processes and timelines under the FRV Act.

Fire Services Implementation Monitor (FSIM)

The inaugural FSIM, the Hon. Niall Blair, was appointed in December 2020 to provide independent oversight of the implementation of fire services reform by assessing the effectiveness of reform activities and publicly reporting on progress in line with the legislative requirements under the FRV Act. The FSIM's approach is focused on gathering information, establishing and maintaining relationships with key stakeholders, observing activities through attending meetings and undertaking site visits.

In the first year of operation, the FSIM has established a supporting office and published three quarterly reports, covering the 2020–21 financial year, on the CFA's and FRV's fire service performance measures as outlined in their respective outcomes frameworks. The FSIM has also provided observations to the agencies in the development of their respective year two outcomes frameworks. The FSIM released the first annual report on the implementation of the Year One Plan, focused on the foundational actions critical to long-term reform effectiveness and is developing a longer-term methodology for the assessment of reform activities.

FRV Strategic Advisory Committee (SAC)

The FRV SAC was appointed in October 2020. The SAC provides expert advice to FRV on organisational matters set out under section 33F of the FRV Act. These matters include cultural change, workforce diversity, organisational governance, engagement and integration with the broader emergency services sector, future direction including opportunities and risks and any other relevant matters for which FRV seeks advice.

Embedding the reforms

Many actions in year one focused on establishing and operationalising the reforms across CFA and FRV. As reform progresses, the policies and practices supporting interoperability will be embedded within CFA and FRV as business-as-usual activity. The following actions from the Year One Plan have now transitioned to business-as-usual activities for the agencies.

Agency outcomes frameworks

In August 2020, CFA and FRV published their respective outcomes frameworks that specified outcomes-based fire services performance measures. Throughout year one, both agencies reported their performance against the measures in their framework quarterly to the FSIM, where data is available. In year one, both agencies strengthened their performance measures and published their year two outcomes frameworks in October 2021, establishing a suite of outcome indicators and measures. These are aligned to specified agency outcomes and underpinned by enhanced reporting capability. To monitor and measure progress against these outcomes, including benefits to the Victorian community, CFA and FRV will continue to provide quarterly updates to the FSIM against the performance measures in their respective outcomes frameworks.

Emergency management planning arrangements

CFA and FRV regularly participate and support emergency management planning arrangements at state, regional and municipal level. Throughout the first year of fire services reform, this included contributing to the planning and development of the State Emergency Management Plan, as well as participation and contribution to other emergency management planning activities. This participation ensures that interoperability across all emergency services organisations is regularly considered as part of both agencies' core business. Emergency Management Victoria (EMV) will continue to engage all emergency services in ongoing work to support emergency management planning across Victoria.

3. PRIORITY AREAS YEARS TWO TO FIVE

Priority One: Strengthen CFA as a Volunteer Firefighting Agency

Fire service reform restored the CFA to a volunteer-based organisation enshrined in the Country Fire Authority Act 1958 (the CFA Act). CFA responds to fire and other emergency scenarios across rural and regional Victoria and work with FRV to service other areas of the state. Throughout years two to five, the actions under Priority One will continue to ensure that the CFA remains a strong, proud, flexible and sustainable volunteer-based organisation. CFA will continue to ensure its workforce reflects the diverse community it serves and builds its capability, using the latest training, technology, tools and systems to deliver high-quality services and response across a range of emergencies throughout Victoria.

Success at year five

CFA has the capability and capacity to deliver consistent high quality services to the Victorian community, through a contemporary operating model. The professional services delivered by CFA across the spectrum of prevention, preparedness, mitigation, response and recovery are of the highest standards and informed by contemporary research and best practice. The professional skills of our firefighters and their connections with the communities they serve will strengthen our volunteer-based emergency service into the future.

What this means for CFA

Delivering upon this priority area will result in CFA having a sustainable and appropriately skilled volunteer workforce, supported by contemporary tools, equipment and technologies, that has both the capability and capacity to be a world leading, innovative volunteer-based emergency service.

Priority Two: Strengthen FRV as a Career Firefighting Agency

FRV is the primary responder to fire and other emergency scenarios across the greater metropolitan area of Melbourne and major regional centres. FRV strives to be a values-based organisation that utilises modern technology and a skilled career workforce to serve the community with trust and respect. The year two to five actions will provide further foundations for FRV to embed data driven and forward-looking expectations, while continuing to build interoperable and sustainable practices with both emergency service partners and the Victorian community.

Success at year five

FRV is trusted and respected by our community and sector partners delivering a world-class fire and rescue service to Victorians. FRV is ready for all emergencies, including large and complex incidents, for specialist rescue and for times of surge demand.

What this means for FRV

The community can rely on highly skilled firefighters using modern, well-maintained equipment and world's best incident management practice. FRV thrives on a continuous improvement culture, ensures transparent and accountable decision-making, and is informed by the latest evidence and research to enhance service delivery to protect our community and firefighters. FRV engages with multicultural communities and local governments to ensure they understand local risk and contribute to effective community outcomes and safety strategies.

Priority Three: Plan and Build for the Future

The Statement highlighted the need for the fire services to modernise and adapt to the changing environment and risk profiles of the community they are entrusted to protect. To build on the activities commenced in the first year of reform, the fire services agencies will utilise data driven and evidence-based models to embed processes and frameworks that facilitate interagency operations. These, in turn, will strengthen the agencies' collective capability to support sector wide responses to prevent, prepare for, respond to and recover from emergencies.

In addition, the fire services will continue to improve their equipment, assets and stations, ensuring these are fit for purpose. This enhances their ability to deliver exceptional service to the community and assists in preparing for new challenges and risks.

Success at year five

Strategic frameworks support the fire agencies to understand and assess fire risk and opportunities into the future, building capability which enables them to effectively deliver integrated and interoperable services to the community. The agencies will deliver effective integrated services across the emergency management continuum that achieve quality public safety outcomes.

What this means for CFA

CFA provide leadership to the emergency management sector and have the necessary capabilities to provide the best community outcomes. As an outcome of this work, CFA will have the right capabilities, infrastructure, tools and equipment to meet the needs of Victorian communities today and to combat the risks they will face into the future.

What this means for FRV

FRV plans for the future through identifying risks and opportunities and embedding these in strategic planning frameworks. Workforce planning ensures that a skilled workforce with experienced leadership is available now and into the future. Asset and equipment life-cycle planning ensures high maintenance standards and replacement schedules that deliver modern and fit for purpose stations, appliances and equipment. FRV works seamlessly with our partners during an emergency response and has a strong interoperability capability, particularly with CFA.

Priority Four: Valuing Our People

Victoria's fire services must reflect the broader Victorian community and its workforce equipped with the capabilities required to meet the service delivery needs of the state. It is vital to create a culture where all staff model the behaviours, values and accountabilities that are expected by the communities they serve. To continue the progress made to date, through years two to five, the agencies have committed to actions that strengthen inclusion and diversity and ensure all staff feel safe and supported in their workplace.

Success at year five

Fire service agencies are safe, inclusive, and diverse workplaces, respected and trusted by the communities they serve. All people in our fire services have access to support, high quality training, professional development and equipment.

What this means for CFA

CFA's brand remains trusted, its connection to community is welcomed and its history of contributing to Victoria is valued and appreciated. CFA is a great place to work and volunteer, reflecting the diversity of the community and where people are safe and respected.

What this means for FRV

FRV provides a safe, respectful and inclusive workplace and has a workforce that reflects the diversity of the community we serve to better meet the needs of all Victorians. FRV culture and values define FRV leadership, relationships and the way FRV interacts with employees and the community. The FRV brand is valued, and people are attracted and proud to work for FRV. The health, safety and wellbeing of firefighters is a priority given their workplace exposure to hazardous and potentially traumatic incidents.

Priority Five: Ensure the Future Sustainability of the Fire Services

It is critical that fire service agency operations continue to meet community expectations and remain sustainable into the future. Work already underway is focused on identifying and quantifying current service delivery drivers and their costs, as well as opportunities for improvements. Ongoing work and new actions will enable the agencies to identify opportunities for efficiencies, improve performance and provide insights into ensuring business and operational practices embedded today, are viable and sustainable into the future.

Success at year five

Fire agencies and the government use evidence-based planning and continuous improvement strategies to support a shared understanding of risk and capability. Working together, we create a more sustainable service which meets community needs and expectations now and into the future.

What this means for CFA

CFA and its stakeholders share an understanding of risk, capability and capacity and the resources required to deliver services aligned to government and community expectations.

CFA understands current risk drivers and is able to forecast and respond to the future risk environment that considers future climate scenarios. CFA and government have a shared understanding of the budget required to effectively deliver the required fire and emergency services commensurate with community expectations within the Country Area of Victoria.

What this means for FRV

FRV ensures fire and rescue resources in Melbourne and regional Victoria are allocated to where they are needed most. Resource allocation is informed by regular assessment of current and future risk, an understanding of community profiles and the latest research and information on emergency prevention and response. The distribution of resources aims to meet community expectations and the ongoing financial sustainability of FRV.
