EXEMPTION

Application No. 123 of 1998

The Victorian Civil and Administrative Tribunal has considered an application pursuant to Section 83 of the Equal Opportunity Act 1995 by Casey Cardinia Legal Service Inc. The application for exemption is to enable the applicant to advertise a legal service for women only at "Wellsprings", Dandenong, and to advertise for and employ women only to staff that program.

Upon reading the material tendered in support of this application the Tribunal is satisfied that it is appropriate to grant an exemption from Sections 13, 42, 100 & 195 of the Act to enable the applicant to advertise a legal service for women only at "Wellsprings", Dandenong, and to advertise for and employ women only to staff that program.

In granting this exemption the Tribunal noted:

- Casey Cardinia Legal Service Inc ("the Legal Service") formerly known as Doveton and District Legal Co-operative Ltd, was established in 1977 to provide free legal assistance to members of the local community. The legal service was originally run by law students, and operated for one day and one evening per week.
- The Legal Service wish to offer their service at a women only centre called "Wellsprings". Wellsprings were granted an exemption which was published in the Government Gazette on 20 August 1998 and expires on 19 August 2001. They were granted an exemption to advertise for and employ women only to run the programs.
- Wellsprings were granted an exemption to employ females only for the following reasons; it caters for very vulnerable women attending, including women with psychiatric illness and women who have suffered sexual violence and abuse from men; many migrant women attend "Wellsprings" because it is culturally appropriate to attend a women only centre and psychologists from Victorian Referral Agency Service and the local Psychiatric Hospital refer women to Wellsprings because it is for women only and the programs are designed for women.
- The Legal Service wish to provide to the women legal service, assistance and referral services at Wellsprings each Wednesday.

- As "Wellsprings" caters only for women clients, it would be more appropriate to employ women.

The Tribunal grants an exemption from the operation of Sections 13, 42, 100 and 195 of the Equal Opportunity Act 1995, to enable the applicant to advertise a legal service for women only at "Wellsprings", Dandenong, and to advertise for and employ women only to staff that program.

This exemption is to remain in force from the day on which notice of the exemption is published in the Government Gazette until 9 December 2001.

EXEMPTION

Application No. 125 of 1998

The Victorian Civil and Administrative Tribunal has considered an application pursuant to Section 83 of the Equal Opportunity Act 1995 by Zena Collective Incorporated. The application for exemption is to enable the applicant to advertise for and employ women only.

Upon reading the material tendered in support of this application the Tribunal is satisfied that it is appropriate to grant an exemption from Sections 13, 100 & 195 of the Act to enable the applicant to advertise for and employ women only.

In granting this exemption the Tribunal noted:

- Zena Collective ("Zena") is an organisation run by women and provides services for women and children who have experienced, or are experiencing domestic violence.
- Zena manages two domestic violence services in the Barwon region. One is a high security women's refuge and the other is an outreach service. The program is funded by the Department of Human Services Supported Assistance Program. Zena provides high security refuge accommodation that has a secret address to ensure that the women and children housed there are kept safe from their violent partners/fathers.
- Women's refuges in Victoria have always and continue to be women only spaces because of the abuse that these women and children have suffered, usually by male perpetrators. The outreach part of the service provides intensive support to these women and children. The service operates from an address which is not publicised to maximise safety.

- An overwhelming majority of violence against women is perpetrated by males. Empirical evidence from users of domestic violence refuge services suggests that in order to recover from the trauma associated with domestic violence women only spaces provide an environment which is safer and less intimidating to them.

The Tribunal grants an exemption from the operation of Sections 13, 100 and 195 of the Equal Opportunity Act 1995, to enable the applicant to advertise for and employ women only.

This exemption is to remain in force from the day on which notice of the exemption is published in the Government Gazette until 9 December 2001.

The Commission will endeavour to commence its statutory public consultation process regarding the applications as soon as possible, and hopes to release its draft determination in early 1999. Please note that under subsection 91(2) of the Trade Practices Act, the Commission may revoke an interim authorisation at any time.
