EXEMPTION

Application No. A144 of 2003

The Victorian Civil and Administrative Tribunal has considered an application, pursuant to Section 83 of the Equal Opportunity Act 1995, by Yarra Valley Community Health Service. The application for exemption is to enable the applicant to advertise for and employ an Indigenous person only to implement and manage a community garden for the local Indigenous community.

Upon reading the material submitted in support of the application the Tribunal is satisfied that it is appropriate to grant an exemption from Sections 13, 100 and 195 of the Act to enable the applicant to advertise for and employ an Indigenous person only to implement and manage a community garden for the local Indigenous community.

In granting this exemption the Tribunal noted:

- the position of Indigenous Gardener would create an employment opportunity to up skill an Indigenous person which is important because unemployment is statistically high amongst Indigenous people;
- an Indigenous person would provide a more culturally appropriate service;
- the role of the community gardener is to establish a community garden for the Indigenous Community in Healesville and:
  - to help Indigenous children and their families to grow fresh, low cost food and
  - to provide Indigenous children and their families with the opportunity to grow native foods and
  - to promote a sense of belonging and connection with the land and
  - to facilitate information and resource sharing among community gardeners and
  - to promote the cultural richness of food, plants and people through the community garden and
  - to work towards the long term sustainability of the garden.

The Tribunal hereby grants an exemption to the applicant from the operation of Sections 13, 100 and 195 of the Equal Opportunity Act 1995 to enable the applicant to advertise for and employ an Indigenous person to implement and manage a Community Garden for the local Indigenous community of Healesville.

This exemption is to remain in force from the day on which notice of the exemption is published in the Government Gazette until 30 May 2006.

EXEMPTION

Application No. A146 of 2003

The Victorian Civil and Administrative Tribunal has considered an application, pursuant to Section 83 of the Equal Opportunity Act 1995, by Bundalaguah Primary School. The application for exemption is to enable the applicant to advertise for and employ women only as Integration Aides for two female integration students at Bundalaguah Primary School.

Upon reading the material submitted in support of the application and upon hearing submissions from Mr Donald Love, the Principal of the applicant Bundalaguah Primary School the Tribunal is satisfied that it is appropriate to grant an exemption from Sections 13, 100 and 195 of the Act to enable the applicant to advertise for and employ women only as Integration Aides for two female integration students at Bundalaguah Primary School.

In granting this exemption the Tribunal noted:

- the Bundalaguah has enrolled a number of integration students;
- two of the integration students require women only Integration Aides because they display critical behavioural difficulties due to the nature of their disabilities, which require women only assistance;
- the duties of the women only Integration Aides encompass assisting the two integration students with personal matters such as toileting, bathing and the changing of clothing;
- it is appropriate to provide women only Aides to preserve decency and privacy.

The Tribunal hereby grants an exemption to the applicant from the operation of Sections 13, 100 and 195 of the Equal Opportunity Act 1995 to enable the applicant to advertise for and employ women only Integration aides for two integration students at Bundalaguah primary school.

This exemption is to remain in force from the day on which notice of the exemption is published in the Government Gazette until 30 May 2006.

EXEMPTION

Application No. A162 of 2003

The Victorian Civil and Administrative Tribunal has considered an application, pursuant to Section 83 of the Equal Opportunity Act 1995, by Women's Domestic Violence Crisis Service of Victoria (WDVCS). The application for exemption is to enable the applicant to advertise for and employ women only in its organisation in the area of domestic violence crisis services for women.

Upon reading the material submitted in support of the application the Tribunal is satisfied that it is appropriate to grant an exemption from Sections 13, 42, 100 and 195 of the Act to enable the applicant to advertise for and employ women only in its organisation in the area of domestic violence services for women.

In granting this exemption the Tribunal noted:

- WDVCS is a state-wide confidential 24/7 telephone crisis response organisation that provides advocacy, refuge referral and interim crisis emergency accommodation to the woman and children of Victoria who live with or are escaping domestic violence;
- partner and family violence is increasingly seen as an important public health issue;
- the service aims to respond immediately to the needs of women and children who are subjected to domestic violence;
- WDVCS seeks to prevent and eliminate domestic violence against women through strategies such as community and professional education and training and by means of other activities which promote increased awareness;

- the service will provide services which are free and accessible;
- WDVCS recognises the difficulty experienced by women who are geographically and/or socially isolated or outside mainstream culture in accessing resources for support and safety;
- the service seeks to respond to its users in a way that acknowledges and respects confidentiality, cultural identity and is sensitive to diversity.
- the “overwhelming burden of partnership violence is borne by women at the hands of men”. The aims of the service can best be achieved by women for women.

The Tribunal hereby grants an exemption to the applicant from the operation of Sections 13, 42, 100 and 195 of the Equal Opportunity Act 1995 to enable the applicant to advertise for and employ women only in its organisation in the area of domestic violence services.

This exemption is to remain in force from the day on which notice of the exemption is published in the Government Gazette until 30 May 2006.

Font size:

Use 12 point (10 pitch) or larger.
